Agree on Higher Farm Price Plan

11% ADVANCE IS PERMITTED IN COMPROMISE

Secretary's Right to Veto Stands.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—A compromise agreement on the administration's price control bill, approved by senate and house conferees tonight, would permit a further rise of at least 11 per cent in farm prices, which are reflected in the cost of living, before ceilings could be established by government action.

The legislation also would forbid the establishment of any maximum price for a farm commodity without the prior approval of the secretary of agriculture.

[The house yesterday passed a bill appropriating $2,006,048,875 to operate 43 government agencies. Story on page 10.]

Expect Strong Opposition.

Excepting the farm price provisions, the conferees followed the senate bill, retaining all the major senate amendments which the house opposed and the administration favored. Thus the agreement may meet strong opposition when it comes up in the house for final approval tomorrow. The Republican members of the house conference committee—Jesse P. Wolcott of Michigan and Charles L. Gifford of Massachusetts—refused to sign the report, principally because it retained the senate provision for the licensing of all American business, which the house had rejected.

Provides One Administrator.

Another major senate provision which the conferees accepted calls for a single price administrator [Leon Henderson], whose orders would be subject only to court review, instead of an administrator responsible to a five man administrative board of review, as provided by the house bill.

The senate's Bankhead amendment, giving Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard power to veto any maximum farm price proposed by Price Administrator Henderson, was accepted by the administration in a deal that accomplished the defeat of the senate's O'Mahoney farm price boosting amendment. President Roosevelt publicly opposed the Bankhead amendment but expressed much stronger opposition to the O'Mahoney amendment, which he termed a provision to compel inflation.

Tied Prices to Wages.

The O'Mahoney amendment sought to tie farm prices to urban wages, which are not subject to the regulations of the price administration. It set up a new "wage parity price" formula which would have permitted an immediate increase of about 25 per cent in farm prices.

The legislation forbids the establishment of any maximum farm commodity price below 110 per cent of the parity price, or below the actual price on Oct. 1, or below the actual price on Dec. 15, or below the average market price from 1919-1929. Cotton is the only basic commodity affected by the 10 year average limitation. The 10 year average price of cotton was 21½ cents a pound, about 2 cents above 110 per cent of parity.

Based on 1910-'14 Prices.

Parity is a computed price intended to give farm commodities the same ratio to nonagricultural commodities that existed during the 1910-'14 base period, when the purchasing power of farm products was the highest in history.

Sen. Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.], manager of the bill, said the department of agriculture estimated present farm prices at about 99 per cent of parity. Thus the bill would permit an average increase of 11 per cent before Henderson could establish farm price ceilings.

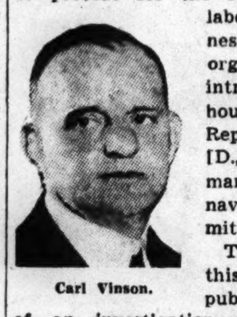
BILL TO MAKE UNIONS AND BUSINESS UNITS REGISTER IS OFFERED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—A bill to provide for the registration of labor unions, business, and trade organizations was introduced in the house today by Rep. Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], chairman of the house naval affairs committee.



Carl Vinson.

The committee this week made public the results of an investigation showing that labor unions had financial assets of great proportions and that these assets had increased materially by reason of the defense program.

Vinson said the legislation was desirable to provide protection to members of the organizations and to the public against the misuse of funds and to compel "disclosure of the activities of various pressure groups seeking to influence legislation."

The bill proposes that labor unions and trade organizations whose activities affect commerce shall file with the secretary of commerce a registration statement setting forth information with respect to officials, activities, and financial condition. Civic leagues, clubs, and benevolent institutions, fraternal and charitable organizations are exempted.

N. Y. IS ANNOYED WITH LA GUARDIA

City Is Unhappy Over His Defense Setup.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 22.—New York City's part time mayor, Fiorello La Guardia, is under fire on the home front of civilian defense as well as on the national scene.

Complaints are piling up against the caliber of some of the hastily assembled force of 235,000 air raid wardens. Many are charged with being overbearing in their new found authority. Others are accused of using their new powers as a cloak for chiseling and two-bit racketeering.

According to reports from sources within the civilian defense setup some of the volunteers are flocking into the warden service in the belief or hope they will establish grounds for avoiding the draft. So far selective service officials have refused to consider air raid warden service as a valid reason for deferment.

Patience and Annoyance.

People generally are anxious to be patient with amateurish confusion, lack of equipment, and inefficient training at the outset of the program, but they are complaining bitterly about the behavior of some of the warden personnel. Meanwhile WNYC, the city owned radio station under the mayor's direction, is conducting a cheery series on civilian defense entitled, "We are prepared."

Shortly before Christmas La Guardia pushed thru city council a bill providing a $500 fine and six months' imprisonment, or both, for air raid precaution violators. Courts may impose such punishment upon persons who disobey wardens' commands.

Maj. Charles W. Lange, chairman of the defense committee of the West of Central Park association, summed up sentiment at a statutory public hearing the mayor was required to hold on Dec. 22.

Mayor Flares Up.

"That is a lot of authority to give irresponsible individuals and there seems to be a lot of them who have been appointed air raid wardens," said Maj. Lange.

The mayor has flared up in his characteristic fashion by heaping invective on his critics, but complaints became so widespread that he was forced to announce an investigation into their merits.

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine revealed that he had sent detectives to the borough of Queens to halt a raffle a group of air raid wardens had started for their own benefit.

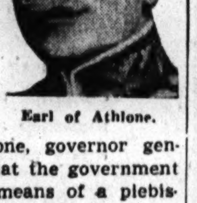
Orders were given to police to weed out persons who had joined the service for an "ulterior purpose." Citizens were warned against giving contributions to soliciting wardens.

Miss Mavis Butler, an attractive actress, was summarily dismissed from the service recently when she charged that most of the men on her block were "a bunch of stinkers" for leaving "all the dirty work" to women wardens.

During a practice air raid drill in a Bronx neighborhood an officious warden demanded the removal of a sick woman to a hospital. Her husband protested that she was deathly ill with pneumonia and summoned the doctor who backed him up.

Canada to Vote on Conscription of Troops for Overseas Service

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 22 (AP).—Canada today announced a popular election on the bitterly debated question whether the dominion will conscript troops for service overseas.



Earl of Athlone.

Warning soberly that the war now is "a world wide conflict between irreconcilable forces," the earl of Athlone, governor general, announced that the government "would seek, by means of a plebiscite, release from any obligation arising out of many past commitments restricting the methods of raising men for military service."

The date was not set.

100,000 in United Kingdom.

Canadian troops who volunteered for overseas service fought at Hongkong in December. There are more than 100,000 of them in the United Kingdom. Some of these participated in last September's expedition to Spitsbergen. Just before the fall of France a Canadian force reached the French coast, but it was withdrawn before it had a chance to meet the enemy. Some Canadians are at Gibraltar.

Six months before the war Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King said that so long as his government was in power there would be no conscription of Canadians for overseas service. He has reiterated that commitment on several occasions—as recently as last Nov. 12—and as a result Canadian forces overseas in more than two years of war have been limited to volunteers.

The earl of Athlone, making the speech from the throne in opening the third session of Canada's 19th parliament, today spoke of these commitments as having been made "prior to the spread of the war to all parts of the world." He urged that the government now "possess complete freedom to act in accordance with its judgment of the needs of the situation as they may arise."

Asks Greater Overseas Army.

The governor general said plainly that Canadians must expect "an expansion of the establishment of the Canadian army overseas," and that the dominion must produce more munitions and foodstuffs.

Selective service, he added, would be extended to effect the "orderly and efficient employment of the men and women of Canada for the varied purposes of war," and there will be "as complete as possible a mobilization of the material resources and man power of the country. . . ."

"The conflict can have but one of two outcomes," he warned. "Either tyranny, based on terror and brutality, must be overthrown; or the free peoples of the world, one and all, slowly but eventually, will be reduced to a state of bondage. Upon the outcome depends, for generations, the future well being of mankind."

Bolster British Guard

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 22.—All Britons 18 to 50 years old not yet serving in defense forces become liable to compulsory enrollment in the home guard under a regulation signed today. The war office announced that home guard members are now subject to 48 hours of training a month and may be required to live away from home. The right to resign on 14 days' notice is withdrawn.

New Zealand Acts.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Jan. 22.—The government announced completion of plans today to draft all men in the 18-66 age groups for civil defense work "in order to round out existing organizations."

THIRD OF ARMY MOVED TO PROP WEST DEFENSES

600,000 Men Shifted in 7 Weeks.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—One-third of the United States army has been shifted in the seven weeks following the Japanese attack in the Pacific to strengthen Hawaii and the west coast and to pave the way for sending reënforcements to the southwest Pacific and other theaters of the war, an authoritative administration spokesman reported today.

The huge emergency military program set 600,000 of the 1,700,000 officers and men shuttling across the country. Every army post and camp was affected by the largest troop movement undertaken in this country in a comparable period of time.

Many to Hawaii and Alaska.

The 600,000 officers and men were moved within continental United States. Other thousands of men were moved to Alaska and Hawaii. The spokesman said nothing of other movements except that the vast program has set the stage for reënforcements to the Pacific southwest.

The troop movements, which could not be published under censorship regulations, were accomplished with a minimum of confusion and delay, the spokesman said. The movements had attracted considerable local attention in various areas thruout the country, but no official explanation was offered until today.

Equipment Also Shifted.

The defense shift involved a large number of planes and other equipment. Bombers and pursuit planes were flown to Hawaii and to Alaska. It was said that Hawaii is now far stronger from a military point of view than it was before the attack.

The government spokesman said he could not go into details because the enemy would regard such information as being of highest military value.

During the day Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson announced plans for formation of all Negro units in the army and for special training of officers to command new units of the expanding army. The army's goal is a force of 3,600,000 officers and men by the end of the year.

Negro Units Planned.

Plans have been made, Stimson said, for the formation of an all Negro infantry division and a second Negro air force unit as part of the expansion program. The Negro division to be known as the 93d infantry division is to be a completely welded army unit by May. The new army program calls for 32 additional infantry divisions.

The new Negro air unit, the 100th pursuit squadron, will be in addition to the 99th pursuit squadron in training at Tuskegee, Ala., since last September. Cadets of the unit in training will be assigned to train other units after they complete their training and are commissioned as second lieutenants.

Broad Training Program.

The training of officers for the various units of the expanding army is to range from division commanders to company, battery and troop commanders. Each will receive four weeks instruction in practical warfare, before taking over their commands.

"All instruction in planning and supervising training, tactical employment of anti-tank and anti-aircraft weapons and communications will be intensely practical with a view to forming a unified command team which will function with maximum smoothness and efficiency from the outset," Stimson said.

Stimson also disclosed that the army is planning to create a new armored division—the 6th—early in February. The unit will be organized at Fort Knox, Ky., and later sent to a permanent location yet to be decided upon.

Even One Cent Piece Feels War Pinch—It'll Be Tinless

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—The mints were ordered today to put virtually no more tin in one cent pieces. The treasury said it expected to save 100,000 pounds of tin per year as a result. The present cent consists of 95 per cent copper, 4 per cent zinc, and 1 per cent tin. Practically all the tin will be eliminated and replaced by zinc. The change, however, will not alter the appearance of the coin.

WAR AT A GLANCE FROM WORLD'S FIGHTING FRONTS

Yesterday's developments on the world's fighting fronts:

Japanese invaders in the Philippines intensified attacks on Gen. MacArthur's forces on Luzon Island, and a newly disclosed enemy air raid on Cebu, second city of the Philippines, suggested Japanese intent to land on Cebu Island. The island is 150 miles south of Luzon and is the major communications link between the United States and the Philippines. It was estimated that more than 200,000 Japanese troops have landed on Luzon.

For the first time since the outbreak of the Pacific conflict Australian territory was believed to have been invaded. Communications with Rabaul, capital of the mandated island of New Britain, 800 miles northeast of the Australian mainland, were cut off shortly after 11 Japanese vessels, including warships, had been sighted. Australians "presumed" their military forces had evacuated New Britain after blowing up harbor installations at Rabaul.

British Strike in Malaya.

In Malaya, the British were waging what they called a "strong counteroffensive" in northwestern Johore state, about 70 miles north of Singapore. Its aim was to solidify the western anchor of their defense line and rescue one Indian and two Australian battalions which have been trapped. New British resistance also developed on the east coast as Singapore revealed a two day air raid toll of 591 dead and 1,000 injured. Tokio claimed Jap troops were driving down the center of Johore state toward Bekok, 80 miles north of the British base.

From Rangoon came word that elephants were being used to haul guns by Japanese and Thai invaders in their second joint thrust toward Moulmein, Gulf of Martaban city which lies across from Rangoon. British patrols contacted the new force.

Ski Troops Harass Nazis.

Russian ski troops, escorted by propeller driven sleds, were said to have intercepted retreating Germans west of the Napoleonic battlefield of 1812 at Borodino and spread confusion in their ranks. The Reds had advanced 17 miles west of Mozhaisk, which they took Wednesday. The Germans said a Red attempt to break thru the encirclement of Sevastopol in the Crimea was repulsed.

In Libya the British said they had repulsed a thrust by Gen. Erwin Rommel's forces in the Gulf of Sirte area. British planes bombed Sicily, Greece, Crete, and Tripoli; axis bombers bombarded Malta.

STRIKE NEARER AUSTRALIA; CUT OFF NEW BRITAIN

Land in Solomon Islands Area.

BULLETIN.

MELBOURNE, Jan. 23 (Friday) (AP).—Japanese forces have landed in New Guinea and the Solomon island area, a joint communique of the Australian imperial forces and the royal Australian air force said today. (The Solomon Islands lie in a chain northeast of Australia and east of New Guinea. Japanese aircraft in attacks yesterday ranged from Rabaul, on the island of New Britain which lies between New Guinea and the Solomons, as far as Tulagi, on Florida Island in the Solomon group.)

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 23 [Friday] (AP).—Japanese marines, in their first invasion of Australian territory, were believed today to have landed on New Britain Island, 800 miles off the northern mainland, after a withdrawing garrison fired and dynamited dock installations at Rabaul, its capital.

It was presumed here that New Britain had been evacuated by Australian military forces in anticipation of a prospective Japanese landing.

A radio flash from Rabaul at 4 p. m. yesterday said that 11 Japanese vessels including warships had been sighted 45 miles off shore bearing down on the island. That was the last word from Rabaul, which had undergone two heavy Japanese air attacks during the day.

Believe Town Evacuated.

An Australian army bulletin issued last night said: "It is considered that the stations were demolished by our forces and it is probable that the town has been evacuated. It is not known presently whether any Japanese forces have attempted to land."

The communique said the 11 Japanese ships were seen 30 miles off Watom Island, which is 15 miles northwest of Rabaul in St. George's channel between New Britain and New Ireland, both Australian mandates in the Bismarck archipelago.

[The London radio also reported that three Japanese aircraft carriers had been sighted off New Guinea, the British and Dutch mandated island lying west of New Britain on the road to the Netherlands East Indies.]

For two days officials had warned that heavy Japanese air raids on both New Britain and New Guinea were the prelude to invasion, but last night's announcement electrified Australia.

Demand Allied Aerial Help.

While newspapers cried out for allied air reënforcements, defense officials planned to black out all cities on the mainland, and also began accepting enlistments from anti-axis resident aliens — Germans, Austrians, Danes, Italians, and Czechs.

These aliens, eager to fight the axis, flocked to join the defense militia units.

Rabaul was the main defense point for all of New Britain, a volcanic island still not entirely explored. Australian air units apparently based there have been attacking Japanese invasion bases in the Caroline Islands far to the north.

Japanese bombers escorted by fighter planes—the first indication that aircraft carriers were near by—have attacked the capital for several days in increasing strength.

Raid Solomon Island.

Aside from the attacks yesterday on Rabaul, a Japanese flying boat also ranged far to the southeast to raid Tulagi on Florida Island in the Solomon group. No damage or casualties were suffered in that attack, the communique said.

Officials pointed out that Japanese possession of New Britain would give the invaders another foothold for the grand strategy of closing in on Singapore, over 3,600 miles to the west.

The South Pacific is dotted with a rich island chain producing oil, rubber, rice, and other products, extending from New Britain to New Guinea, Celebes, Borneo, and the other Netherlands East Indies.

Prime Minister John Curtin, who had arrived at Adelaide en route to western Australia for a brief rest, said he was ready to return immediately to the capital at Canberra.

Complete battle kits similar to those issued to the regular army were handed out to local militia units.

The press also reflected the growing alarm on this big, sparsely settled continent, both because of the New Britain developments and the situation in Malaya above Singapore.

The Melbourne Sun in a typical editorial said: "We sent troops from this country and poured equipment into other theaters of war on the strength of assurances that Singapore guaranteed Australia's safety. Singapore, we were informed by an impressive array of experts, was impregnable. Admittedly it has not fallen yet, but we are entitled to ask that an adequate proportion of the vast resources commanded by our allies should be concentrated in protecting this vital fortress.

"We have given our best toward the common cause and now that we are in the vanguard of battle we ask the allies to divert to the Pacific the men and machines, and, above all, the air strength which alone can avert an Asiatic [Japanese] triumph."

[The Australian radio, as heard in New York, quoted Deputy Prime Minister Francis M. Forde as saying that "the time has arrived when the government expects every Australian man and woman to take up his or her place, whether at work in the munition factories or in Australia's fighting services. It is well that the public should realize the seriousness of the full scale military assault on New Guinea. If successful, it would probably result in bases being established from which the Australian mainland could be attacked. It is the plain duty of the Australian people to prepare for any eventuality. Everything must now be subordinated to the national interest."]

HOW DUTCH SUB SANK FOUR SHIPS IN JAP FLOTILLA

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Jan. 23 [Friday] (AP).—A ruse, a patient wait and then quick shooting sank four Japanese ships off Sarawak and won military honors for Commander C. A. J. Van Well Groeneveld, commandant of a Dutch submarine, naval authorities announced today.

Date of the exploit was not given, but the navy gave this eyewitness account of the Christmas eve exploit:

The submarine was cruising when a Dutch flying boat wirelessed that a Japanese flotilla was only 50 miles away, guarded by two Japanese planes. The flying boat faked an attack which drew the planes away.

After dark, the submarine closed in and torpedoed two transports. Jap destroyers were dropping depth charges, but Groeneveld sent a torpedo into a third transport. The other ships fled, but the Dutch got in a parting shot that sank a tanker.

TRIBUNE'S MAPS PROVE VALUABLE AT CAMP GRANT

CHINA HITS FIRST BLOW AT JAPS IN INDO-CHINA AREA

CHUNGKING, China, Jan. 22 (AP).—Chinese bombers, believed to have been escorted by volunteer American fighter airmen, dropped 20 tons of explosives into a Japanese air base in French Indo-China today in the first Chinese move against that neighboring territory.

The attack was regarded by some observers as possibly a prelude to land invasion of the Japanese occupied colony from China's southwestern province of Yunnan.

The setup of the allied nations' supreme command in East Asia accorded to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek the direction of any operations which might be taken in Thailand or French Indo-China—this in addition to his continuing leadership of the Chinese armies in China.

RE-ENFORCED JAP ARMY HAMMERS YANKS IN LUZON

200,000 Troops Believed to Be on Island.

Gen. Masaharu Homma.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—The Japanese, with 200,000 troops on Luzon and reenforcements still arriving, today directed hammer blows at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's army in an apparent attempt to crush it by sheer numbers.

Reporting enemy attacks were being intensified all along the narrow front on Bataan peninsula, the war department said the entire Japanese 14th army and other units have been massed on Luzon Island.

Commanded by bulky, English speaking Lieut. Gen. Masaharu Homma, the force included possibly 10 divisions and auxiliary troops, numbering altogether 200,000 or more men. Only in the drive on Singapore are larger enemy forces being employed, observers believed.

Raid Hints Cebu Invasion.

A raid by 17 bombers on Cebu, the Philippines' second city, which was reported at the same time, suggested enemy intent to occupy new island areas.

Cebu, about 150 miles south of Luzon on the island of Cebu, has been a major link in communications between the United States and unoccupied sections of the Philippines. Whether radio facilities there were damaged or put out of commission by the raid, which took place Sunday, was not disclosed.

In the morning communique the war department said particularly heavy fighting had developed along the left flank and center of Gen. MacArthur's line, now believed to be about 25 miles north of the island fortress of Corregidor. Enemy reenforcements were said to be landing both at nearby Subic bay and farther north on Lingayen gulf.

Repulsed in earlier attempts to turn the right flank of the little American-Filipino army and batter it southward along the single highway leading to Corregidor, the Japanese are making their new efforts to advance in exceptionally rugged jungle country.

Gen. MacArthur's left flank extends to the Bataan peninsula coast only a few miles from Binanga bay, scene of a daring motor torpedo boat attack on a Japanese ship. Presumably the enemy reënforcements arriving at Subic bay are moving against this flank.

The calculation of the number of troops the Japanese have massed in the Philippines was based conservatively on estimates that a field army includes up to 10 divisions, aside from tank, heavy artillery, supply, and other forces.

Lieut. Gen. Homma, identified as the 14th army commander, is 54 years old and recently was a division commander in China. He commanded Japanese forces at Tientsin in 1939, and a year earlier was chief of the army general staff's second bureau, corresponding to the American army's G-2 or intelligence section.

Homma was military attaché in London in 1930 and subsequently was the Japanese army spokesmen in Tokio. He was an army representative at the 1931 Geneva arms conference and in 1937 was a member of Prince Chichibu's staff on a visit to London.

Driving South, Japanese Claim.

TOKIO, Jan. 22 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—Domei, the Japanese news agency, today reported that Japanese forces in the Philippines had pushed farther south along the west coast of Bataan peninsula against Gen. MacArthur's American-Filipino troops.

He is Louis Weicker Jr. of 2329 East 70th street.

"I haven't had any direct word from my husband," Mrs. Sutherland said yesterday. "Just from the navy department and what I read in the newspapers. His last letter came on Jan. 2, but I wasn't worried, because he frequently is too busy to write for a couple of weeks. He often goes out on patrol duty, but I didn't know he was missing. I'm just relieved now."

FIRST BIG BRITISH COUNTER-ATTACK RAGES IN MALAYA

Claim Halting of Japs in Western Johore.

BULLETIN.

SINGAPORE, Jan. 23 [Friday] (AP).—Fifty-eight persons were killed and 170 injured in yesterday's Japanese air raids on Singapore, it was announced officially today.

SINGAPORE, Jan. 22 (AP).—British troops northwest of Singapore lunged out today in what appeared to be the first strong counteroffensive yet launched against the Japanese.

British, Australian and Indian troops, covered in their initial advance by heavy artillery fire, were engaged in a great and perhaps decisive struggle with the bulk of the invading forces in the rough Bukit Payong hill area, above Batu Pahat in western Malaya, a wild battleground 70 miles above Singapore itself.

Dispatches from the front said the counteroffensive has stopped the Japanese invaders in the positions they reached two days ago.

This strong counterthrust, planned by general officers in a war council under rubber trees, was intended to solidify the western British anchor in northern Johore state and to rescue the survivors of two Australian battalions and one Indian battalion which had been isolated just to the north below the Muar river.

New Fighting Flares in East.

On the eastern end of the front, British forces took a new stand south of the port city of Endau, which they had yielded earlier in the week. They successfuly ambushed Japanese detachments seeking to creep down the difficult coastal area. This fighting also is about 70 miles above Singapore.

Here in Singapore, where 591 had been killed and more than 1,000 wounded in Japanese air raids of the last two days, five Japanese bombers were shot down today and a Japanese fighter was hit.

Tokio Tells of New Drive.

TOKIO, Jan. 22 [Official broadcast recorded by the Associated Press]—A Domei war roundup today asserted that the Japanese had developed a new drive down the center of Johore state toward Bekok on the main north-south rail line 80 miles north of Singapore and midway between the east and west coasts. An attempt to get behind and trap British defenders was indicaed.

Domei said Japanese spearheads pushing south of the Muar river along the west coast were in action against British forces 10 miles north of Batu Pahat.

Japanese planes raided Mersing, on the east coast of Johore.

BRITISH RAIDERS DROP BOMBS IN WESTERN GERMANY

BERLIN, Jan. 23 [Friday] [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—DNB reported today that British planes bombed western Germany overnight, causing some civilian deaths and injuries and damaging houses. The agency said that over northern Germany anti-aircraft fire drove off the British bombers.

LONDON, Jan. 23 [Friday] (AP).—The air and home security ministries in a communique issued today said that in the early part of last night enemy aircraft dropped bombs at a point in the southwest of England. Other bombs also were dropped at a point in East Anglia, with slight damaged caused at both places. No casualties have been reported.

British Archbishop Warns Against War Vengeance

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 22.—The archbishop of York, Dr. William Temple, declared today that Prime Minister Churchill "undoubtedly was right when he included retribution among our war aims," but added, "it is easy to slide into the desire for exact vengeance," which leads to retaliation. Dr. Temple is expected to become the head of the Church of England when the archbishop of Canterbury's resignation goes into effect.

$16,000,000 in Supplies Saved from Jap Areas

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—The treasury announced tonight the war with Japan stopped shipment of $16,000,000 worth of vital materials, originally destined for areas now occupied by Japan, which is now available for American needs. The items, mostly on west coast docks, include parts of airplane engines, automobile parts, copper wire, tires, paper, tinplate, and locomotive parts.

JAPANESE USE ELEPHANTS AS TANKS IN BURMA

Thailand Troops Join New Drive Toward Port.

BULLETIN.

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 23 [Friday] (AP).—British troops are withdrawing from mountain areas east of Moulmein, Burma, it was officially announced today.

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 22 (AP).—Japanese-Thai invaders using gun-toting elephants as waddling tanks prodded into southern Burma at another point east of the gulf of Martaban today, but British defenders clung to positions east of Kawkawreik in the eastern third of the 70 mile wide panhandle.

A sharp raid by 10 Japanese bombers and 16 fighters left one hangar and a store hut wrecked on the airport at Moulmein, gulf city which is the objective of the invading forces. One RAF plane was damaged on the ground, but there were no military casualties.

The RAF struck in force at the Thai airport of Mesarieng, 100 miles northwest of Moulmein. Bombers and fighters returned to base without casualties.

The newest stab across the Burmese-Thailand border was in the area of Payatgaung, southeast of Moulmein and below Myawaddi, where the first joint expedition poured thru a pass in the Dawna mountains. British patrols had contacted the new force.

Meanwhile a number of British troops reached Burma after escaping from Tavoy, 170 miles south of Moulmein, which the Japanese seized early this week.

The army said in an official commentary that with the aid of "most effective" RAF support, "our troops have given a good account of themselves in the Kawkawreik positions east of Moulmein and have caused heavy enemy casualties and have stopped him wherever they have met him."

PROSECUTION OF FALSE INFORMERS FORBIDDEN BY BRITISH MINISTER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison today refused to allow prosecution of informers who cause the arrest of innocent persons under the much condemned defense regulation 18B. This regulation permits the government, represented by Morrison, to hold without trial any persons suspected of subversive activities.

Explaining his refusal, Morrison said: "It would be contrary to the public interest to publish the names of persons who give confidential information. The fact that any such information may be regarded as unsubstantiated does not indicate that the informant committed a criminal offense for which proceedings could be taken."

Morrison made the statement when asked whether proceedings could be taken against persons who provided the evidence under which Ben Greene was held 19 months in Brixton prison and then acquitted. Morrison said information obtained from various sources indicated Greene "had hostile associations" and that "it was necessary to exercise some control over him."

EXPECTS JAP BID FOR CHINA PEACE IF BURMA FALLS

Sen. George Casts Gloomy Eye on Malaya.

No Peace: War Chief

LONDON, Jan. 23 [Friday].—The Chungking correspondent of the Daily Mail today quoted Gen. Ho Ying-Ch'in, Chinese war minister, as saying that regardless of whether Singapore is captured or the Burma road cut, China will not sign a separate peace with Japan.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—Sen. Walter F. George [D., Ga.] forecast today that the Japanese would try to gain peace with China if they succeed in capturing Singapore and penetrating to Rangoon in Burma. George, a member of the senate foreign relations committee, was nearly as pessimistic about British prospects in Malaya as Chairman Tom Connally [D., Tex.], who told a press conference yesterday that he feared Singapore eventually would fall.

Connally said this would be a serious military blow to the united nations in the fight for control of the far east and George added that such a disaster was almost sure to mean that the Japanese would throw their full strength against Burma in an effort to cut off the Burma road, chief Chinese supply line.

Sees Burma Vulnerable.

George said that Burma would be hard to defend if Singapore fell. A Japanese conquest of Burma, he continued, held the threat of a direct attack on India.

Successful defense of Rangoon, chief port for the Burma road, probably would lie in the massing of Chinese troops there with sufficient air power furnished by the united nations, George declared.

He said that if the Japanese once were able to cut off the Burma road supplies the Chinese would be in a difficult position where they might be much more susceptible to peace feelers. "The Japanese then might say, he pointed out, that they no longer needed territory in China because they were on their way to obtaining all of the rich lands of the southwestern Pacific.

Might Make Racial Appeal.

Tokio's approach to the Chinese, he went on, might be made on the basis that they ought to join the Japanese in taking all of Asia for the Asiatics.

George expressed confidence that the Chinese would stand fast against any such overtures, but, he added, that the possibility of such a move demonstrated the vital need for holding Singapore and keeping the Burma road open.

If that highway were closed, he said, the only remaining route for sending military supplies to the Chinese would be thru Russia. And, he said, that the soviets might not relish the possibility of a two front war.

B-25 BOMBERS TO BE NAMED FOR BILLY MITCHELL

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 22 [Special].—Those twin-engine bombers rolling off the assembly lines at North American are no longer to be known as B-25s. Instead of the prosaic army designation, the olive-drab ships will carry the name Mitchell—in honor of the late William L. [Billy] Mitchell, stormy petrel of aviation and army air chief during the first World war, who was courtmartialed for his outspoken criticisms of army policy.

Currently before the house of representatives is a senate passed measure which would grant Mitchell a posthumous promotion to the rank of major-general, for his courage in advocating air power.

BRITISH WOMEN URGED TO IGNORE ORDER TO SALUTE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Declaring that the government order to women members of the national fire service to salute officers "typifies the Hitlerism we are fighting," Dr. Edith Summerskill, Labor party member of parliament, speaking in London tonight, advised women to ignore it.

Under the terms of the new order women salute men officers, but men do not salute women.

BRITISH REPULSE QUICK THRUST OF NAZI LIBYA ARMY

See Dash of 3 Columns as Test of Strength.

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 22 (AP).—The German desert army has been turned back after a sudden 10 mile thrust in the red mist of a furious sandstorm, reports from the Gulf of Sirte battleground said tonight.

This sudden lashing out by the army of Gen. Erwin Rommel, after it had been pursued more than 300 miles across Libya, was described by the British command as a "reconnaissance in force."

Three strong German columns supported by tanks made the penetration in fighting lasting all of yesterday, but at nightfall were forced to turn back by strong resistance from the British 8th army. British officers considered it to be a testing of British strength, and an attempt to prevent the British from establishing artillery positions preparatory to a full scale attack.

British light tanks which had been harassing Rommel since he retreated from Agedabia fell back to a line somewhat east of Mersa Brega, fighting back and inflicting casualties.

Attack in Worst Weather.

The Germans attacked in the worst weather the desert has seen in a decade; weather which had slowed the British advance, kept many British planes grounded, and enabled Rommel to lay minefields to protect his positions. The area from which he struck is about the same from which the Germans last April began their drive which rolled back Gen. Archibald P. Wavell's depleted forces all the way to the Egyptian frontier. There is, however, no comparison between the present British strength and Wavell's weakness in numbers and equipment.

The British air force took to sea and raided Catania, Sicily, for 10 hours; Salamis, and Patras, Greece, and Candia, Crete. Bombers also made long range raids behind the axis lines on Tripoli and Zuara, the Homs area near the Tunisian border and on roads and airport facilities in Tripolitania.

Driven Toward Agedabia.

BERLIN, Jan. 22 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—German and Italian armored units in a surprise attack drove back British forces deployed in front of axis positions in North Africa and the British are fleeing toward Agedabia, the German high command announced today.

Bomb Malta Airdromes.

ROME, Jan. 22 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—The German air force bombed the airdromes and port installations on the British Mediterranean Island of Malta yesterday and started several fires, the Italian high command said today.

BRITISH AIRFIELD DEFENSE CALLED AID TO OFFENSIVE

LONDON, Jan. 22 (AP).—The RAF's new airdrome defense units were formed to relieve the British army of that job and permit it to organize the greatest possible striking force for offensive operations on the continent, Sir Archibald Sinclair, the air minister, told the house of commons today.

Speaking at the opening of debate as to the effectiveness of his new airdrome defense plan—a debate in which the death penalty was suggested for complacent ministers—Sir Archibald declared that it would be second to none.

He was faced, however, with ridicule of the existing defenses; with stories of how British airdromes had been "invaded" by hunters, members of parliament, and small boys.

One critic in RAF blue, Flight Lieut. Henry Victor Raikes, complained of slowness in preparations to meet a German invasion "that may come in March," and went on: "If there is one new penalty that might be created it should be the death penalty for complacency on the part of any minister."

Cripps, Britain's Former Envoy to Russia, Returns

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Sir Stafford Cripps, former British ambassador to Moscow, returned to Britain tonight. After paving the way for the Anglo-soviet alliance, Cripps resigned. Some quarters indicated he might be in line for a cabinet position. He will be replaced in Moscow by Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, who was ambassador to China.

BISHOP WARD, METHODIST, IS HELD BY JAPS

New York, Jan. 22 (AP).—The Japanese interned Bishop Ralph A. Ward, head of the Methodist church in Shanghai, China, and nine Methodist missionaries who were in Wuhu, China, at the outbreak of hostilities between the United States and Japan, the Methodist church board of missions and church extension announced today.

Dr. Chester B. Rappe, missionary and superintendent in Chungking, West China, cabled that Bishop Ward had advised him that he and the missionaries were confined to the Wuhu general hospital compound overlooking the Yangtze river and were treated courteously.

Dr. Rappe did not name the missionaries, but the board said it understood they included Miss Harriet Whitmer, Burr Oak, Mich.; Miss Jessie L. Wolcott, Spirit Lake, Ia.; the Rev. Francis C. Gale, Oakland, Cal., and the Rev. Albert N. Steward, Omak, Wash.

Interned also, the board said, was Dr. L. S. Morgan of Chicago, acting superintendent of Wuhu hospital.

Britain Orders Licensing of Sellers of Horse Meat

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUTCH FORBID CIVILIANS TO FLEE WAR DUTY

Destroy More Borneo Oil to Avert Invasion.

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Jan. 23 [Friday] (AP).—After ruthlessly burning more Borneo oil facilities to keep them from enemy hands, the government of the Indies today prepared further for Japanese invasion by forbidding the departure from this capital of any civilians able to do war work.

The government decreed penalties of five years in prison and fines of 10,000 guilders [about $5,000] for useful civilians who seek to clear out.

The oil installations in the east Borneo section of Balik Papan already are ruined, the Dutch said, sardonically informing the Japanese they "might just as well forget about their plans" for an invasion there.

The Japanese have been raiding Balik Papan since they swarmed onto the oil island of Tarakan, more than 300 miles up the Borneo coast.

Between them, Tarakan and Balik Papan had an oil output of 1,680,377 tons a year.

An official Dutch announcement disclosed that United States flying fortresses, newly arrived in the Netherlands East Indies, sank a Japanese cruiser and fired a 10,000 ton tanker Monday 100 miles south of the Philippine Island of Jolo. [A previous Washington communique had identified the planes merely as "six American army bombers."]

New Japanese air attacks were reported on Belawan, the seaport for Medan, Sumatra, and on shipping off the Sumatra north coast.

Japs Claim Ten Dutch Planes.

TOKIO, Jan. 22 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—Japanese headquarters today claimed destruction of ten Netherlands East Indies aircraft, including six flying boats, in attacks upon Dutch bases since Jan. 15. It also asserted that last Monday Japanese naval planes destroyed harbor installations and blew up a 2,000 ton vessel in attacks on the ports of Sabang and Medan, on the Island of Sumatra.

TIN CONTAINERS WILL DISAPPEAR IN SHORT TIME

Use of Vital Metal to Be Fully Restricted.

Dog food no longer will come in cans, silver solder will be adopted universally, tooth pastes will give way to powders, tin foils will yield to oiled or waxed papers, and all beer will return to bottles by July 1. dispatches from Washington and a summary of reports from Chicagoland tin fabricators indicate. The reason for these changes is that full wartime restrictions on tin are about to be applied for the first time.

While a price ceiling was put on pig tin last August and the Office of Production Management took control of all tin supplies last Dec. 17, the container industry was not restricted in any way.

Reports from Washington say the OPM has written a new order which specifies what quantities and kinds of foods may be packed in tin cans, and which virtually will eliminate all other uses of tin for containers. It is said that it will be issued within a few days and that the ruling will begin to be felt within a few months. Chicago tin fabricators said they have been expecting such an order for weeks.

56,000 Tons for Cans.

The tin container industry in all its branches used almost 56,000 tons of tin in normal years, it was said yesterday. This included about 33,800 tons for manufacture of tin plate [from which tin cans and other containers are made]; 15,000 for solder [chiefly used for sealing containers]; 3,300 tons for toothpaste tubes, etc., and tin foils 1,200 tons. Total tin imports for 1939, last normal year, were 76,028 tons.

But these are abnormal times in which tin takes its place as a vital war material [babbitt metal for automotive bearings, for alloying with copper to produce bronze and brass used in guns, ships, tanks, etc.] and at this time the country is using tin at the rate of 100,000 tons annually. Virtually all normal sources are cut off by Japanese invasions in the East Indies and our tin stockpile amounts to only 140,000 tons, according to OPM reports.

"Canning, however, will not be halted," one Chicago can user said yesterday. "If worst comes to worst we will be able to put foods into black steel cans specially treated to assure purity."

Solder to Be Plentiful.

Solder supplies should be little affected by the tin restrictions, manufacturers said. Silver can be used almost as well and as cheaply as tin, they explained. Tin solder is made up in three strengths—40 per cent tin, 60 per cent lead, 50-50 and 60-40; silver solder would use only 2 to 3 per cent silver and the remainder lead. Silversmiths have used such solder for years.

While there have been small tin smelters in the United States the majority of tin mined has been smelted on the scene in British Malaya or the Netherlands Indies, or in England where South American tin formerly went. By the end of this month, however, the new federal tin smelter in Texas City, Tex., near Galveston, will be in operation.

The plant will smelt Bolivian tin—the United States having arranged to obtain 100 per cent of Bolivia's tin for the next five years—and some Dutch East Indies ore that arrived here a few months ago. Its capacity, however, will amount to only 18,000 tons a year—about 20 per cent of national needs.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

★ REDS' SKI TROOPS AND POWER SLEDS INTERCEPT NAZIS

Vanguards Speed 17 Miles West of Mozhaisk.

MOSCOW, Jan. 22 (AP).—German armies floundering back along Napoleon's 1812 road of retreat from Moscow were harried tonight by Russian ski troops that skimmed the snow drifts escorted by fast, propeller driven sleds and struck fiercely at the Nazi flanks.

The far flung Russian vanguards were reported to have intercepted the Germans west of the Napoleonic battlefield of Borodino and, with their light arms, to have spread confusion along the enemy's difficult line of communication.

The old Borodino battlefield lies 12 miles west of Mozhaisk, which was the point of the Germans' main frontal salient aimed at Moscow. The Germans were in retreat toward Vyazma, about 60 air line miles farther west.

Another Five Mile Advance.

Tonight's communique said the Russian forces were continuing their advance, reoccupying during the day several inhabited localities, including the district center of Uvarovo, in Smolensk province. The Moscow radio located Uvarovo as five miles from Borodino.

[Smolensk is a large province which extends almost to Mozhaisk at its eastern extremity. It was considered possible that the Russians in their advance to Uvarovo may have nipped off the retreating Germans.]

Vyazma was regarded as the next likely German refuge from the Russian central front offensive as well as from the bitterest week of Russia's winter so far. Forty degrees [Fahrenheit] below zero has been the ordinary temperature at the front.

Dispatches reaching Moscow from the northern and southern wings of the 2,000 mile battle front indicated that the offensive again was rolling forward in the Leningrad and Kharkov regions.

Recapture Forty-four Towns.

The Moscow radio said that Russians in the Orel-Kursk-Kharkov zone had recaptured 44 towns and villages in the last few days. Other dispatches acknowledged German counterattacks in some sectors but said that these were repulsed and that the Red army was on the march again.

On the northern front, the infantry men backed up by artillery forced the Germans out of four villages in the last three days, another dispatch said. Pravda, the communist party newspaper, reported that at Volkhovo and Voibokl, in the Leningrad region, the Germans were bringing in worn out detachments from other fronts to help slow the Russians.

The army newspaper Red Star, discussing the mop-up of the old battle zone south of Moscow, said that all of Tula province now was rid of the enemy and that industrial production was again under way. It said 160 industrial enterprises had resumed activity at Tula, 100 miles south of Moscow.

Among other things, the area supplies the coal for Russia's central manufacturing areas, and Tula formerly turned out rifles for the army.

Steady Frontal Pressure.

LONDON, Jan. 22 (AP).—Informed sources here today held that flank harassments and steady frontal pressure west of Moscow would fulfill the immediate strategy of the Red army command since, with the Germans engrossed in straightening their receding "winter line" now between Kirov and Rzhev, the invaders' flight would be speedy, with or without continuing a headlong attack. The Germans were reported here to have been fortifying a line between Mozhaisk and Vyazma since the start of the Russian counteroffensive.

Repulse Sevastopol Attack.

BERLIN, Jan. 22 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—The German high command reported today that German forces on the Crimean peninsula repulsed Russian attempts to break thru the Nazi encirclement of Sevastopol, main Russian naval base on the Black sea. A communique said repeated Russian attempts to break out of Leningrad were frustrated.

U. S. DIPLOMAT'S TALK ON TURKEY AROUSES EUROPE

Nazis and Reds Assail It; Allies Fear Harm.

[Copyright: 1942: By the New York Times.]

ANKARA, Turkey, Jan. 22.—An interview granted to a Baltimore Sun reporter by John Van Antwerp MacMurray, former United States ambassador to Turkey, on Russo-Turkish relations and alleged soviet ambitions toward the Dardanelles, has been treated as a major sensation by Russian newspapers and the German press. It also received prominent display in the news and editorial columns of Turkish newspapers today.

Allied diplomatic circles expressed annoyance over the press treatment of the American diplomat's interview, and were disturbed by its possible reaction on Turkish public opinion.

According to the Moscow newspaper Izvestia and the soviet news agency Tass, which attacked the former United States ambassador, MacMurray declared that Russia has unsatisfied claims upon the Dardanelles, as reported in an unidentified communique alleged to have been published before Germany's attack on the soviet.

Nazis Fear Red Demands.

German reports and editorial comments cited MacMurray's statement as proof that Russia means to serve a demand on Turkey for passage of Russian warships thru the Bosporus and the Dardanelles. [The Bosporus and the Dardanelles are straits which connect—via the Sea of Marmora—the Black sea and the Mediterranean sea.]

A foreign diplomatic source said that the soviet ambassador, Sergei Vinogradov, called at the Turkish foreign office to reassure Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu that Russia's formal assurances on the Dardanelles question still are valid, and that Russo-Turkish relations from the soviet point of view are unchanged.

SAID TURKS WON'T BE BULLIED.

Former Ambassador John Van Antwerp MacMurray's interview was printed in the Baltimore Sun Jan. 8.

"The Turk won't stand for being pushed around," he said. "If he is threatened or bullied he'll just go off and fight. The Turks are avoiding anything that would annoy the Germans. They know their bread is buttered on the British side. They'll fight if the Germans force them to."

MacMurray's reference to the straits of Bosporous and the Dardanelles was brief. He said: "Reports have been public that before Germany attacked, Russia had tried to make a deal on the straits at Turkey's expense."

ASPECTS OF WAR QUITE DIFFERENT, GOEBBELS SAYS

BERLIN, Jan. 22 [Official Broadcast Recorded by Associated Press].—Propaganda Minister Goebbels, writing in this week's Das Reich, said that in the present winter war "we are facing quite different aspects and also quite different military possibilities than in the winter of 1939-'40."

He said the cares which occupied Germans two years ago "are shrinking to nothingness" compared with the present great military struggle which the entry of Japan and the United States turned into a second World war.

Goebbels said the war against Russia "now is being conducted in its seventh month with stubborn fierceness" and "is confronting the nation in its entirety daily with ever new problems. This war is a national test which is definitely deciding the fate of the German people. . . . Within two and a half years we have become a people of warriors."

REPORT REDS ASK U. S. APPROVAL OF POSTWAR CLAIMS

Hear Eden Backs Stalin's 9 Point Program.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Jan. 22.—Negotiations are underway in Washington, D. C., seeking American approval for a nine point program which Moscow has contributed for post-war settlement of world affairs, according to information reaching here from soviet Russia.

The program was reported drawn last month when British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden held talks in Moscow with Premier Josef Stalin and Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov. Eden was said to have endorsed the soviet declaration and promised Great Britain's support in the negotiations now being conducted by Ambassador Maxim Litvinov in Washington for indorsement of soviet claims.

Want Dardanelles Open.

The nine point program as reported here is as follows:

1. Russia has no interest in Turkey, or the Dardanelles other than seeing that soviet merchant ships are free to pass from the Black sea into the Mediterranean.

2. The future soviet-Rumanian frontier will leave Bessarabia and Bukovina [formerly parts of Rumania] on the soviet side.

3. Moscow desires a strong, reconstituted Poland. [There was no mention of location of the frontiers.]

4. The three Baltic states [Lithuania, Latvia, and Estonia] are to be reincorporated within the soviet union.

Agree to Free Finland.

5. The soviet union agrees to a future free and independent Finland, whose frontiers will depend upon the extent of Finland's help to Germany.

6. The soviet desires an arrangement whereby Iran [Persia] could not be used as a base for an attack against Russia.

7. Russia has no interests in Africa.

8. Britain's need of a dominating position in the Mediterranean is recognized as just by the soviet government.

9. The soviet government indorses the British policy that northern France and North Africa could not be used as a base to attack the British Isles.

Would Curb Germany.

Stalin and Eden were said to have agreed that measures must be taken to prevent Germany from waging another war. They also were said to have agreed to consider the nine points as a joint proposition for consultations and consideration and indorsement to Washington.

Because Washington did not recognize the occupation of the Baltic states by the soviet, and also is interested in the fate of Poland, it is expected in Moscow that the negotiations in Washington will take time.

Stalin was reported to have informed Eden that he wants the agreement of the American government before he will permit Molotov to visit London, returning Eden's visit to Moscow.

SPOTLIGHT INDUCES ARMY TO DROP BIDS FOR SPITTOON MATS

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP).—The senate heard today that the army will buy no rubber spittoon mats after all.

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] told his colleagues that immediately after public attention was called to a quartermaster corps invitation for bids on 1,000 rubber mats, the invitation was withdrawn.

"The war department," Vandenberg said, "has been completely and commendably responsive. No such purchases will be made."

The incident, he said, illustrated the need for "constant vigilance" in administration of the war program.

ARGENTINA TIES UP DEAL AT RIO OVER 2 PHRASES

Seeks to Modify Tone of Break with Axis.

Clamp Down on Nazis

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 22.—Brazil today clamped down on the activities of Nazi and Fascist groups. Several purported sports clubs were placed under police control and the German tourist bureau, reputedly the headquarters of Nazi political organizations in Brazil, closed a few hours ahead of a government order to do so. Brazilian officials said aliens and Brazilians found to be plotting against the security of the country or spreading un-American doctrines will be dealt with roughly. The death penalty may be invoked for sabotage.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 22 (AP).—Argentina deadlocked the Pan-American conference again tonight with efforts to weaken still more the already revised resolution calling for an eventual diplomatic rupture with the axis. Some observers attributed these new difficulties to Argentine resentment over remarks made yesterday in Washington, D. C., by Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.].

Political leaders here said Argentina apparently had swung into line last night about the time the head of the United States senate foreign relations committee declared:

"We are trusting that Castillo [acting president of Argentina] will change his mind, or that the Argentine people will change their president."

[Connally also is reported to have said: "I understand a very critical political situation exists in Argentina incident to the forthcoming national election. If the people of that country had a free election they probably would be for us. If Argentina persists in her refusal to join the anti-axis group she will find herself out on a limb. It might happen that other American republics would sever business and economic relations with their recalcitrant neighbor. When others cut off diplomatic relations with the axis they probably would not want to leave their borders open to infiltration from Argentina."]

Argentine delegates denied they had received fresh instructions from Buenos Aires as a result of Connally's remarks.

Refuses to Ease Opposition.

American Secretary of State Cordell Hull quickly disavowed governmental responsibility for Connally's remarks, but the Argentine delegation, nevertheless, presented new demands when the conference's political committee met today.

Several committee sessions were held, including one tonight, but no solution was found.

[According to information received from other sources, the agreement will be signed at a plenary session of the conference this afternoon, with or without Argentina.]

Connally's statement had followed one by Castillo in which the acting president in Buenos Aires declared that, "right or wrong," Argentina would not modify her opposition to the rupture resolution.

In Buenos Aires tonight, Castillo, in another published interview—a method by which he is making himself heard over his own delegates at Rio de Janeiro—declared Argentina was "in solidarity with the American nations, but we do not agree that an attack on one of the nations of America signifies that all others take the position of belligerency."

The present resolution does not call for a state of belligerency, but it is Argentina's implicit fear that a break with the axis would put her into the war.

Chile, which had accepted the original compromise along with Argentina, was reported to be standing firm in that acceptance.

Changes Sought by Argentina.

The wording which the Argentines first accepted and then rejected was the statement that the American republics "cannot continue" relations with the axis. Argentina was reported insisting that it be changed to read "may not be able to continue."

Argentina also found fault with another phrase of the resolution, which said that, before reëstablishing relations with the axis powers, the nations "will consult together in order that their decision may be collective and unanimous." The Argentines want the word "collective" dropped, thus establishing that the decision is merely "unanimous."

The "cannot continue" text was reported received by Castillo at 1 a. m. and the formal acceptance meeting scheduled for 4 p. m. subsequently was called off. The new deadline for Argentina was to be the political committee session scheduled for Friday afternoon, but the secretary to the Argentine delegation said, "Final word has not been received from Buenos Aires."

One source said, "We seem to be back where we were before," and Mexico's foreign minister, Ezequiel Padilla, summed up:

"It's a grammatical drama."

Break by Brazil Seen.

An authoritative source said Brazil might sever relations independently with Germany, Italy, and Japan even before this foreign ministers' conference ends, both as a token of her temper and to encourage others to act swiftly in fulfilling the spirit of the resolution.

The conference committee on economic coöperation, meanwhile, began work on its agenda, topped by separate proposals for American nations to end all financial, commercial, and economic dealings with the axis.

BRAZIL CONSULAR AND DIPLOMATIC AIDS LEAVE ITALY

LISBON, Portugal, Jan. 22 (AP).—A number of Brazilian consuls and members of the diplomatic service already have left Italy to go home by way of Lisbon, it was learned tonight. In addition Brazilian consuls and diplomats in Germany and other European countries are reported to be packing up to leave.

NAVY TO ENLARGE RESERVE SCHOOL ON N. U. CAMPUS

Plan for More Men, New Operations.

BY AL CHASE.

Chicago's naval reserve school, operated by the navy department on the downtown campus of Northwestern university, is to be enlarged next June and again in October, both in number of students and in scope of operations.

Capt. B. B. Wygant, head of the school, said yesterday that beginning June 1, when the present class of 920 midshipmen is graduated, 1,250 ensigns will be sent here by the navy department for special courses, as yet undesignated. They will be graduated on Oct. 1, when the school will resume its midshipmen classes with an enlarged enrollment of 1,700 students.

To Use Most of Building.

Capt. Wygant said that by June nearly all of the 17 story 820 North Michigan Avenue building [at the southwest corner of Tower court and Pearson street] will be used by the navy for dormitories, classrooms, messrooms, and recreation.

At present the navy uses the fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh floors of the building for sleeping quarters for 520 midshipmen. On June 1 two and a half floors more will be taken over and more space will be available in October.

Ready for Even More.

If the school continues to grow after its October expansion, additional space will be used, it is understood.

The school has most of its classrooms in Abbott hall, where 400 midshipmen live. When the 1,250 ensigns arrive in June they will be divided between Abbott hall and the 820 North Michigan Avenue building.

CANADA HALTS TIRE PURCHASES BY AMERICANS

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 22 [Special].—Americans who have been crossing the Canadian border to buy their tires found themselves shut off in Canada today. The minister of munitions and supplies has imposed restrictions on tire sales similar to those in effect in the United States.

To obtain new tires here it now is necessary to prove Canadian citizenship, to establish urgent need in business or profession, and to get a permit from a dominion tire rationing office.

No quotas for regions have yet been established. There are no restrictions on used tires, but little business is being done in this field. Previously Americans could buy tires in Canada and take them home by simply declaring them at the customs.

U. S. PUBLICISTS PUT ROSY TINT ON WAR EFFORT

Factual Report Contrasts with Drab Criticism.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—Following hard upon the heels of reports by congressional committees condemning waste and inefficiency in the arms program, the administration today issued its own brochure on the war effort which dealt almost entirely with the brighter side of the picture.

Decked out in a red, white, and blue cover and running to 62 pages, the administration report was prepared by the Office of Facts and Figures and made public following its submission to President Roosevelt. The OFF has a staff of 84, composed largely of former newspaper men, several of whom hold desk commissions in armed services.

Points with Pride.

The report described the development of the army and navy in terms calculated to arouse the nation's pride in its fighting forces; told of the expansion of the lend-lease program; discussed foreign funds control, the blacklist of axis businesses, and other features of the economic warfare on the foe; praised the activities on what it termed the labor front, and gave brief accounts of civilian defense and attempts by the administration to guard against economic disruption.

"The intention of the report is to present the record of this period in over-all factual terms," explained Archibald MacLeish, librarian of congress and director of the OFF, in his letter of transmittal to the President.

Waste Passed Over.

The appalling picture of waste, incompetence in high places, failures of production machinery, unnecessary delays and vast profits reaped both by labor and management, which has been presented to the nation by members of congress, were dismissed with the following brief reference by the OFF director:

"There were, of course, delays and omissions and mistakes in the realization of the program as in the realization of all human efforts of comparable magnitude. These mistakes and omissions have had and will continue to have critical attention in appropriate quarters. The report here presented limits itself to the record of what was actually done and to the question of present ability to move forward."

MacLeish, who is known as a New England poet, has often denied that his bureau is a propaganda agency.

Gist of Criticisms.

The sternest criticism of the gigantic program came exactly one week ago in a report of a special senate investigating committee headed by Sen. Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.] which exposed grave deficiencies in the defense effort. This was followed by a report of the house naval affairs committee earlier this week laying bare the wealth of the nation's labor unions and disclosing tremendous financial gains made by the unions during the program as well as accusing management of unconscionable profits from arms contracts.

In the Truman report it was charged that only about 25 per cent of American aircraft production consists of combat planes considered to be equal or superior to those manufactured abroad.

Planes Called Superior.

Today's reports from the OFF, in a special section headed, "The Superiority of Our Planes," credited the army air corps with "spectacular" progress.

Another section was headed, "The Goal: 7,000,000 Soldiers." An army of this size, the report asserted, can be recruited under the new age limits for conscription. Heretofore, the estimate of the eventual strength of the land forces was between 5 and 6 millions.

Measuring the progress of the defense program in dollars, the OFF sought to show the rapid rate of its developments with an impressive array of box car figures. On July 1, 1940, defense spending was at the annual rate of 2 billions, it stated, and by Jan. 1, 1941, before passage of the lend-lease bill it had jumped to 6.2 billions per year. By last July 1, the nation was spending 10.6 billions annually, it was disclosed, and at the annual rate of almost 20 billions on Dec. 1.

"But it is only a fraction of what we must do to survive as a free nation," the report added.

Spending Rate Climbs

(Story in adjoining column.)

ILLINOIS COUNTY JUDGES CONVENE, TALK OF DEFENSE

County and probate judges of Illinois met in the Hotel Sherman yesterday for their annual convention which will continue thru tomorrow. Coöperation in civilian defense plans will be a leading topic at the sessions.

Mayor Kelly welcomed the judges at a luncheon.

"During the stress of war the judges can help morale by being more humane and sympathetic in handling cases," the mayor said. "In many other ways they can coöperate with civilian defense plans."

Methods of improving the courts, new legislation, administration of probate and the judges' retirement system will be discussed today. Circuit court judges of the state will join in the sessions.

Gov. Green will be the principal speaker at a banquet tomorrow evening. Judges of the state Supreme court have been invited as guests of honor.

TREASURY MAY EASE INCOME TAX RULES FOR IDLE

Considers Those Jobless from War Conversion.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—The treasury is considering plans to make income tax payments easier for persons thrown out of work thru the conversion program to war production, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau said today.

The treasury will have a "sympathetic" attitude toward such people, but the treasury will still expect them to pay their taxes on 1941 income. One proposal under consideration is that taxpayers be allowed to pay their taxes in monthly instead of quarterly instalments. This was brought out at President Roosevelt's recent press conference on the budget.

May Grant Postponement.

Morgenthau said other proposals will be studied to ease the burden for those temporarily out of work while plants are closed for changing over machinery and equipment to production of war materials. Possibly the treasury might allow a postponement in payment of the taxes without penalty. Under present law, payments may be deferred with treasury permission but an interest is charged.

The secretary of the treasury who just returned from a brief Florida vacation, also told his press conference that he hopes the American republics and Canada can agree on a common unti of currency for use in settling export trade accounts.

Seek Stable Currency.

A resolution has been introduced at the Pan-American conference at Rio de Janeiro calling for stabilization of currencies within the hemisphere. The common unit, which would not be used internally in the various countries but only for settling trade balances, might be the dollar or some other unit and based upon gold or silver, Morgenthau said. Silver probably would be used at least in part because Latin-American nations mine more silver than gold, he said.

"We would like to work out some method of settlement of debts between countries for goods received so business men could feel free to send goods to any country in this hemisphere and know that they will be paid in currency of a standard value," Morgenthau asserted.

Mrs. Roosevelt Seeks Naval Commission for Accused Red

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, has been trying to get a commission in the navy's intelligence service for Joseph P. Lash, so-called youth leader, who has been labeled a communist by the Dies committee on un-American activities.

Lash, a protégé of Mrs. Roosevelt and a frequent White House guest, spent several hours before the committee in an effort to get members to whitewash his long record as a communist and pacifist. Until this is done, he has no chance for the commission despite Mrs. Roosevelt's intercession. The navy is jealous of the caliber of the membership of its highly confidential counterespionage service.

Facing Army Induction.

Instead of a whitewash and a navy commission Lash may soon find himself in the army as a buck private, it was learned. Finding that Lash was classed 1H in the draft, having received deferment because he was over 28 years of age, members of the committee revealed a tendency to recommend his reclassification and immediate induction into the army.

Lash once wrote that he and other members of the American Student union would never support a war waged by the United States. According to committee records, in 1937, writing for the magazine "Champion," Lash declared that "American youth does not intend to lay down its life in shellholes around Shanghai or Timbuctoo."

"The program of the American Student union states," Lash continued, "that we will not support any war which the United States government may undertake, for we recognize that such a war would be imperialist in character.

Held Anti-War Strike.

"The union means business by that declaration. That is why it carried thru the anti-war strike last spring which enlisted the support of 500,000 students. For the strike against war is a dress rehearsal of what we intend to do in a war crisis."

Now that the war crisis has arrived, Lash, with the help of Mrs. Roosevelt, wants to be a navy officer in the intelligence service instead of getting caught in the draft.

Testimony before the Dies committee was that Lash attended the eighth convention of the Young Communist league in New York City as a member at large. The communist newspaper, Daily Worker, has repeatedly reported his activities. He also took the Oxford oath, promising not to support the United States in any war. The committee records show his frequent writings in communistic vein.

Watson Salary Held Up.

The congressional war to drive communists out of key positions in the government continued when the house appropriations committee voted that funds appropriated for the Federal Communications commission should not be used to pay the $5,600 salary of Prof. Goodwin Watson, formerly of Teachers college, New York, who was recently appointed chief analyst in the foreign broadcast monitoring service of the FCC.

Committee hearings released today showed that Chairman James L. Fly of the FCC was subjected to a searching cross-examination by Rep. Joe Starnes [D., Ala.], concerning his reasons for appointing Watson. Fly insisted he did not believe Watson a communist, altho Starnes produced a mass of documentary evidence revealing Watson's connections with communist organizations.

ALLIES BUILDING VESSELS FASTER THAN SUBS SHOOT

Adm. Land Reveals New Tonnage Mounting.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22—Despite sinkings by German submarines the United States and Great Britain are increasing their shipping tonnage, Adm. Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime commission, reported to congress, according to records of secret hearings released by the house appropriations committee today.

Testifying Dec. 9, Land told the committee that sinkings and new production have recently been balanced and that new construction was now forging ahead.

Large Increase in Prospect.

United States merchant marine tonnage at that time, he said, was about 7,000,000 and a total of 12,000,000 more tons was in prospect for 1942 and 1943. Great Britain started with about 21,000,000 tons, lost about 9,000,000 tons, but had additions of about 5,000,000 tons.

The axis powers have lost about 5,000,000 tons, Land said, adding:

"They are not having much luck with replacements altho I have not the exact figures."

On Dec. 1, 1941, the chairman said, contracts and awards had been made for 999 ships with a dead weight tonnage of 10,746,671. One hundred and fifty four ships have been launched of which 123, with a tonnage of 1,343,271, have been completed and delivered. Two hundred and seventy two keels have been laid.

The entire program calls for 1,422 ships to be completed in 1943. With 999 contracted for, the remaining 423 will be contracted for before June 30, 1942, Land said.

Strikes Caused Delay.

Strikes have held up the program, the chairman said, or it would be farther advanced. The commission was ahead of schedule in August, 1941, but strikes removed most of this "velvet," he remarked.

Land told the committee that the new program would require a doubling of the present 40,000 men and 10,000 officers employed on deep-sea vessels.

As soon as the commission can find gears and turbines, it will be able to give construction preferences to standard types of cargo ships and further expedite the program, he said.

"And we think we have the world licked right now on the standard type of cargo ship and tankers," he added.

The committee approved an appropriation of $980,380,000 for the commission to carry on the building program during the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Mme. Du Barry's Bed Sold for $760 at Paris Auction

VICHY, France, Jan. 22 (AP).—The bedroom furniture from the Merval château of Madame du Barry, mistress of King Louis XV. of France, was sold at auction in Paris yesterday. Du Barry's bed brought a bid of 38,000 francs [about $760]. The auction created a sensation.

Sinks in Collision

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

The Clyde Mallory managed freighter Brazos.

New York, Jan. 22 (AP).—The third naval district announced today that the Clyde-Mallory freighter Brazos, 4,497 tons, sank Jan. 13 after a collision 150 miles off Cape Hatteras, N. C. Identity of the other ship was not revealed. All 35 of the crew were saved and landed at Charleston, S. C.

The ship, long known in the coastwise trade between New York, Galveston and Charleston, was commanded by Capt. C. L. Stone.

The Brazos was built 43 years ago at Newport News, Va. The navy said the area where the collision occurred is traversed by enemy submarines.

The navy said 23 survivors had already reached New York via rail and nine would reach here tomorrow. Two men were injured, the navy said.

Ten Bodies Found at Sea.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 22 (AP).—The fifth naval district announced that the bodies of 10 seamen picked up at sea were brought here tonight. The bodies were presumably those of some of the men aboard the steamer City of Atlanta which was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine off the North Carolina coast Monday morning.

NORSE FREIGHTER SUNK BY SUB OFF ST. PIERRE ISLE

New York, Jan. 22 (AP).—The new Norwegian freighter Frisco, 1,582 tons, was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine off St. Pierre, French island off the Newfoundland coast, on Jan. 12, Norwegian shipping operators said today.

They said only six of the crew of 19 or 21 was rescued. [The Norwegian shipping and trade mission confirmed the report without comment.] The date of the sinking was only two days before axis submarines sank the 9,577 ton Panamanian tanker Norness off Long Island.

Italian Liner and Freighter Are Taken Over by Brazil

SANTOS, Brazil, Jan. 22 (AP).—Brazil tonight took over the 23,861 ton Italian liner Conte Grande and the 4,310 ton Italian freighter Como Tebro, which have been idle in Santos harbor since Italy entered the war. Brazil's intention to take over the two vessels was disclosed Nov. 19, shortly after Brazil took over eight other Italian ships.

AXIS DIPLOMATS DREAD DAY THEY MUST GO HOME

Prefer U. S. to Europe; Trade Is Weeks Away.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—Exchange of American and axis diplomats is still weeks if not months away, altho it appeared today that Portugal will be selected as the neutral ground for trading the envoys and their staffs.

While American diplomats are impatiently awaiting return to their homeland the axis envoys are reported to be loathe to leave this country for the rigid life they must lead at home.

Arrangements are being made to charter a Portuguese vessel to carry German, Italian, Hungarian, Rumanian, and Bulgaran diplomats to Lisbon. It is possible that the Japanese envoys may also be carried to Portugal because that country appears to be the only common meeting ground available for exchange.

Swiss in Charge of Trade.

When the Portuguese vessel leaves America, American diplomats will be moved from axis nations in Europe to Portugal. The actual exchange would be accomplished under the direction of Swiss diplomats as that nation is representing axis powers in the United States and the United States in axis powers.

Meanwhile the axis diplomats are sojourning at two Virginia resorts. The German, Italian, Rumanian, Hungarian, and Bulgarian diplomats have taken over the fashionable hotel at White Sulphur Springs and the Jap envoys are at a Virginia Hot Springs hotel. Expenses are being paid by this government. In return American diplomats are reported to be receiving comparable treatment abroad.

Coddling Held Justified.

Congressional criticism of the coddling of axis diplomats has met with the state department answer that this government is extending every courtesy to the diplomats in the understanding that American diplomats are receiving equal consideration.

From the resorts it is reported that the axis envoys dread their return to the bare life of the new order in their homelands and are pleased over every delay. Various members offer different reasons for their lack of enthusiasm for the return, but all are loathe to exchange American food, comforts, and security for rationing, regimentation and war.

TAKE $15 AND PISTOL.

Two armed robbers last night visited the filling station at 10610 Vincennes avenue, took the pistol that Glenn Aiken kept there, and robbed Aiken of $15.

AIR RAID ALARM RULES SENT TO CITY SCHOOLS

Always Be Ready, Says Mayor Kelly.

"Don't rush around, don't worry, but act!" was the advice given to school principals, engineers, and teachers in Chicago and the metropolitan area in instruction sheets for air raid precautions distributed yesterday. The sheets were sent out by Mayor Kelly as civilian defense coordinator for the area and will be posted in every school.

Under the heading: "Are We in Danger?" the instruction read: "The answer to that is—we don't intend to be caught napping again—anywhere or any time. We are not going to say again: 'It can't happen here.'"

If an air raid warning sounds, the school authorities are directed to sound fire alarms and conduct classes to an air raid refuge. The large inside halls of most schools are suitable for such a refuge and a cellar is adequate if it has sufficient exits and the windows can be protected.

Authorities are also told to have fire extinguishers in working order, to conduct drills, to publish full instructions on bulletin boards, to appoint school building wardens, and to prepare alternate refuges.

Parents are requested not to try to reach the school where their children are during a raid. They are also asked not to telephone the school during such an emergency.

"I am planning a trip to Southern California Please tell me..."

Following are direct answers to questions that hundreds have asked Southern California authorities during the past month:

QUESTION: What about travel to Southern California at this time?

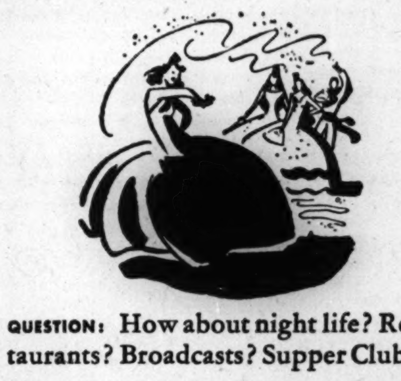
ANSWER: It is normal. Travelers and their families enter and leave the State without restriction. December travel to Southern California greater than the same month a year ago. Rail, air and bus lines from your area are operating on normal schedules.

QUESTION: And travel within the State? Can we still get around to see the sights?

ANSWER: Yes. All highways are open. Survey at an important intersection in Los Angeles shows visitors' automobiles passing at the rate of one every 23.2 seconds. Thousands of visitors are here ...and traveling.

QUESTION: Are visitors finding things normal?

ANSWER: Yes. Take the famous All-Winter Sun Festival, for instance. Out of 300 originally scheduled events, only 11 were cancelled (those that attracted abnormally large crowds). During the next three months, more than 150 events are on the calendar.



QUESTION: How about night life? Restaurants? Broadcasts? Supper Clubs?

ANSWER: Throughout Los Angeles County and its neighbors, people are on the alert, but living as usual—night as well as day. One general blackout on December 10. None since.

QUESTION: What is the condition of business generally?

ANSWER: Los Angeles County indices show that the area compares favorably with all sections of the country.

QUESTION: What is the attitude about travel?

ANSWER: Victory depends on public fitness and morale, on the driving ambition of each person to win the war. Southern California and other great recreation areas offer ideal civilian furloughs for hard workers and quick rejuvenation for the big job ahead.

QUESTION: What about costs?

ANSWER: Recent surveys show that actual vacation costs average 18.5% less than the average of 20 other leading U. S. resorts. Ample accommodations.

FURTHER INFORMATION: The All-Year Club of Southern California (21 years experience), a non-profit community organization, will be glad to answer specific inquiry. Mail the convenient coupon.

ARMORED FORCE PREPARES FOR BATTLES AHEAD

Tribune Writer Takes Ride in Rolling Fort.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Knox, Ky., Jan. 22.—Every day here the big tanks of the armored force of the United States army are lumbering over "battlefields," training husky young men for the time they will join battle with the nation's enemy.

Today this reporter rode in the radio operator's seat in one of these giant rolling forts during a practice attack. My hands grasped the sponge rubber grips of my precarious perch and my head, protected by a crash helmet, bobbled about as we topped the crest of a hill. Then the tank rolled down the snowy slope on the other side, laying a curtain of fire on the "enemy" at the next hill.

Noise Is Deafening.

The clatter of the tank, the bark of the 37 mm. gun and the heavier "poom" of the 75 were deafening, but shortly it was over—the last of the targets [condemned tanks] blasted and the gunnery practice completed for the day. And then, as the monsters paused in the "battlefield," there was a chance to talk with the tank crew.

Who are the men who drive these monsters? Where are they from? What do they think of their work?

One of them, the driver, was a square jawed blond from Ohio. The tank commander, a sergeant, who manned the 37 mm. gun, came from central Indiana. His assistant gunner called the southern Illinois coal fields home, while the others lived in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey.

Depend on Each Other.

"It's not bad work at all," said the driver. "At home on the farm I drove a tractor, and this isn't much different. You soon get used to the noise. We got a good crew. Everybody knows his job and knows that the other guy depends on him all the time."

Not only does every member of the crew know his job, but in an emergency he could take over any one of the others. These men are prepared for battle by rigorous training. Constant conditioning keeps them at their physical peak.

And behind them are thousands more, manning other segments of the army's armored divisions in lighter tanks, armored half tracks [personnel carriers], reconnaissance scout cars, rugged little "peeps" on motorcycles, and in the mighty trucks of the supply column.

Every soldier in an armored division is a specialist. First he receives the basic training common to all soldiers. He learns the use of the division's weapons and acquires a general knowledge of the vehicles. Then comes his development as technician in some particular field.

Self Propelled Guns.

He may be a cook or a clerk. Or he may be a highly trained radio operator, a radio electrician, a tank driver, a tank mechanic, or an automotive mechanic. He may learn the trade of gunner, handling the heavy tank guns, the lighter machine guns, the trench mortars, the submachine guns, the semi-automatic rifles, or the new self-propelled assault guns.

Then, after acquiring proficiency at his war trade, he learns to work with the other members of his unit as a combat team. As this training proceeds, from section, thru platoon, company, batallion, regiment, and division, he comes to understand something of the tactics which govern his actions on a battlefield.

The armored division with its 12,700 officers and soldiers, 3,500 vehicles, and 20,000 guns, is a self-contained unit. The armored force, according to army observers, faces a tremendous expansion under the command of Maj. Gen. Jacob L. Devens, one of the youngest major generals in the army.

The expansion program means an intensive training routine for the recruit as well as the more seasoned soldier. It means much administrative and field work for officers, most of whom have been quickly trained in leading this newest of the army's striking forces. It means an increased tempo at the AF replacement center and the AF school here.

Horse Owners' Club Urges Law Against Horn Blowers

The Palos Hills Horse Owners' club announced yesterday that most of its members own buggies and harness and are ready to use them exclusively for transportation when it becomes necessary. In a letter to the state department of highways the secretary, R. B. Cameron, asked that horn honkers be restrained by law from frightening horses. He also asked that road shoulders be treated to make them usable for horses and buggies.

She Buys a Bond

JEAN LOUISE BENNINGER.

Seven year old Jean Louise Benninger of 123 South Harvard avenue, Villa Park, a victim of infantile paralysis, has been thinking about what the Japanese did at Pearl Harbor, and she decided to do something about it. So yesterday she and her mother went to The Tribune Public Service bureau in Tribune Tower, where the little girl purchased a $500 defense bond.

Local officers of the bond and stamp sales office of the treasury announced yesterday that 1,000 employés of the Scholl Manufacturing company, the entire personnel, signed up simultaneously all over the country at noon to buy bonds under a pay roll allotment plan.

DENY AIR TRAVEL PRIORITIES WILL HIT PUBLIC HARD

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—The Air Transport association, quoting war department officials, explained today that facilities available to the general public for travel by air should not be affected to a measurable extent by the granting of priorities for seats to persons on vital war missions. The association said:

"The announcement of the arrangement for assigning priorities of air line space to certain persons whose travel is necessary to the successful prosecution of the war will not interfere to any measurable extent with the travel of the general public.

"It is necessary in some instances that some on missions of vital importance be assured of thru space being available. However, the percentage of such passengers will be very small and in the majority of cases the public will find air line space for its use as it has been in the past."

WOODRING SAYS BRITAIN WON'T PAY FOR ARMS

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 22 (AP).—Harry H. Woodring, former secretary of war and governor, believes "England never will pay us one cent for the military supplies we produce for her."

"The greatest challenge of the survival of our democracy and the present order is in the bills of expenditures, in the cost of this war—the 150 or 200 billions of dollars," he told the Topeka Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Woodring asserted that after the war England would plead inability to pay her share of the bills and said America would have an enormous task in meeting the debts and in solving readjustment problems after the close of war industries.

ARMY PILOT DIES IN DIVE TO EARTH AS CHUTE FAILS

Chanute Field, Ill., Jan. 22 (AP).—First Lieut. James O. Reed of the army air corps was killed today when his parachute failed to open as he jumped from a twin motored plane soon after it had left Chanute field.

Capt. M. F. Ranney, public relations officer, said the last word radioed by Reed was he was experiencing trouble and was preparing to "bail out."

Staff Sergt. Chester R. Smith made a successful parachute jump and was unhurt. Smith said he left the plane at an altitude of about 3,200 feet.

TRIBUNE MEDICAL SERVICE ASSISTS 11,424 DURING '41

Saves Lives and Money of Employes.

A tale of lives spared and money saved was detailed yesterday in the report for 1941 of the medical counsel service of THE TRIBUNE. Since it was instituted Jan. 2, 1939, the service has given advice to thousands of Tribune employés and members of their families on everything from sore throats to pulmonary tuberculosis.

The report for 1941, issued by Dr. Irving Cutter, THE TRIBUNE's health editor, said an increase of 2,211 was noted in the number of persons who sought counsel.

High Daily Average.

In 1940, 9,213 were aided—8,058 by the nurses, Miss Lois Bright and Miss Margaret Lacey, and 1,155 by Dr. Fred W. Fitz. Last year, the total jumped to 11,424—10,146 by the nurses and 1,278 by Dr. Fitz and his successor, Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen.

The nurses often averaged about 70 calls, either at the office or at homes, each day. Of the total calls, about 90 per cent were to assist Tribune employés and the rest were to members of their families. Miss Bright made 1,361 visits to homes during the year, compared with 1,425 in 1940.

Cases typical of the benefits derived from the plan follow:

A man cut himself while shaving. After several days a sore developed and, altho it was painless, the employé decided to have it examined. The examination lasted about half an hour. The diagnosis was cancer. The employé immediately was referred to a specialist. An operation was performed and the man's life saved.

Another Diagnosis Corrected.

A woman was told by an outside doctor that she had a dangerous tumor and that an expensive operation was necessary. She asked the Tribune service for advice. She was sent to a specialist, who found that the original diagnosis was incorrect. Her condition was corrected by far less drastic and expensive means than the first doctor had proposed.

The son of a Tribune worker suffered for months after his nose was broken. His doctor was charging high fees for treatment which was ineffective. The boy was referred to a specialist. The defect was remedied quickly.

Dr. Van Dellen, altho only 30 years old, has an impressive medical background. He was graduated from Northwestern university medical school in 1934. During 1940 he was associate director of the school's medical clinics. He now is an associate in medicine at the school, and attending physician at Passavant Memorial hospital. He also is on the staffs of the Englewood and Wesley Memorial hospitals.

WPA TO PROVIDE JOBS FOR VICTIMS OF PRIORITY RULE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—Howard O. Hunter, work projects commissioner, announced today the WPA would give jobs to all persons thrown out of employment directly because of the war production program and who are ineligible for unemployment compensation under the social security program.

Hunter predicted an increase of almost 2,000,000 in unemployment by June. He set the present number of unemployed at 3,800,000 and said the figure probably would reach at least 5,500,000 due to war priorities and plant change overs.

Stating a large number of workers thrown out of jobs would not be eligible for sufficient unemployment compensation, Hunter said a plan was being worked out whereby federal employment agencies would certify such workers for WPA jobs.

WARN WAR NEEDS LIKELY TO DIM LIGHTS IN HOME

Officials Assert Power Rationing Necessary.

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP).—Congress received from government power officials today a blunt warning that the nation must ration electricity—possibly this year—that even private homes may be dimmed to conserve power for the defense program.

That possibility was voiced by Leland Olds, chairman of the federal power commission, and G. O. Wessenauer, acting power manager for the Tennessee Valley authority, in testimony during house appropriations committee hearings on the independent offices supply bill passed today.

Rationing Held Necessary.

The rationing of electricity for homes, offices, night clubs, and other civilian purposes, Olds told the committee, "is going to be necessary and is going to be done," and a survey to determine the power supply of the various areas is being made "to determine just what loads can be cut off without materially interfering with the normal life of the community."

Olds said he believed the emergency would call for power rationing in many regions "by the end of this year."

More Than Sign Blackout.

While it is hoped and planned, he added, that curtailment can be effected "without serious dislocation of the normal life of the people," it may mean "a great deal more than simply the elimination of neon signs, ornamental street lighting, the use of the radio in homes, or other essentially luxury uses."

[Chicago faces power crisis in better position than most cities. Story on page 25.]

The more serious shortages of power naturally will occur in the heaviest defense production areas, Olds explained, and the population of those areas may face a serious reduction of their normal activities requiring the use of electricity.

Not Enough Power—Olds.

At present, Olds told the committee, there is not sufficient power available or projected to meet the defense load of 1942, 1943, or 1944, without either additional capacity or a "material curtailment." He estimated the total shortage at several million kilowatts this year and probably three or four million in 1943, and added "We are likely to be in a very difficult situation when we come to 1945 and 1946."

Wessenauer said he was "certain" there would have to be some conservation of electricity to meet the defense requirements.

Defense Need 15 to 95%.

At the end of 1941, Olds said, the installed capacity in public utility generating stations was approximately 42,800,000 kilowatts, with a total dependable capacity of 36,500,000 kilowatts. Scheduled additions this year will add some 3,000,000 kilowatts to the total capacity.

The defense power needs were estimated by Olds to vary from 95 per cent in the Niagara Falls area to 15 per cent of total capacity in some interior regions.

CHICAGO MODELS TO VIE FOR TITLE OF MISS VICTORY

More than 45 girls who have been posing for advertising photographs for only one year have entered the models' contest to be conducted Jan. 29 in the Art center, 820 North Michigan avenue.

The contest to select Chicago's best photographic model is sponsored by the Art Directors' club of Chicago, in coöperation with the Society of Photographic Illustrators, the Central Casting bureau, Nilah Brooks, Inc., and the Models' bureau.

The winner will receive the title of "Miss Victory." Others will be selected to represent glamor, the bathing girl, sophistication, animation, fashion, legs, hands, smile, a co-ed, and a housewife. There also will be an exhibition of black and white and colored photographs.

Masquerade Ends

Richard Hart in army uniform in the detective bureau yesterday.

Richard Wayne Hart's brief masquerade as an army officer came to an end yesterday because he had promoted himself too swiftly. Hart, 17 years old and living at 7756 Saginaw avenue, was seized wearing a captain's uniform and insignia.

Once discharged from the army for being under age, and unable to reenlist, Hart obtained a new officer's uniform Christmas and started out last week as a second lieutenant by purchasing gold bars for 60 cents at an army store. Hart figured a second lieutenant didn't get enough salutes, so for 60 cents more he purchased silver bars and promoted himself to first lieutenant.

Hart toured loop taverns with a girl. He also cashed bad checks. On Tuesday he promoted himself to a captaincy, also for 60 cents. A barkeeper, who thought Hart's rise from second lieutenant to captain in a week was too rapid, notified police and Sergt. John Alcock seized him. Hart was stripped of his insignia. He now faces five bad check charges, as well as a government inquiry for impersonating an officer.

TWO MEN SEIZED ON RAPE CHARGES OF ATTACKED GIRL

Two men, one an ex-convict, were seized by Maxwell street police last night when they kept a date with two girls who accused one of them of rape and the other of attempted rape. They are Joseph Paul, 29 years old, alias Carson, 743 South Oakley boulevard, and Joseph Buccasso, 26, alias Russell, of 2044 Ogden avenue.

Police said that on Dec. 28 Paul, the ex-convict, and Buccasso drove a girl 21 years old to the far west side where Paul is alleged to have attacked her and Buccasso is alleged to have tried to attack her. On Jan. 19, police added, they called upon another girl, 17, a friend of the first girl, told her that her friend was in the hospital, and offered to drive her to the friend.

Instead police said, the men took her to the same west side spot where Paul tried to attack her. She dissuaded him, police said, by promising to meet him and Buccasso at a later time, and to have the first girl with her. The meeting was scheduled for Taylor street and Garibaldi place. The two men kept the date. So did the two girls—but Detectives James McKittrick and John Lamb were along, and the arrest followed. Buccasso and Paul, who once served a term in the Pendleton, Ind. reformatory for auto theft, denied the rape charges.

WALSH BLAMES ADMINISTRATION IN SHIP PROFITS

Curb on Costs Lifted at Leaders' Demand.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—Sen. David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the naval affairs committee, told the senate today that the Roosevelt administration must be held responsible for the "unconscionable" costs of naval vessels which have been assailed by senate and house committee reports within the last week.

Sen. David I. Walsh.

Sen. Walsh recalled that statutory limitations on the profits of private shipbuilders which congress adopted in 1938 were subsequently removed "thru the recommendations of the administration."

$775,000,000 Bill Passed.

The subject of profiteering by shipbuilders was discussed when the senate took up a house approved bill authorizing appropriations of $775,000,000 for equipment and facilities to build, equip, repair or convert naval vessels in public or private yards. The bill was passed without opposition and sent to the White House.

Sen. Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], the minority leader, commended Sen. Walsh's denunciation of excessive shipbuilding costs.

"A great deal has been said about nondefense waste," McNary declared. "For some time I have thought we should have more to say about defense waste. That is the bung—the other is the spigot, in my opinion."

Sen. Walsh referred to the reports of the house naval affairs committee and the Truman senate committee on the conduct of the war program, both of which condemned unconscionable shipbuilding costs. The Truman report quoted one private shipbuilder's representative as saying, "If it hadn't been for taxes, we couldn't have handled our profits with a steam shovel."

"I personally think it is a source of humiliation to the congress and its members to have to allow the exposés that have been made in reference to these contracts and to realize that at the very time we are marching to the battle front millions of American youths we are allowing without check or restraint the accumulation of unconscionable profits," Sen. Walsh said.

Doubts Curb on Profit.

"I protested against it in the past and I still protest, but I dare say that if an attempt is made to limit these profits we shall have a bombardment of opposition on the theory that it would slow up production.

"I sincerely hope that steps will be taken immediately to let the people know and to let our soldiers who are receiving $21 a month know that while they are pouring out their life's blood wealth is not going to be piled up by those producing the instruments of war."

Sen. Walsh recalled that the Vinson-Trammell act of 1934 provided for a profit limitation of 12 per cent on naval aircraft contracts and 10 per cent on shipbuilding contracts. In 1938, he said, congress passed legislation limiting the profits to 8 and 7 per cent, respectively. These limitations were subsequently removed and "we went back to the old provisions" as a result of recommendations by the administration, Walsh added.

Austin Defends New Bill.

Sen. Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.] came to the administration's defense. He observed that the new war powers bill, reported by the judiciary committee yesterday, contains a provision authorizing the war and navy departments to inspect the books of contractors for the purpose of ascertaining the cost of production. He said it was recommended by Donald M. Nelson, the new war production director, as a result of "particularly extortionate profits."

"I am glad that Mr. Nelson has changed his mind," Sen. Walsh replied. "He was one of those who vigorously protested the reduction of profits in the manufacture of munitions."

N. Y. RESTAURANTS RATION SUGAR; PUT LIMIT AT 2 LUMPS

New York, Jan. 22 [Special].—Sugar rationing made its debut in 38 Schrafft chain restaurants here today. For the first time since the World war patrons could no longer sweeten to taste, unless taste was satisfied with two small lumps of sugar.

Schrafft officials said they believed all New York restaurants would adopt similar rationing next week. An announcement to customers said: "Now the sugar shortage begins to affect us all, and restrictions oblige us to limit our patrons to two lumps of sugar per serving of tea or coffee."

The 17 cafeterias in another chain strove to save sugar by removing containers from tables. Customers were given as much sugar as they wished, but it was supplied by counter clerks.

Many hotels substituted granulated for lump sugar, one official asserting that guests were carrying out lump sugar by the handfuls.

NO RATIONING HERE.

No sugar rationing was found last night in hotel, chain, or other restaurants in Chicago. D. L. Toffenetti, president of the Chicago Restaurant association, said there appears to be sufficient sugar on hand for Chicago restaurants for the time being.

SEIZE ESCAPED CONVICT FOUND DRIVING TRUCK

Francis Holleran, 28 years old, who escaped from Joliet penitentiary Nov. 22, was arrested yesterday at 3400 North Ashland avenue, where he had been working under an assumed name as a truck driver. The capture was made by Detective Ralph Miller, who had been informed of Holleran's identity by a visitor who saw his picture on the bulletin board of a police station. Holleran had raised a mustache and donned shell rimmed glasses to disguise himself. He was sentenced to Joliet in January, 1941, and was serving one year to life for attempted robbery.

HOUSE PASSES 2 BILLION DOLLAR AGENCIES BILL

Maritime Board, Veterans' Office Lead List.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—A bill appropriating $2,006,048,875 to operate 43 government agencies during the coming fiscal year was passed by the house late today and sent to the senate.

Whereas such a measure would have occupied days of debate in former years and been featured by furious fights over many an amendment, the chamber approved it after five hours of general debate by a perfunctory voice vote. Only one minor amendment was adopted.

Five Take 92 Per Cent.

Five of the 43 agencies took 92 per cent of the two billion total. They and the amounts awarded them were:

U. S. maritime commission..$	980,380,000
The veterans administration.	601,195,088
Tennessee Valley Authority...	136,100,000
Federal Works Agency.......	129,286,990
Civil Service commission....	120,195,935
Total	$1,967,158,013

The impact of the defense program has resulted in the necessity for these huge sums, Rep. Clifton A. Woodrum [D., Va.] told the house. The maritime commission is constructing millions of tons of shipping in a 1,422 boat program. The veterans administration, with 860,000 veterans and dependents now on the rolls, expects a new crop as a result of the present conflict.

TVA Expanding Program.

The TVA is expanding its power program for war purposes. The federal works agency is constructing new buildings to house the ever-increasing army of federal employés and 65,000 housing units for defense program employés. The civil service commission has found its work greatly augmented by the tens of thousands of applicants for the new jobs being created.

The total in the measure was $1,200,000,000 less than similar appropriations for the same agencies in the present fiscal year but Woodrum warned the house not to be optimistic. He noted that last year's appropriations included $635,000,000 for emergency funds for the President; $300,000,000 for defense public works, and $300,000,000 for defense housing.

Woodrum hinted that similar sums might be asked by the President in coming months. Mr. Roosevelt was given only $25,000,000 for emergency purposes in the bill passed today.

Charges War Used as Excuse.

The 38 agencies, in addition to the five big ones mentioned, included such departments as the federal communications commission, federal trade commission, securities and exchange commission, federal loan agency, federal power commission, bituminous coal commission, and the tariff commission. The latter was the only agency to feel the house axe, having $90,000 lopped from its $915,000 appropriation.

Every one of the agencies attempted to get more funds on the plea that its "war activities" caused additional expense.

"It is obvious," remarked Rep. J. William Ditter [R., Pa.], "that many of the agencies created in 1933 as 'emergency' agencies are attempting to use the war to justify their existence and to perpetuate themselves."

FOOD MERCHANT FACES PICKETS' ATTACK CHARGE

Five warrants were issued yesterday by Judge Oscar S. Caplan in the State street court, against Herman Wadler, owner of south side food stores, who is fighting the Milk Wagon Drivers' union.

The complainants are Charles Trauscht, 8348 Peoria street, and Berhard Richards, 5822 South California avenue, drivers' union pickets. They told Judge Caplan that Wadler smashed a window of their car with a hammer and hit Trauscht on his arm in a dispute over their picketing of a new store Wadler is building at 96th street and Western avenue.

The warrants accuse Wadler of assault and battery, assault with a deadly weapon, malicious mischief, and violation of a little used statute dealing with conservation of the peace. Two warrants are based on the latter statute.

MRS. WILKERSON DIVORCES SON OF FORMER JUDGE

A divorce was granted yesterday by Lake county Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady in Waukegan to Anne C. Wilkerson, 859 Ridgewood drive, Highland Park, from Conrad D. Wilkerson of the Evanshire hotel, Evanston. Mrs. Wilkerson charged desertion.

Her attorney, Wesley Carey of Waukegan, said the couple were married Aug. 5, 1933. According to the suit, Wilkerson, son of former Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, deserted his wife a year ago. Attorney Jacob I. Grossman filed a denial of the charges on Wilkerson's behalf. Wilkerson is assistant to the vice president of the Central Service corporation.

HISTORIAN CALLS PRESS AND RADIO TIEUP 'NATURAL'

Dr. Mott Opposes Any Ban by FCC.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—A noted historian told the federal communications commission today that it was a natural development for newspapers to enter the radio field.

Testifying in connection with the commission's investigation of newspaper-radio relationships, Dr. Frank Luther Mott, director of the University of Iowa's school of journalism, opposed any prohibitions which would prevent future acquisition of radio stations by newspapers.

Dr. Mott, whose "History of American Magazines," was a Pulitzer prize winner, carefully traced for the commission the history of American journalism, starting with colonial times, and concluded that there had been a vast improvement.

No Danger Discernible.

Commissioner T. A. M. Craven, who opposed the investigation, asked Dr. Mott whether he saw any danger in the licensing of more radio stations to newspapers.

"No, I don't," the witness replied.

Craven then asked whether prohibitions against newspapers operating radio stations would endanger the freedom of the press and Dr. Mott replied that "it certainly would be a strong blow against the newspapers, economically and in the matter of prestige."

Sees Possible Pressure.

Craven next asked whether Dr. Mott saw any danger to the freedom of the press by the licensing of stations owned by newspapers. He replied that it was "conceivable" that a newspaper, whose license was coming up for renewal, might change its attitude on some governmental question, "but this certainly would not be general."

After tracing the history of American journalism from the earliest times to 1914, which he called the start of the period of great consolidations, Dr. Mott said:

"It seems very apparent that consolidations in a great many cities have given those cities better newspapers."

Dr. Mott testified that newspapers have never controled electoral decisions.

"Winning elections is not a newspaper function," he said. "It probably would be a very dangerous thing if they could dominate elections. A newspaper's job is to present the news fully, fairly, and accurately."

In 39 Presidential elections, he testified, the winning candidate had the support of a majority of the newspapers 20 times.

Sanitary District Asks City to Pay $3,588,928

Demands for payments of court judgments totaling $3,568,928 will be given to the city council at its meeting today by Ernest Buehler, attorney for the sanitary district. Buehler said the judgments, one of which goes back to November, 1935, are to collect money owed to the district by the city for the use of electric current supplied from the Lockport power plant.

W-G-N RAMPARTS SHOW SALUTES PARALYSIS WAR

Donations to the Fund for Child Aid Urged.

A new slogan—"Keep Them Walking!"—was introduced last night in a salute to the battle against infantile paralysis on the program, Americans at the Ramparts, over W-G-N and the Mutual network.

After a brilliant show headed by Ethel Barrymore, Keith Morgan, chief of the national campaign to obtain donations for President Roosevelt's infantile paralysis fund, said. "To our slogans of 'Keep 'Em Rolling' and 'Keep 'Em Flying' let us now add another one—'Keep Them Walking!" Keep our children safe from the cruel and crippling infantile paralysis and help those afflicted to get well."

Balls Next Friday Night.

Herbert J. Lorber, Cook county chief of the drive, urged listeners to attend the President's birthday balls next Friday night.

Miss Barrymore starred in a playlet portraying highlights in the career of Sister Elizabeth Kenny, the Australian nurse who has devoted her life to curing children afflicted by infantile paralysis. Her supporting cast included John Goldsworthy, Rosemary Garbell, and Sherman Marks. Miss Barrymore currently is appearing in "The Corn Is Green" in the Harris theater.

Comedians on Program.

Arthur Treacher, one of Hollywood's top comedians, offered a serious reading, "Brotherhood," and was introduced by James Dunn, master of ceremonies. Both men are in the "Panama Hattie" company in the Erlanger theater.

Other acts were Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, perennial movie favorites, and Morton Downey, radio and night club singer. The show was produced by Blair Walliser and musical settings were by Bob Trendler and the W-G-N orchestra and chorus.

FREE RIDE PLAN FOR SERVICE MEN HIT BY CAR LINES

Attorneys for Chicago's three transit services—surface, bus, and elevated—said yesterday that the city council's plan to grant free rides to military service men in uniform is illegal under the laws of Illinois. The statement was made at a hearing before the Illinois Commerce commission on the city's petition for the free service.

Herbert M. Johnson, counsel for the elevated lines, said the state law permits street railroads to grant passes only to policemen, firemen, and mailmen, and forbids free rides to other passengers.

William H. Sexton, city traction attorney, said he was appalled by the companies' attitude and added that they should meet the suggestion in better spirit in view of the war. William Wilson, surface lines' attorney, called Sexton's statement, demagogy and unfair. Wilson said the lines could not do something forbidden by law unless the federal government ordered it as a war measure. Commission examiners William E. Helander and Wallace F. Kirk continued the case until Tuesday.

N. U.'S HOSPITAL UNIT WILL ENTER ARMY IN 3 WEEKS

Order 56 Chicago Doctors to Camp Custer.

Fifty-six Chicago physicians, called into army duty as members of Northwestern university's general hospital unit No. 12, will leave for Camp Custer, Mich., within approximately three weeks, Dean J. Roscoe Miller of the medical school announced yesterday.

The active duty order was given to Dean Miller in Washington, D. C., on Tuesday by Maj. Gen. James C. Magee, surgeon-general of the army. The Northwestern unit is the first to be called of the three hospital units organized in Chicago.

Dean Miller said the Chicago physicians, whose rank ranges from first lieutenant to lieutenant colonel, will be joined at Camp Custer by 18 regular army physicians, a force of 120 nurses now being recruited, and by 693 clerks, hospital workers, technicians, and orderlies. The combined group will be able to operate a general hospital caring for 1,000 to 2,000 patients. They are likely to remain in Camp Custer for about one month for preliminary training.

DRYS OPTIMISTIC ON CHANCES FOR SENATE ACTION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—Others may hold an opposite view but Edward Page Gaston, prohibition lobbyist, asserted today that the recent refusal of the senate to consider one of the pending dry bills did not constitute a defeat for the prohibitionists. He insisted it was really a dry victory because the legislation still remains on the senate calendar.

Edward Gaston.

The pending bill would outlaw the sale or possession of liquor and alcoholic beverages in army posts and the surrounding vicinity. It is strongly opposed by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and other officials, who have warned that it would lower the morale of the fighting men and result in bootlegging in the camps.

When an attempt was made last week, on the 22d anniversary of the passage of the 18th amendment, to call up the measure in the senate, the chamber quickly shouted down a proposal that it begin consideration at once.

Gaston promised today that the drys will attempt "to pressure congress into early prohibitive action." In a lengthy mimeographed statement, he urged "all patriots" to write to their congressmen in support of the bill and to circulate petitions for the same purpose.

Citation for Bravery Won by Cary, Ill., Soldier

Private Elmer L. Rund, son of Carl J. Rund, Algonquin township road supervisor, has been commended for heroic action under fire, his family in Cary learned yesterday. The citation, by Brig. Gen. H. The heroism mentioned was displayed during the Jap sneak attack on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

THE QUESTION.

What scenes or sights of your childhood days do you no longer see today?

WHERE ASKED.

The Bell Telephone building, 212 West Washington street.

THE ANSWERS.

Mrs. S. Cieslik, housewife, 2427 North Maplewood avenue—It's been a good long time since I have walked into a kitchen and seen what used to be a most common sight on a Saturday night: my mother or a neighbor woman leaning over a round wooden tub, scrubbing the kids. It used to be a common sight.

August Selig, retired, 3609 North Damen avenue—About 55 years ago I think one of the most splendid sights of all was to see one of those hansom cabs rush by. They were black and shiny with big wheels. The driver was all dressed up in his uniform with brass buttons and was propped way up on top and to the back of the cab.

Mary Zarack, housewife, 5633 South Ada street—The hats of today are nothing compared to some of those I remember. You could find virtually whole gardens growing on one hat. We almost had to make way for each other when we walked down the street with those two or three pounds of fruits, flowers, and plumes.

T. J. Quill, salesman, 4124 North Kedvale avenue—What a contrast is the streamlined Madison street car in comparison with those I remember. People would really turn around and look if one of those open cable drawn street cars would go by today. The passengers were all lined up in the open seats.

Hilda Maria Van Eck, beauty operator, 4030 Greenview avenue—Something you never see today—not even in the country—is a horse and buggy loaded with boys and girls on their way to school. They used to pile in 10 or 15 kids and then a couple extra boys would ride the horse. It looked like so much fun.

R. W. Long, junior accountant, 6776 North Keota avenue — There's too much speed today to see most of the familiar sights of my youthful days. For instance a gang of boys following a horse drawn ice wagon. Everytime it made a stop they'd catch on and grab a piece of ice. Electric refrigerators and autos have eliminated that scene.

EVEN OLD SOFA MAY HAVE PART IN WINNING WAR

Want to get rid of your old sofa? Want to do the soldiers at Fort Sheridan a good turn? The double purpose can be served, Attorney Austin L. Wyman said yesterday, by getting in touch with a new organization known as the Fort Sheridan Volunteers' committee. The organization was begun recently by a group of north shore men and women to bring some of the home comforts to the boys in the barracks.

"In each of the new barracks," said Wyman, who is a former army officer and is directing the plan, "is an empty day room without furniture. If enough furniture is given, the boys can use these rooms for a few moments' relaxation, for writing letters, for listening to a radio program between drill periods. Some people might call it coddling, but we think it's essential."

Wyman suggested that those wishing to contribute furniture should notify Frank Loomis, chairman of army recreation centers, 10 South La Salle street, and one of the volunteer women workers will call to see the articles.

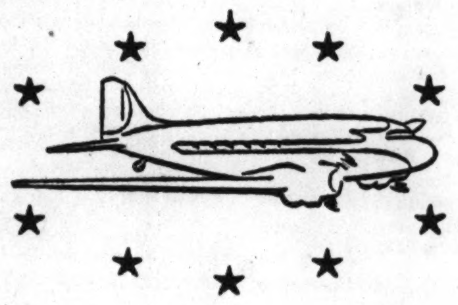
What about the Airlines in a nation at war?



THERE has been considerable speculation on the part of the public about the role of the airlines in the war.

In wartime if facts are not made available, rumor takes charge. Therefore, we welcome the opportunity to provide a clear statement of the facts as they pertain to United Air Lines. The most effective way is to answer the questions that are most frequently asked.

★ ★ ★

Question: Are your planes operating regularly?

Answer: Yes. In fact, United, to keep pace with the much greater air transportation requirements, is flying the most extensive January schedules in its history—68,000 miles a day.

Question: What effect has the war had on your service generally?

Answer: There has been a substantial increase in traffic, and air transportation is demonstrating every day its great utility to Government, Army and Navy, and commercial travel.

Question: Is there space in your planes for civilians?

Answer: Yes. The priority plan just announced by Brigadier-General Donald R. Connolly, the Military Director of Civil Aviation, and the War Department, insures the desired priority for Government and military personnel, to whom the airlines owe their first obligation, with minimum effect upon the traveling public.

The War Department's official statement says:

"Priorities...will not interfere to any large extent with the travel of the general public. It is necessary in some few instances that some on missions of vital importance must be assured through-space. The priority arrangement does that. However, the percentage of such priority passengers is and undoubtedly will be very small, and in the majority of cases the public will find airline space for its use as in the past."

Question: What about new planes, spare parts and supplies?

Answer: The new planes the airlines have on order are for expansion of service. From the very start of the emergency, our inventories of all parts and replacements have been kept above normal levels. The Government has encouraged this, and through priorities, has made it possible. Maintenance is now the most efficient in the company's history.

Question: What about pilots, mechanics and other personnel?

Answer: The Government has placed key operating personnel on a deferred status, so that our planes are flown by our experienced airline pilots, and serviced by our expert, trained crews. Some personnel have left for military service. For the most part, these have been people in non-operating positions, which may have a temporary effect on the personal service you have been accustomed to from United Air Lines. However, our new passenger service employees have been trained to maintain United's high standards, and we will endeavor to preserve all possible features of service which have added to air transportation convenience.

War has given tremendous emphasis to the value of swift transportation for passengers and cargo, both military and civil.

Our military leaders are faced with tasks along two coasts separated by 3,000 long land-miles. Businessmen, too, must save vital hours in busy days by using air transportation. In the last war it required six days to travel or ship coast to coast. Today, modern transport planes span this distance overnight. The airlines have shrunk the United States to the size of the State of Pennsylvania, measured in travel time.

Our 3,500 employees, every one a citizen of the United States, fully understand their responsibility as members of the air transportation industry. They recognize that our best contribution to winning the war is the efficiency of the service we render to our Government, which has first call on our services, and to travelers and shippers to whom speedy transportation has never been so important as today.

Our first concern is to operate at maximum efficiency at all times. But we see no reason why that cannot be accompanied by good manners, courtesy and thoughtfulness to all our passengers, and we will exert every effort to have United's service in wartime reflect the same spirit of public service that it did in times of peace.

We have rolled up our sleeves and pitched in on the most important job ever assigned to United Air Lines. All of our energies will be given to performing that job.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."
—Stephen Decatur.

CONNECTICUT ELECTION.

The 5th Connecticut district, which had been represented for a decade by a Democratic congressman, held a special election Tuesday to fill the vacancy created by the Democrat's appointment to the federal bench. The Republican candidate, Joseph E. Talbot, won by 3,615 votes. The election showed a heavy Republican increase in normally Democratic urban territory.

Summarizing the campaign appeals of Talbot and his Democratic opponent, John S. Monagan, the Waterbury Republican said on the morning of the election: "Monagan and his supporters have based their chief argument for his election on the contention that he is a Democrat and thus would back up President Roosevelt to a greater degree than a Republican. Talbot, on the other hand, has frequently argued that now—more than ever—the nation needs a two party system consisting of a majority party and a strong minority party."

The issue thus posed is a vital one to the future of the country, and the fact that the Connecticut voters decided as they did is most encouraging. Even in the east, where foreign influences are strongest, the people still cannot be stampeded into the one party system with its inevitable consequence of totalitarian government.

The election will be a great encouragement to those who are working to preserve republican institutions in America. It should be a stern warning to Washington to get down to business—stop playing at war—and, above all, to drive out the incompetents who are hampering the war effort and the communists and fellow travelers who are trying to use the war as a screen for the destruction of our form of government.

MOSQUITO BOATS.

The successful attack of a navy motor torpedo boat upon a 5,000 ton Japanese ship in a Philippine bay is not to be dismissed merely as a spectacular exploit. This type of craft has a great and growing value for the kind of war being waged in the western Pacific, where the narrow waters and shoals of countless islands and reefs make navigation for large ships difficult and leave them extremely vulnerable to fast craft of smaller draft.

The Japanese line of water communication will be more and more exposed as invading forces strike into the East Indies. The Dutch have grasped the importance of the mosquito boat in organizing their defenses. Altho 20 of our boats were lend-leased to Britain, the United States has a sizable armada of them. The type that carried out the Philippine attack is capable of 84 land miles an hour and has four 18 inch torpedo tubes.

Vessels capable of darting in to the attack at such great speed make an extremely elusive target—and they pack a sufficient wallop to endanger even heavily armored ships. Their range is said to be about 600 miles, but their limitation could be overcome—if naval authorities have not already thought of it—by carrying a number of mosquito boats pickaback on a mother ship, which could release the small boats when they came within range of objectives, and also could service them.

A motor torpedo boat carrier would seem to be a natural auxiliary to an aircraft carrier. The small craft could stand guard in relays against enemy surface attackers and could supplement attacks by aircraft against enemy naval concentrations. Like the insects for which they are named, they pack a savage sting.

THE HIGHER LEARNING.

It is unlikely that the Phi Beta Kappa society will establish a chapter at Tabor college in Iowa. This institution rejected a high school valedictorian who attempted to register because it admits only boys whose grades placed them in the lowest quarter of their high school classes.

The modest goal of the college is to prepare backward scholars to find a place for themselves as private secretaries or shipping clerks. It is the hope of Dr. Robert E. O'Brian, the president, that his graduates, by earnest application, may rise in the world. The post of overseer of the dry goods counter, for example, is not considered beyond their horizon.

There is a great deal to be said in favor of Tabor college's program. A tradition has grown up in this country that any one whose parents could pay the freight was entitled to a college education. Some educators, notably Dr. Robert Hutchins of Chicago, protested that mediocre minds have no place in the world of higher learning. He argued that as the duller sort of student regards a degree merely as a certificate of social attainment, this aspiration could be satisfied by granting a diploma after the equivalent of a junior college course.

Many young people who obtained college degrees went out into the world believing that the parchment should be regarded as the sesame to business success, and, in fact, should guarantee them jobs as junior executives and a membership in the country club. These dreams may largely have been dissipated by the hard conditions of recent years. Now a graduate may harbor the legitimate ambition of becoming a shipping clerk.

CUBS IN THE DARK.

When the President said that night baseball would provide relaxation for daytime defense workers, the management of the Cubs expressed willingness to deviate from past practices and schedule its quota of night home games. The Cubs had contracted several months ago for expensive lighting apparatus to be installed in Wrigley field, but patriotically turned the materials over to the government when shortages began to occur.

The general manager of the Cubs said that this left no recourse but to rent Comiskey park for the night games. He added that this would be "a blow to our pride." The humiliation might have been associated with painful memories of recent City series.

The White Sox management has not shown a very hospitable response to the Cub proposal, even tho it meant money in rentals while the Sox were on the road. The feeling seemed to be that, night games being lucrative, the Sox might corner the local supply. We do not impute any such spirit to the Sox management. We are sure that it will realize that it is perfectly safe for the Cubs to come out after dark, especially when it's all for defense and the Sox won't be around. The capacity of the Cubs for defense is at its peak when the Sox aren't in the same city, and particularly in the same ball park.

PROGRESS AT RIO.

There will be those who will say that the large measure of agreement reached at the conference at Rio de Janeiro was easily achieved. Argentina is still hesitant about signing the resolution calling for a rupture of diplomatic relations with axis nations, but the 20 other countries represented are unanimous in their support of the action. It is true, of course, that the nations to the south of us have reason to fear the aggressions of Japan and Germany and it is true, also, that cut off from the European and Asiatic markets as the Latin American nations are, their dependence upon us has been materially increased.

When these things and others like them have been said, it still remains true that Mr. Hull has a very substantial diplomatic achievement to his credit. Over the years he has persuaded the nations to the south that we have no wish to oppress them or coerce them and no ulterior designs against them. In our own interest we must prevent aggressions upon them and they have nothing to lose and everything to gain by coöperating as fully as they can in such matters.

How far we are prepared to go in taking their raw materials, financing their surpluses, and supplying them with our products has already been indicated and has been emphasized in the statement of our intentions respecting Pan-American economic and political coöperation during the war. In effect, we appear to be placing our gold reserve and our markets at the service of a united western hemisphere. A larger gesture of good will has never been made, particularly in view of the certainty that important elements in our economy will feel that they will be injured by our generosity.

Mr. Hull's diplomacy provides a shining contrast to that of Hitler and the Japanese. Their diplomatic weapons are force and the threat of force. Mr. Hull appeals to national self-respect and national interest. The measure of voluntary agreement that he has achieved may be expected to survive even a considerable period of adversity.

TOO MUCH TUGWELL.

Rexford Guy Tugwell has been in Puerto Rico less than six months, but the Puerto Ricans are already demanding his recall. They seem to have caught on to him even quicker than the home folks did. Mr. Tugwell went to Puerto Rico as chancellor of the university and then was appointed governor. He tried to hold both jobs at once, but the students clamored until he got out of the university. Now the Puerto Ricans want him to go home.

According to the Puerto Rican resident commissioner in Washington, Mr. Tugwell has made himself unwelcome on several counts. He has meddled in politics, giving his favor to a party that is out of power, and he is accused of fostering reckless legislation. This country, remembering Mr. Tugwell's contributions to radical political philosophy as a member of Mr. Roosevelt's original brain trust, might be content to leave him on his Caribbean isle, but the feelings of the Puerto Ricans have to be considered.

Mr. Tugwell is a choice example of the President's unfortunate tendency to cherish his incompetents and troublemakers, instead of giving them the gate. For nine years, old friendship has prevented him from ditching his secretary of labor, Madam Perkins, altho even he is said to have long been aware of her fluttering incapacity. Mayor La Guardia, as civilian defense director, also comes to mind, as do dozens of others. A housecleaning has long since been indicated, but the President cannot bring himself to do it. After all, these pensioners knew him when.

THEY PRAYED AND WORKED.

Seven men in a navy seaplane, on patrol duty protecting the Panama canal, were forced down far at sea by motor trouble. They made a crash landing. One compartment was flooded. The others had to be bailed constantly to keep the plane afloat. The radio was smashed. Navigating instruments were destroyed or lost overboard. So was almost all the water supply.

The men, realizing that only a miracle could save them, knelt on the wings of the tossing plane three times daily to pray. Between prayers they worked. Some of them improvised a condenser, from which they got less than a pint of fresh water daily. It wasn't much, but it kept them alive. For five and a half days two radiomen toiled to rig an emergency radio. Their signals got thru, and after eight days, during which the plane drifted 400 miles from the spot of the crash, the rescuers arrived.

It would be hard to find better proof that the Lord helps those who help themselves.

A CURIOUS HISTORY.

[Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

History takes a curious turn when automobile tires are rationed to American drivers because ships can no longer ply their routes to the far east. Rubber is a native of the western hemisphere. Inhabitants of the new world waterproofed their shoes and clothing and drank the milk of the rubber tree for medicine centuries before Europeans ever heard of it.

One of Columbus' fellow travelers, Pietro Martyre d'Anghiere, in 1521 startled the old world with the revelation that "balls made of the juice of a certain herbe" which "being struck upon the ground but softly" would rebound "incredibly into the ayer." Europeans dubbed it "rubber" when they found it would rub out pencil marks. They also called it "India rubber" while under the belief that the land of latex and honey found by Columbus was old India.

In 1876 Henry A. Wickham, an Englishman, won immortality by gathering 70,000 seeds of the finest rubber trees in the Amazon valley and transporting them to Kew gardens. Of 2,700 which sprouted, 2,000 were taken to Ceylon and from these are descended all the trees on the plantations.

The Japanese war has imparted a tremendous impetus to the task of obtaining crude rubber from American plants and to the development of what is not properly termed "synthetic" rubber. In the latter we will see the major effort, for chemistry need not wait, as do plants, for the slow rotation of the seasons.

The difficulties and disappointments in synthetic development are remindful of the early days of the rubber industry, when rubber products cost too much and did not last long enough. But the success of chemistry has been spectacular in many fields, so one may safely predict that continued war in the Pacific will reduce our dependence on the plantations of the east.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

PICKWICK'S LITTLE PUB.

Have you ever wondered about the narrow lane leading off Jackson boulevard between State and Wabash and dead-ending in a small bar with an upstairs restaurant? It is one of the Loop's few real estate eccentricities; it is like a patch of old London accidentally dropped into the city's checkerboard plan. Many people have asked about the whys and wherefores of the site, and have never been answered.

The lane, 9 feet wide with an "L" 10 feet long at its dead-end [right], is named Pickwick place on the city plat of 1890. The bar and restaurant is a three-story brick structure, 19x19 feet. The present name of this place of refreshment is its address, 22 East Jackson, but oldtimers can remember when it was called the Pickwick. Before 1907 it was a two-story structure [frame, as we recall]; the present three-story brick premises probably were put up in 1907 when the Steger building was erected on the lots running from Pickwick place to Wabash avenue.

Real estate records suggest that Pickwick place is owned by three Wabash avenue lots bordering it, but that the small interior lot [bar and restaurant] has an entrance easement which prevents use of the strip except as a passageway. It is altogether likely that lot 4 [bar and restaurant] was the location of the stable of an old family home at the corner of Wabash and Jackson.

The old householder was Henry Horner, a wholesale grocer who died in 1878. He was the grandfather of the late Gov. Henry Horner. Ownership of the little lot has descended by inheritance in the Horner family. The records list as joint owners in this generation: Henry H. Straus, Harry Straus, Irene M. Snellenberg, Horace K. Horner, Sidney Horner, Henry Horner, Maude Y. Rosenbaum, Milton S. Yondorf Jr., John David Yondorf, Albert Horner, M. Hortense Yondorf, and Milton S. Yondorf Sr.

A BARN IN WARTIME.

He fumbles at the harness by the stable door,
Tightens a buckle, lifts a loose tug from the floor
And, turning, draws a sleeve across his eyes—
An old man tinkering while he numbly tries
To pass the time somehow until he must go in
And face that empty chair and her face, worn and thin.
Besides, he feels much closer to the boy out here;
That shabby sweater on its peg makes the lad seem near;
He strokes the sleeve, curved like a warm, round arm—
Please, God, let this, his son, be safe from harm.
His mother'd want to darn that gaping hole again,
But there, what need to cause her useless pain?
Slowly he goes the rounds, making things snug and tight
For all save one who won't be sleeping home tonight.

A Line of Talk While Dog-Walking.

You may not believe it, but Choppy, my little wire-haired poodle, and I have quite intelligent conversations together—at least, his part of the conversation is intelligent.

Not long ago, when the mercury had coyly shrunk way down into its little apartment to keep warm, Choppy was taking me around the block for my morning airing. I thought Choppy did not act as spry as usual, and I said to him aloud:

"Choppy, you don't act so chipper. Maybe you don't feel so well. Have you a headache? Perhaps you need an aspirin. Or maybe you have a tooth that needs pulling, as I have. Or is it just that let-down feeling which comes with morning?"

When I looked around, there was a man standing beside us, beaming from here to there, and I ventured: "Well, so I talk to my dog; so I'm nutty; so?"

"Well," he came back, "then I guess I'm nutty, too, and a lot of others are. It's a nice kind of goofiness, tho."

Choppy held up a cold paw which said: "Please warm this one up a bit for me. It's cold, you know, running around barefooted on the icy sidewalks. How would you like to do it?" It was Choppy's paw talking.

I said: "Choppy, I will buy for you two pairs of booties for your little footies that you can wear when we have our next cold spell. How would him like that?" But Choppy indicated he would rather hop on a C. & E. I. train and go down to Florida.

I wonder, if Choppy sent me to the kennels while he was in Florida, would I howl all day and night like any other dog? Roy Engel.

LETTER TO THE "LINE."

It pleases me immeasurably to thank
The many folks who thought to write our Yank.
It pleases me to know that busy men
And women paused a bit to take a pen
And write a line . . . . each line a gem
In Friendship's lovely diadem.

I hope it pleases them as much to know
The joy they gave. My own pen cannot show
Our gratitude. . . . Happier must be their days. . . .

Linemaster: Many readers must have been a little thrilled by your "news behind the news" item [Jan. 13] concerning Alfred Russell Wallace who, while traveling in far-off Malaya several generations ago, "developed a theory from his observations that places him with Darwin as the founder of evolutionary thought."

He stood beside, perhaps in front of, Darwin as to evolution. Their memorial plaques are side by side in Westminster Abbey. James C. McNally.

VITAMIN B IN A DISTURBED COLON.

THE more we learn about foods, the more amazing is their rôle. We can become ill with too much or too little, while efficiency will be impaired should some seemingly minor factor be absent.

If the American public lacks any particular vitamin, it is B—with its numerous fractions. Perhaps our white bread habit is responsible. This may also explain why we have so many cases of apparent irritation within the storage portion [colon] of the digestive tract.

Many victims of chronic diarrhea find relief with large amounts of B1 plus liver extract. Our X-ray friends have learned that a tendency to loose bowels, following exposure to Roentgen therapy, can be counteracted with ample doses of this element.

Of course, cure via the food route only, cannot be expected if some vicious organism has planted itself on the mucous lining, with ulcers as a part of the picture. On the other hand, many who are bothered with 10 or a dozen watery stools daily will be benefited greatly with approximately 500 to 1,000 units of thiamin chloride each 24 hours.

Can we anticipate so favorable an effect in mucus colitis? We are all familiar with the symptoms, which include abdominal distress, pain, constipation, mucus in the stools, and a sense of exhaustion. Yes! Improvement will come, altho a change for the better may not occur quickly.

In ulcerative colitis, while the results are not so striking, nevertheless, when combined with liver extract, the plan constitutes a strong anchor to windward. Injections of liver two or three times a week, for a few weeks, plus approximately 1,000 units of thiamin, has brought not only gain in weight and strength but enough abatement of symptoms to make life worth while.

Another factor that must not be forgotten is that many of these patients require more protein [meat]. The reason is that so much nitrogenous food is lost thru premature bowel discharges that there is insufficient absorption of this class of foodstuffs. Huge servings of beefsteak, roast beef, lamb, etc., have been of value.

Finally, mention must be made of the possible lack of iron and other vitamins, such as A, C, and K. Here, again, the trouble lies in the fact that the diseased alimentary tube fails to absorb nutriment adequately. On the other hand, it throws off many elements which should be absorbed and become a part of the circulation.

K, as we know, has something to do with the clotting of blood and it is useful in helping to prevent the minute hemorrhages which frequently account for tiny flecks which appear in the stools.

Not only must the meals be generous, but we will need to bring the body back to par by supplying iron and other minerals. If attention to these apparently minor details is made a part of the program, recovery should come.

COLDS AFTER SHAMPOOS.

F. H. writes: Every time I wash my hair I get a cold in the head. How can this be prevented?

REPLY.

Undertake the shampoo in a warm room—at least 80 degrees F. The drying operation should be rapid. Employ brisk toweling. Avoid drafts. A fan which delivers hot air may accelerate evaporation to the point of chilling your sensitive scalp.

SPOTS ON LUNGS.

J. L. P. writes: My brother was rejected because of pneumonia scars on his lungs. Does this mean he has tuberculosis?

REPLY.

No. Following inflammation, the healing process may deposit fibrous [scar] tissue. While his breathing apparatus may not be 100 per cent, he can live comfortably. Colds and bronchial infections should be avoided.

SKIN DISORDER.

Mrs. M. H. writes: What is leucoplakia?

REPLY.

Irregular gray or white patches of thickened tissue on the gums, the inner surface of the cheeks, or the tongue. Other regions may be involved. Persistent irritation is responsible. Skilled treatment is essential as occasionally these areas become malignant.

POTATO SKINS.

M. K. writes: Our cook washes potatoes thoroly and then grates them with the skin for potato pancakes. She claims that the peeling contains plenty of minerals. Is this true?

REPLY.

She is right. Some of our friends are unusually fond of the jackets of baked potatoes.

FATAL FRIGHT.

J. M. D. writes: Can one be frightened to death if one's vital organs are normal?

REPLY.

No. Otherwise armies would use fear instead of machines of war. It requires more than a powerful emotional reaction to cause death.

OR VICE VERSA.

H. G. writes: Does nervousness cause stammering?

REPLY.

The two disorders closely related. In fact, they may result from the same cause. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on speech disturbances.

WAS THAT HESS IN LOCH NESS?

Chicago, Jan. 17.—What has happened to that sea serpent or monster that so many of our naval men reported seeing out in the ocean several times within the last few years?

I am wondering if that "sea serpent" or monster was a camouflage with a periscope inside its head of a German submarine surveying and experimenting just what they could do and how close they could get to our shores, and if they could invade our country. This seems very probable now that tankers have been sunk off the American coast by unknown submarines. A. L.

WORN OUT CONGRESSMEN.

Evanston, Ill., Jan. 20.—I am all for the movement in congress to care for the overworked, shattered, and debilitated members when they retire from the public forum. Instead of giving them money, which they have often shown a tendency to spend recklessly, I would supply them with a comfortable and kindly home where they would always be tenderly cared for in their declining years. Many states already maintain such homes—generally known as asylums for the feebleminded. Here these tired old men and women could find respite and nepenthe.

F. E. Banneg.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—I note congress is about to vote its members a nice pension upon retirement. That would have my wholehearted approval if I could be certain most of them would retire at once and give their poor weak backbones a complete rest. F. J. B.

ON COTTON STOCKINGS.

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 19.—Now that the hosiery dictators have laid down the rule of hosiery colors [all light], I presume the older or stoutish women who prefer darker shoes must wear just what has been decided for them or go without. If we must wear cotton stockings, why won't the hosiery dictators be kind enough to create two dark shades and two light ones?

No matter how conscientious or how patriotic you are, what will it do to you if while you are walking on the street wearing cotton stockings [in a light shade that emphasizes both thickness and shapelessness] a social butterfly comes tripping toward you wearing hoarded silk? A New Subscriber.

WHERE TO START SAVING.

New York, Jan. 20.—The order that no more private automobiles were to be built has thrown several hundred thousand men out of work. As it happens, federal civil service employés increased from 569,000 in 1932 to 1,358,000 last June 30. If we don't hesitate to throw half a million automotive workers out of jobs, why not go to work on a similar scale on these public jobholders whose services contribute nothing toward victory? Indispensable need requires the layoff of a million public employés.

"AMERICANS OF THE SOUTH."

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 20.—It so happens that I read your editorial, "The Rio Conference," just after reading Frederic J. Stimson's "My United States." He points out that the South American countries hate the term "Latin American." As Mr. Stimson suggests, one of the ways in which we can create better relationships with the South Americans is to call them "Americans of the South," as they call us "Americans of the North." If we did adopt this term, we would in time come to realize that we are all Americans and that as such we have a basis for unity of thought and action.

A. D. McLarty.

HIGHLY PAID PRIVATE.

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 18.—I read with interest of the congressman who thinks he is worth $10,000 per year as an army private. How would you distinguish the $10,000 private from the $21 a month variety in the field of battle? Does this congressman think he is the only one in the army who has had to take a pay reduction upon entering the service? I could name among those with salaries that would make his look like pin money and have taken reductions without protest James Stewart, Joe Louis, and Hank Greenberg. The government should treat them all alike. Harry A. Nyman.

A REPROACH TO THE NATION.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—The recent naming of the main parade field at Fort Knox, Ky., as "Brooks field" in honor of Private Robert H. Brooks, Negro, killed Dec. 8, near Fort Stotsenburg in the Philippines, the American armored force's first casualty in the Japanese offensive, honors the Negro race. Private Brooks' sacrifice, the heroism of the colored messmen of the battleship Arizona, who manned a machine gun for the first time to repel the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor, and Joe Louis' donation of $50,000 to the navy relief fund [all departments of the navy being closed to Negroes except as menial messmen] are examples of Negro patriotism.

The present tragic plight of the Negro cannot help but give aid and comfort to America's enemies. Our heartbreaking rebuffs in our efforts to be honorable citizens and protectors of America are universally known. Castine A. Davis.

THE MAYOR'S INDEPENDENCE.

Geneseo, Ill., Jan. 19.—Mayor Kelly, when asked if he was going to be a candidate for United States senator, said that he did not think so, but that whoever was would have to get the okay of Mr. Roosevelt, the commander in chief. This is a long way from the home rule that the mayor is always ready to defend. Why any man would be willing to obtain the friendship of the President by bowing abjectly to his will is beyond me.

James E. Kidney.

THE GOVERNMENT AS FOOD HOARDER.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—I have just read a speech and a pledge given by Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau dated last Sept. 9. I learned that our supply of wheat is the largest on record, that 498 million bushels are available in our neighbor, Canada, and that we have in this country large government held reserve stocks of farm products, which could be released as fast as necessary to prevent unreasonable price rises. Why isn't this done? Is it any wonder that people are hoarding? They don't know the actual facts. Prices are rising, despite the fact that the reserve stocks of butter, cheese, beef, and pork now held in this country are higher than they were a year ago and far higher than the average of the last five years.

Mrs. William Nagel.

THE PLURAL OF BILLION.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—The Tribune seems to be strangely at odds about the use of million—millions, and billion—billions, altho the matter is very simple. The language feeling tells me: One million, or billion; two, three, etc., millions, or billions. But two, etc., million, or billion, dollars; or, two millions, or billions, of dollars. It is curious that native Americans should not have this keen feeling for the use of the above forms, altho I, as a foreign-born American, feel vividly that these are correct.

TERMS OF WILL.

Chicago, Jan. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died in 1917 leaving a will saying the farm and house in town were to be my mother's during her lifetime and then to be divided among the four daughters at her death.

1. Can I get a copy of this will and from whom? In 1935 my mother had a stroke and has been paralyzed since. She claims she does not get enough money off the farm to keep her so my two sisters have been giving her money to live on, paying her taxes, etc. She won't live with any of the girls so they pay a woman to stay there. My younger sister and I can't give her money.

2. Can my other two sisters do this, which looks the same as a mortgage to me for they expect this all back when she dies [3] without our consent?

4. Two of the daughters are financially able and the other two are not.

5. Mother is easily influenced by them.

6. Don't you think everything should be done with the consent of all four children? H. R.

1. Try applying to the clerk of the Probate court.

2. If your mother has sufficient mental capacity, she could give her entire estate outright to your sisters and obviously she can do anything less than this.

3. Your consent is not necessary. The only question is whether your mother lacks mental capacity or is subject to undue influence.

4. This is immaterial.

5. We do not have sufficient facts to pass upon the question of undue influence.

6. This would seem preferable, but there is no law requiring it. See preceding answers.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TAX REFUND.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I read recently that the county judge declared part of the 1939 real estate assessments illegal. I presume those who filed protests will be allowed a refund? I was one who filed such protest. The 1939 taxes were paid on my mother's estate and the protest was filed by me as I was the heir, also executor. The tax bill was included with other bills when final report was made in Probate court. Since this tax bill is now in the court files, how can I obtain this refund without this bill? I presume the tax bill must be presented to the tax collector's office so that the amount of refund may be stamped thereon. G. H. S.

In general, tax refunds are allowed only to persons who bring court proceedings. Merely paying under protest is not enough, but we suggest that you try talking the matter over with the collector's office. You do not indicate what possibilities you have exhausted. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

U. OF C. TO GRANT DEGREES AFTER SOPHOMORE YEAR

Quarter Lengthened; Split Week Extended.

Three wide changes in the educational system and organization of the University of Chicago were announced last night by Robert Maynard Hutchins president. One of them, the awarding of the bachelor's degree after two instead of four years' work, was regarded by educators as almost as startling as the "Chicago Plan" put into operation by the university 12 years ago.

Yet, to Dr. Hutchins, this innovation is only the logical next step in the "Chicago Plan." Outstanding features of the plan were that students may progress as fast as they please and may be graduated whenever they can fulfill the requirements of the comprehensive examinations—in one year, if they are smart enough.

Split Week Extended.

The other two points are:

1. The university will adjust the quarter system, which it originated in 1892, to four quarters of 12 weeks, instead of four quarters of 11.
2. The split week schedule, recently adopted for the first two years, will be extended to the whole university.

Beginning with this year's summer quarter, entering students will be candidates for the new two year bachelor's degree. Others may change to the new system if they wish, and arrangements are made for the transfer of credits from other schools to the new program. The 12 week quarter and the split class schedules are effective immediately.

Fits Needs of Wartime.

Dr. Hutchins emphasized that the new plan is not essentially a war measure, altho it fits perfectly into the efforts by colleges generally to provide maximum opportunities for men to complete their college work before entering the armed services.

Dr. Hutchins went into the history of the American school system, saying that there have been tremendous wastes as the result of the adoption by Horace Mann of the eight year elementary school system, pointing out that abroad children learn in six years what it takes Americans to teach in eight. "As a result, students are delayed two years all along the line," he asserted.

"Likewise," he added, "general education can be completed by the end of the sophomore year in college. Students who have neither the interest nor the ability which specialization requires should not be allowed to proceed beyond this point. Their presence makes it impossible for qualified students to go on.

Gives Meaning to Degree.

"The university now will give meaning to this period of general education by awarding the bachelor's degree for such accomplishment. A hitherto ambiguous degree now has meaning. Students who have no business going beyond that period can leave with self-respect."

Hutchins added that he hopes the 600 junior colleges in America that "now are an anomaly in the education system," will follow the university's lead and award the bachelor's degree at the end of their courses.

The split week, which means students attend classes on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, or Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, instead of four days a week, as formerly, will give students three full days a week for employment or independent study and research.

The extended quarter means that the present winter quarter will end on March 28 instead of March 20; the spring quarter will run thru June 20, instead of June 17, and the summer quarter will open June 22, and close Sept. 12. Classes, during the wartime, will not be suspended on Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, July 4, and Labor day.

BACTERIA BOMBS JUST FANTASTIC, SAYS PROFESSOR

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 22 [Special].—"Bacteria bombs"—which fall by the thousands in the pulp magazines—are highly improbable weapons at the present in this war, Prof. F. M. Clark, University of Illinois bacteriologist, declared today.

"There are two reasons why there is no such thing as bacterial warfare," Prof. Clark said. "First, germs are no respecters of borders or frontiers. A war of germs might prove a Frankenstein which would destroy its creator as well as the nation against which it is directed. An attack of bacteria would be impossible to control.

"Second, nations today have developed checks against such common diseases as typhoid, smallpox, diphtheria, etc. Virtually all troops are protected against these diseases by inoculation or vaccination. A great number of the civilian population also is immunized. Any attempt to spread these germs would have little effect on the fighting power of any nation."

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer draft and military service questions, both in the daily columns and personally if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the query.]

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

Since the war department's recent announcement that hundreds of chaplains are needed for the nation's expanding army military headquarters in Chicago—and in other cities also, very likely—has been besieged with calls and letters from scores of self-styled "clergymen." These "clergymen," leaders of a variety of unusual sects, demand that they be considered for the posts.

Because many of these are not the type suited to accompany combat troops into battle, to act as guide, stepfather, and friend to men facing death for days and weeks on end, to comfort dying men, the war department has ordered that applications be accepted only from men who meet the following requirements.

Practical Experience Required.

Candidates must be United States citizens, between the ages of 24 and 50, and must be engaged in the ministry as their principal vocation with at least three years' practical experience behind them.

Educational requirements are that the candidate possess bachelor of arts and bachelor of theology degrees from recognized schools. Failing this, the candidate must, in the opinion of the chief of chaplains, have the equivalent of a college and theological education in practical experience. In addition, all candidates must pass a physical examination.

Active Duty for Duration.

Men possessing the necessary qualifications, and approved by the chief of chaplains, will be appointed first lieutenants in the chaplain corps and called to active duty for the duration of the war as they are needed.

Clergymen possessing these qualifications are asked to contact 6th Corps Area Headquarters, New Post-office building, Chicago.

QUESTIONS.

E. W. F. writes: I actually am 45 years of age but, due to an error, my army discharge papers from the first World war show me to be 44. Should I register for the draft on Feb. 16 because of this?"

ANSWER: No, if you actually are 45 years old you should not register. However, it would be wise for you to obtain a copy of your birth certificate or some other proof of your age immediately, so that you will have it ready in the event any questions are asked.

L. A. S. writes: "My mother is 67 years old and chronically ill. I am her only support. In view of the fact that I have a small savings account which would support my mother for about a year, do you think that I'll be drafted? Will the army make me use my savings to support my mother while I'm in the army?"

ANSWER: From your description of your case it seems to me that you are entitled to be placed in class 3-A [deferred for dependency]. The selective service system does not require that you dig down into your savings in order to support your mother.

R. C. A. writes: "I have lived with and supported a woman and her daughter for 11 years without marrying her. They are entirely dependent upon me. Should I register in the draft Feb. 16 as a single man with no dependents, or what? I am 42 years old."

ANSWER: You are in a spot. If your common law marriage was contracted within the boundaries of Illinois, you cannot claim in your draft questionnaire that you are married because common law marriages are not recognized in this state. Further, it would do you no good to marry now because the selective service system has ruled that marriages contracted on or after Dec. 8, 1941, are no longer grounds for dependency deferments. What you can do is claim this woman's daughter, providing she is under 18 years of age, as a dependent, in your draft questionnaire. This is legal, and there is a possibility that you will be deferred upon such grounds.

War Changes Plans

Joseph Arlia and his bride, the former Mary McGinnis, at the County building yesterday.

Wearing a white wedding gown and accompanied by attendants, Miss Mary McGinnis went to her wedding yesterday in the County building. The bridegroom was Joseph Arlia, 21, a sailor, of 6238 Kimbark avenue. The bride, who is 19 and lives at 1511 East 65th place, explained that she and her sailor husband had planned a church wedding, but that the war had changed their plans, so she decided to wear her gown in the civil ceremony. As a gift to the couple, County Clerk Michael J. Flynn arranged the ceremony in his office, saving the customary marriage fee of $5 in marriage court.

NEW NAVY PLAN LETS STUDENTS COMPLETE YEAR

Lieut. David N. Goldenson, chief navy recruiting officer in Chicago, yesterday said that high school or college students who are between the ages of 17 and 20 may now enlist in a new naval reserve class, in which they will be placed on inactive duty until completion of the current scholastic year. The navy will encourage the schools and colleges to give extra physical training and studies to young men in this category and reserves the right to call them to duty immediately if the military situation warrants it.

Among those signed up for the marines were Frank X. Meyers Jr., 21, and Thomas Patrick Meyers, 17. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank X. Meyers of 1254 Columbia avenue, and have a tradition to uphold. Their grandfather, John Hamilton Meyers, fought thru the Civil war; their uncle, John, served in the Spanish-American war, and their uncles, Ed and Harry, as well as their father, are World war veterans.

ILLINOIS WON'T HOLD ELECTIONS IN ARMY CAMPS

Soldiers Can Vote Only by Absentee Ballot.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22 [Special].—No attempt will be made in Illinois to comply with the war ballot act of 1917 calling for elections to be held in army camps. The absentee ballot will be the only means many men in the service will have of exercising their franchise.

Article XXII. of the state election laws provides for the preparation and distribution of special ballots to the commanding officers of men from Illinois in actual service, so they may cast their vote. Compliance with the law was termed "impossible" yesterday by officials at the statehouse. The reasons given are that the act calls for ballots carrying only the names of candidates for state offices, which would mean higher printing costs.

Applies Outside of United States.

In addition, it was pointed out, the act as worded is evidently intended to apply to soldiers outside the United States, and the fact that no companies composed of Illinois troops only have been sent out of the country so far as has been officially announced, adds to the difficulty of compliance in this respect.

The law states that "qualified electors of any such company or regiment shall vote as a group or unit. . . ."

Absentee ballots must be obtained by Illinois soldiers thru the regular channels—that is, from county clerks or election commissions. In the case of downstate voters the applications for absentee ballots may be obtained from the secretary of state, and it is suggested that commanding officers of soldiers from Illinois obtain the applications in that manner for distribution to the soldiers.

Rule for Chicagoans.

For Chicago voters the applications must be obtained from the Chicago election commission, since a different form is used.

If sufficient numbers of applications are obtained in advance, the soldiers will be able to send them in to their respective commissions and clerks as soon as the period for making application [from 30 to 5 days before the election] is in effect.

The element of time would preclude any chance of soldiers outside of the country voting by absentee ballot, it was said.

A look over the shoulder of the kitchen manager in an attempt to speed, lighten and add some novelty to her daily routine.

Canned sweet potatoes are a blessing, aren't they? It's so easy to saute or candy them to accompany a slice of broiled ham for a quick supper.

• • •

Salsify? Why, that's the same vegetable you used to call oyster-plant, or vegetable oyster. You can make a good soup of it, one which tastes something like oyster stew.

• • •

Are you fond of hamburgers? Try a cheesy variation, mixing ½ cup grated cheese into a pound of your ground meat. A pound of meat (ground beef, of course) will make four good sized 'burgers, with or without the cheese. Cook 'em slowly, so they'll be tender and moist.

• • •

Had a kidney stew lately? It's a nutritious dish, and if you don't like kidneys it's high time you were acquiring the taste.

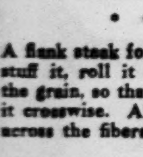
• • •

The flavor of domestic crabmeat is decidedly better than that of the long popular Japanese crab. And tain't just patriotism makes me say that, either!

• • •

A sprinkle of basil in the tomato soup adds a flavor you'll like. The herb is good in tomato salads, too—in most any vegetable salad, for that matter. It's best steeped in the dressing.

• • •



Don't knead those baking powder biscuits so hard, dear lady! The dough should be treated gently and kneaded for only about half a minute. Overmixing is as bad as undermixing for the texture of the biscuits.

• • •

A flank steak for supper? If you stuff it, roll it up lengthwise of the grain, so that you'll be slicing it crosswise. Always carve meat across the fibers, you know.

"Pursuit of a Parcel"

By Patricia Wentworth Turnbull

SYNOPSIS.

Cornelius Rossiter, born Cornelius Roos, is the adopted brother of Antony Rossiter, and is a spy for both Germany and England. When a man high in the Nazi circles suspects him of his English connections, Cornelius announces he has taken a dictagraph of the man's expressions of disloyalty to Hitler and it will be sent to Goering if anything happens to Cornelius. In London, Antony is sent by Col. Garrett of the British Intelligence to Holland to get secret information concerning Cornelius' loyalty to England. Before leaving, Antony makes his fiancée, Delia Merridew, promise not to mention his errand. A package addressed to Antony is received by Delia's uncle, Philip, just before a bomb wrecks his office. Emanuel Holt, a clerk, rescues the package, and Philip, dangerously hurt, makes him promise to keep the package safe. But Holt gets frightened when two attempts are made to steal the package from him and he takes it to Delia, but he is followed to Delia's house by a man named Jimmy Nash. Nash sees Holt give Delia the package and lies in waiting outside her house. He mistakes a Miss Murdle for Delia, and as she leaves the house, brutally assaults her in a vain attempt to get the parcel. In Holland, Antony, posing as Piet Maartens, a ne'er-do-well nephew of Anna Brandt, a tavern keeper, interviews Cornelius and learns about the package. But Mina Van Eyden, a feather brained girl, recognizes Antony and blabs his identity to Barend Roos, a Nazi sympathizer. The Nazis come to arrest Antony but he flees and jumps into the canal just as the pursuers fire at him.

INSTALMENT XVII.

IDENTIFICATION.

Later on in the day Barend Roos walked in upon Mina Van Eyden and her sister. They were orphans, living with an invalid aunt. Heiresses too—he would not do so badly for himself if he married Mina. Besides he was in love with her. Enough to make him dislike the errand upon which he was come and to put as good a face on it as possible. He could have wished that Letta was not there. She did not like him and he had a feeling that he could manage Mina better alone. When they were married, his sister-in-law would not be very often in his house—he meant to see to that.

He came into the room and stood for a moment without speaking. Then he said in a tone of concern:

"I am afraid something unpleasant has happened. Do you remember, Mina, at lunch the other day you said that you thought you had seen Antony Rossiter?"

Mina turned pale. She threw a frightened look at her sister and took a step towards her. As she did so she said in a nervous voice, stumbling and hurrying over the words:

"I don't know—I can't be sure—I didn't really know him at all well—it might have been somebody else."

"But that's not what you said the other day."

"Mina is always seeing likenesses," said Letta.

Barend frowned.

"What has happened is this—some one else must have recognized him, because the Gestapo were informed. They went to arrest him at an eating house kept by a woman who used to be in the Rossiters' service, but he got away. They made after him, and there was, I believe, some shooting down by the waterside. He tried to cross on the barges and was shot down. The body wasn't recovered at once, and now there is a question of identification." He paused, and added in a concerned voice, "I am afraid, Mina, it is going to be necessary for you to identify him."

Mina gazed at him in a bewildered manner.

"O, Barend, I couldn't—I couldn't possibly! You don't mean that I've got to go and look at him!"

"I'm afraid you'll have to. You see, there isn't any one else."

She took another step away from him, her eyes wide with horror.

"There's Cornelius."

"How do you mean, he can't be found? You must look for him."

"The Gestapo are looking for him," said Barend grimly. "If they find him, I shall lose a cousin. I'm afraid we can't count on Cornelius. Come, my dear—I will go with you, and it will all be over very quickly."

All this time they had taken no notice of Letta. She might not have been there. In herself, in her mind and in spirit, she was alone. In that April week which seemed so long ago she had given Antony Rossiter a quick, passionate love. It had never occurred to her that he would love her. It had never occurred to her that she would love any one else. She was not jealous of Mina, or of any girl whom he might love. She only wanted to love him. And now he was dead——

She came back from the thought to the sound of Mina's hysterical tears.

"Barend, I can't! It would kill me! I have never seen a dead person! Indeed I can't!"

A high pride rose in Letta. At least she would see him again. She stepped forward and said, speaking slowly and clearly:

"There is no need for Mina to go—she would only faint. I knew Antony just as well as she did. If some one is wanted to identify him, I will go with you, Barend."

On the way to the mortuary she was wondering what she would say. If it were going to get any one into trouble, perhaps she ought to say she wasn't sure. No, that wouldn't do, because then they would drag Mina into it. She never thought it strange that Mina, who didn't love Antony and had betrayed him, should be shielded at her expense.

She sat in the car beside Barend and felt a hatred for him that was like a burning fire. That it was he who had given Antony away to the Gestapo she was as sure as she was of her own hatred. Never while she lived would he marry Mina—she made herself that promise. And some day she would tell him why, and tell him that the Van Eydens didn't marry renegades and traitors.

When they came to the mortuary she went calmly in and looked at a dead, drowned face. She looked at it for a long time. There was a disfiguring wound on the temple. It was rather a horrible sight, but she looked steadily and long. She might have been meeting a lover loved and lost. She might have been taking a last farewell. Her small, dark features were icily composed. Her eyelids were cast down. Only the dead man could have seen her eyes. If there was a dangerous spark in them, only he could have told.

She said at last in a clear, controlled voice.

"Yes, it is Antony Rossiter."

• • •

Delia felt much happier after she had deposited the parcel at the bank. She sang all the way home, and nobody followed her, which just showed. When you have been feeling very young, inexperienced, and uncertain, it is heartening to find that you have done the right thing. She forgot about Miss Murdle for nearly a quarter of an hour, after which she had an attack of remorse and rang up the cottage hospital. It was a relief to hear Miss Murdle really wasn't dead.

It was after she had got this off her mind that she began to notice Parker's gloom. He came and went like a mute at a funeral. When Delia went into the dining room to see if the flowers would do, he was putting away spoons and forks with the air of one who is about to drop the unavailing tear. After five years of cooperation she had not the heart to leave him to it. The flowers would do, so there was really no hurry. She said.

"What is it—are you stuck?"

He turned around gratefully with a tablespoon in his hands.

"Completely, Miss Delia—all hung up for one word. You don't happen to think of one seven letters long meaning 'a bright bridge that sounds cold?' Neither Mrs. Parker nor me can call anything of the sort to mind, and it's not the kind of thing that a dictionary would be any help for neither."

"A bright bridge?"

"Sounding cold. Sounding nonsense, is what Mrs. Parker says, but I say there's always something behind these teasers when you get to the bottom of them and as it were clear them up. Of course it stands to reason there must be hundreds and thousands of bridges which me and Mrs. Parker have never so much as heard mention of—nor likely to." His voice plumbed the depths. "That's what makes it so disheartening, because even with a college education, which was a thing that never came my way, there would still be all the bridges in a lot of foreign countries which the best education that money could buy mightn't just happen to bring to your notice, so to speak. I can't help feeling it's a very disheartening circumstance, Miss Delia."

Delia said "Mmm"—and nodded. "Wait a minute—something's hovering. Did you say it sounded cold?"

"Yes, Miss Delia."

"And seven letters?" She ticked them off on her fingers. "Then I've got it—at least I hope I have! But don't be too buoyed up, in case there's a snag. Would Bifrost do?"

Parke looked doubtful.

"Is there a bridge by that name?"

She nodded again.

"A rainbow bridge. You see, that fits in with its being bright, and the frost part of it sounds cold. It was the bridge which led up to Valhalla where the old Norse gods and goddesses lived—Thor and Odin, and all that lot."

"Indeed, miss? Now Mrs. Parker and me couldn't have been expected to know that."

"I had a book of stories about them when I was a little girl."

She was going to say that Antony had given it to her, when she remembered that she wasn't to talk about Antony. It made him feel very far away.

The day went on. Six people rang up to say wasn't it dreadful about Miss Murdle, and what would Mrs. Felton do without her niece. Delia said perhaps she wouldn't have to do without her, but most of the ladies who telephoned inclined to a gloomier view. Wayshot had never had anything like a murder before, and was all out to extract as much drama from the situation as possible.

The last person to ring up was Cynthia Kyrle. She giggled and said,

"Suppose it had been you?"

"Why should it have been you?"

"But, darling, why should it have been Miss Murdle? Do you think it was a crime passionel?"

"I think you're a perfect beast to talk like that!"

"I am, rather. But she isn't going to die, you know—the parent says so. He says she's got a very hard skull. But why on earth should any one try to crack it—that's what I want to know."

GUIDE TO GOOD GRIDDLE CAKES AND WAFFLES

Cooking Suggestions That Will Insure Success.

[This is the 12th of a series of cooking lessons appearing on these pages. The lessons cover all phases of cookery.]

BY RUTH COOK STEWART.

You can recognize a good griddle cake by its tenderness and golden brown color. A good waffle should be crisp and light textured.

GRIDDLE CAKES.

Proportions of ingredients: Some persons prefer griddle cakes that are thick, dry, and breadlike in texture; others prefer moist, thin-as-paper cakes. To meet these personal preferences the proportions of liquid and flour used must be varied. A thin, moist cake will require a more liquid batter than a thicker, dryer cake. Proportions vary from 1⅓ to 2 cups of flour to a cup of liquid. The most commonly used amounts are 1⅓ to 1¾ cups of flour with sweet milk and slightly less with sour milk.

It will require 2 or more teaspoons of baking powder to leaven these amounts of flour and milk. This is quite a bit, but thin batters from which gas escapes easily require more than the usual amounts.

Eggs may be omitted entirely from griddle cakes. Recipes usually include eggs because of the good flavor they give to the finished product. Too much egg tends to produce a tough cake, so one egg to each cup of liquid has been found to be most satisfactory.

If the batter contains enough fat you need not grease the griddle. Two or more tablespoons of oil or melted fat to a cup of liquid will do the trick.

Those who like their griddle cakes sweet should add 2 or 3 teaspoons of sugar, and all cooks should add from ¾ to 1 teaspoon of salt for seasoning. All these ingredients should be at room temperature when they are mixed.

Method and extent of mixing: As in most batters, the dry ingredients are mixed and sifted together first. Then the egg, which has been beaten slightly to facilitate blending, is added to the milk. These two mixtures are then combined by stirring. The amount of mixing will depend largely on the thinness or thickness of the batter. A thick batter should be stirred only enough to dampen all the flour, or too much gluten will be developed. Thin batters can stand a little more mixing. Too much mixing is responsible for many soggy cakes.

The fat is added at the last. Most griddle cake batters, particularly the thicker ones, may be allowed to stand before using. When kept covered in the refrigerator, leftover batter may be used the second or third day. And—good news to early risers—it may be mixed the night before and kept covered in the refrigerator overnight, if desired.

Cooking temperature and time: To use a griddle without greasing it heat it before pouring the batter on. The iron is hot enough when a few drops of cold water will sizzle on its surface. Too much heat will cause sticking. Be sure the heat is distributed evenly under the griddle. Avoid placing a large griddle over a small burner.

Drop the batter onto the pan from the tip of a spoon, or pour it from a small-lipped pitcher, if you want uniformly round cakes.

The tenderness of the griddle cake is partially dependent upon the time of turning it over. It should, of course, be turned only once during baking. The cake should be turned when the batter is partially dried out but before it is dry on top.

WAFFLES.

Proportions of ingredients: Waffles are somewhat like griddle cakes in their ingredients. They always contain eggs, however. Waffles have a better texture when less flour is used than would be correct for griddle cakes. From 1⅓ to 1½ cups of flour to a cup of liquid is about right. Because egg whites act as a partial leavener and because the batter is a little less thin, it is not necessary to use as much baking powder in waffles as in griddle cakes. Less than 2 teaspoons [1½ to 1¾] is sufficient for the flour and milk proportions suggested here.

More eggs can be used in waffles than in griddle cakes, since the batter is usually richer and the egg whites are usually beaten stiffly and folded in at the last. Either one or two eggs may be used with these proportions of flour and liquid.

Slightly more fat may be used than in making cakes.

The proportions of salt and sugar are much the same as for griddle cakes, tho occasionally extra sugar may be used to make dessert waffles.

Method of mixing: In making waffles only the beaten egg yolks are added to the milk, which is then stirred into the sifted dry ingredients. As in making griddle cakes the stiffer the batter the less mixing is required.

The shortening should be blended into the batter in the last few stirs of mixing.

The egg whites, which have been beaten until stiff but not dry, are folded into the batter carefully to avoid breaking them down. They should be combined thoroly with the rest of the mixture.

Time and temperature of baking: Most modern waffle makers have a heat indicator which tells the cook when they are hot enough for baking. If there isn't such an indicator the cold water test may be used.

The crispness of the waffle depends largely upon the length of time baking. An underbaked waffle will never be crisp. Unless the batter is thin, 4 or 5 minutes' baking should be enough.

[The next lesson will be devoted to the making of muffins and quick loaf breads.]

MONEY SAVING TIPS GIVEN ON OPERATING YOUR REFRIGERATOR

A good refrigerator of any kind is probably well worth the money spent in operating it, but it's wise to keep operating costs down as much as possible.

Here are some tips on cutting down the cost of running your electric refrigerator.

1. Keep the door open no longer than necessary and open it no oftener than is needed. A table next to the refrigerator will save steps.

2. Let hot foods cool to room temperature before putting them in the refrigerator.

3. Freeze ice cubes and desserts at normal temperatures whenever possible [more current is used at quick freezing temperatures].

4. When you do use quick freezing temperatures, turn the control back to normal as soon as the special freezing job is completed.

5. Defrost when the crust on the freezing compartment is a quarter of an inch thick.

6. If you leave on a vacation or for a week-end, set the control to the least cold position at which the refrigerator still will operate.

7. Place your refrigerator in a spot where air circulates freely about it—not in a corner—and away from steampipes and radiators.

Scald buttermilk, add sugar and salt; cool until lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm buttermilk. Add half the flour and beat until smooth. Add melted shortening and remaining flour. Knead quickly and lightly until smooth and elastic. Place dough in greased bowl, cover and set in a warm place, free from drafts. Let rise until doubled in bulk [about 1½ hours]. When light, divide into three equal parts and shape into loaves. Place in greased bread pans, cover, and let rise until doubled in bulk [about 1 hour]. Bake in hot [425 degrees] oven for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to moderately hot [375 degrees], and continue baking for 35 minutes.

LEARN THE Thriftier CUTS OF MEAT

THE B Vitamins of Pork

at thrifty prices in these delicious cuts

PORK SPARERIBS (Above). Can be braised, barbecued, or cooked in water with sauerkraut or cabbage. For variety, spread an apple stuffing between two sections of ribs before roasting. Allow about half a pound of spareribs per person.

PORK HOCKS (Right). Meaty tidbits great favorites with men, and frequently served in restaurants—usually with potatoes and cabbage. An easy dish to prepare at home. Simply cook at simmering temperature 1½ or 2 hrs. Add the potatoes about 45 min. before the hocks are done, and the cabbage wedges about 15 min. before meat is done.

Send for new 48-page purse-size handbook of thriftier cuts of meat—what to ask for, how to prepare them. A buying and cooking guide to more than 80 thrifty cuts. Just send 5 cents in coin to Dept. W, AMERICAN MEAT INSTITUTE, Chicago.

MARKETS OFFER REAL BARGAINS, TEMPTING BUYS

Oranges Down Materially; Grapefruit Low Priced.

BY MARY MEADE.

Mrs. Shopper, you'll be well pleased with yourself if you pick up some of the really fine bargains in the food stores this week-end.

Oranges have been on the bargain counter for weeks, but they're an especially tempting buy this time. Prices on California oranges went down substantially this week and Florida oranges became cheaper in sympathy. Oranges are very reasonable and of fine quality.

No cheaper this week, but very low priced [even cheaper than oranges] are grapefruit. Grapefruit are a little higher than a year ago, but the experts tell me that the price is still too low to give the growers a fair profit. So do put plenty of grapefruit and oranges in your menus, not only because they're cheap, but also because they're full of valuable vitamin C.

Grapes Are Cheaper.

Also somewhat cheaper this week are fresh grapes and strawberries. The grapes are coming out of cold storage and must be watched for quality, but they're moderately priced. It's still pretty early for strawberries, and you must expect to pay rather well for them.

Rhubarb and apples are good buys. Apple prices, which climbed a bit a few weeks ago, are staying at that level, but it's a moderate price. You'll find delicious McIntosh, winesap, baldwin, Rhode Island greening, and Rome beauty varieties on the market.

Have you tried any of those big luscious winter pears now on the market? Fat D'Anjou pears, bigger than bartletts, are wonderfully juicy and delicately flavored. Other winter varieties available are Bosc and comice.

Vegetables Are Down.

Over at the vegetable stands you'll find lower prices on broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage [both old and new varieties], cauliflower, celery, and head lettuce. Most of these price drops are small, but head lettuce is considerably cheaper now than it has been. The quality of this lettuce is of a very high standard and lettuce is a really good buy this week.

Other topnotch vegetable buys center around the topped root vegetables [beets, carrots, parsnips, turnips, and rutabagas], bunch beets, cabbage of all kinds, green onions, cooking greens of all kinds, including spinach, and sweet potatoes.

Somewhat higher this week-end are best quality carrots, green onions, green peppers, tomatoes, radishes, and spinach. Tomatoes, by the way, are very expensive.

There's some leaf lettuce from hot houses available, but this vegetable is definitely a luxury. Chicory and escarole are moderately priced salad greens to substitute for lettuce when variety demands.

Meat Prices Attractive.

Over at the meat counter pork and beef vie for top ranking bargain positions. Pork prices have been skidding on the wholesale market, making this meat a particularly attractive buy, while beef supplies are large and therefore candidates for the bargain shelf.

You'll find particularly good buys in pork loin roasts and beef pot roasts and some fairly good buys in beefsteaks. Some stores are featuring lamb cuts at tempting prices.

Food shopping is a serious business with most homemakers. Right now it gives all an opportunity to show patriotism by buying wisely and economically and, above all, calmly.

Urges Patriotic Buying.

That some women have been neither wise, economical, nor calm, has come to my attention as I've been making my shopping rounds. It certainly shows none of these good old-fashioned virtues to buy in unusually large quantities, for to do so upsets a normal market.

It strikes me as being foolish as well as unpatriotic to hoard such items as potatoes and coffee. In modern well insulated basements potatoes are bound to spoil before a large quantity can be used. Coffee loses its flavor in a comparatively short time after it is roasted, even with the best of packing.

I suppose even spoiled potatoes and flavorless coffee might have some value if there weren't any more of either available. But such isn't the case. There are ample food supplies in this country if foods aren't wasted or temporarily taken off the market by foolish hoarding. Wake up, food hoarders! This isn't Europe, where food is scarce even in good years. This is America, the best fed nation in the world.

Slivers of Leftover Soap Can Be Used in Washing

What to do with those thin slivers of leftover soap? Save them. Put them all in a glass jar and keep them covered with water. When a jelly like mass forms use for any washing purpose.

MAKE PUDDING FOR ECONOMY AND NUTRITION

Most steamed puddings are economy desserts. This one has molasses and dried fruit to add to its nutritive value.

Steamed Molasses Pudding.

1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons shortening
½ cup molasses
½ cup boiling water
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup currants, raisins, or chopped dates

Sift flour, soda, salt, spices, and sugar together. Cut in shortening until mealy. Combine molasses, water, and egg and stir into dry ingredients. Beat well. Add fruits and turn into molds, filling half full. The mixture will be quite thin. Steam in a covered pan or steamer in a hot [400 degrees] oven for 30 to 35 minutes. Serve hot.

HOT GLAZED PEARS ARE APPEALING AS A WINTER DESSERT

Hot glazed pears are an appealing wintertime dessert.

Glazed Pears.

8 canned pear halves
4 tablespoons melted butter
½ cup dark brown sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 tablespoon lemon juice
⅛ teaspoon salt

Brush pears with butter and place in buttered baking pan. Sprinkle with remaining ingredients and place under a moderate broiler until lightly browned. Serve while warm.

Try Few Chopped Peanuts in Vegetable Cream Sauce

Next time you serve creamed broccoli, green beans, or onions, try adding a few chopped peanuts to the cream sauce. The flavor and texture contrast are wonderful.

TUNA PUFFS BOTH INEXPENSIVE AND VERY DELICIOUS!

These tuna puffs are inexpensive and very good. Serve them at your next luncheon party or for the family's dinner.

Tuna Puffs.

Rich biscuit dough
¾ cup flaked tuna
½ cup medium white sauce
⅓ cup diced celery
1 teaspoon minced parsley
½ cup grated cheese

Roll or pat dough to ¼ inch thickness and cut out small biscuits. Spread with butter. Mix tuna with white sauce, celery, and parsley. Place tuna mixture on half the biscuits and top with remaining biscuits. Sprinkle with cheese and bake in a hot [400 degrees] oven for 10 minutes or until biscuits are done.

Gaily Bright Smaller Hats Win Acclaim

BY REA SEEGER.

Bon-bon colored small hats together with some stunning black and white creations are rating a rather noisy fashion welcome these days. Even tho they are small in area they make up for this in flattery, charm, and the effective new colors. Tiny lemon colored felts are perky toppers for all shades of dark street clothes. They can be further accented with a whiff of brown veiling or dark veiling to match the coat or suit.

Absurdly flat, coquettish sailor hats with precise narrow brims have unusual trim of half a dozen bow knots of half inch wide felt cut with a cooky edge. You have to see this find to really appreciate its fatal attraction. It also comes in a charming tobacco brown color, and in baby blue.

Giddy green hats, snowy white slightly starched coarse lace combined with flirtatious bows of green, offer a couple of ways to hurry spring into your wardrobe. Yellow, mauve, and sky blue felts all extremely small, some quite high, others flat make ideal buys for your extra pennies. They'll cause no end of complimentary comments whenever you wear them.

Crisp precise frills of starched white coarse lace, white open mesh braid and eyelet embroidery, also stiffened, are attached high on skull hugging small hats of either straw or felt and the results are perfect. These frilled models frame the face with expert flattery. Bows, crocheted edges worked right along the brim of straw or felt, great ruffled whorls of the braid or lace, are other telling bits of white used with finesse on these super smart black numbers.

Family in Need of Furniture to Establish Home

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

A case worker from a south side agency has requested help in locating furniture for a needy family in her district.

Three years ago, Mr. and Mrs. B. were forced to break up the home they had made for their three children. The mother was stricken with tuberculosis and had to be in a hospital for a long period. At that time, all the household belongings were sold, and the children were placed in foster homes. Mrs. B. has now recovered and hopes to reëstablish her home. With the exception of a dining room table and chairs, they have no furniture. The worker will arrange transportation of any items available, but offers from the south side can be handled with the least expense.

Mrs. K., who lives on the west side of the city, is much in need of a single bed. She is 60 years old and afflicted with bronchial asthma. She seldom rests well at night, and since her husband also is ill and convalescing from a serious operation, an extra single bed would give her a great deal of comfort. Her daughter recently recovered from a lengthy illness, and the family income will provide only necessities.

Thru the Looking Glass

The more we see of the wonderful results our oily skinned constituents are obtaining with the use of a special kind of liquid cleanser, the more we're impressed. This is a lotion for the kind of skin that exudes more oil than is comfortable or attractive, and it's proven itself—at least to our satisfaction—as an ideal preparation for use on the skin that breaks out because of superficial irritation. It's one of those high powered cleansers that make skin immaculate, but it isn't so strong that it parches or irritates.

When it's first used, if the skin is delicate, it's best to use it on cotton that has been wrung out in cold water. As the skin conditions to it tho, it can be used full strength. It cleanses so well that it removes a great many of the causes of blackheads and the subsequent pimples and it also helps heal eruptions that may be present. We gather, from the odor, that it has a good bit of benzoin in it.

Adolescent skins that are troublesome respond beautifully to this cleanser. It's a pretty well established fact that the average young skin just isn't kept as clean as its erratic oil flow makes necessary. This lotion is the type of cleanser it needs.

The business girl can use this too, not only for her face and back, but frequently during the day for the neck cleansings that are absolutely necessary if she's to keep her white blouses and collars crisp and clean.

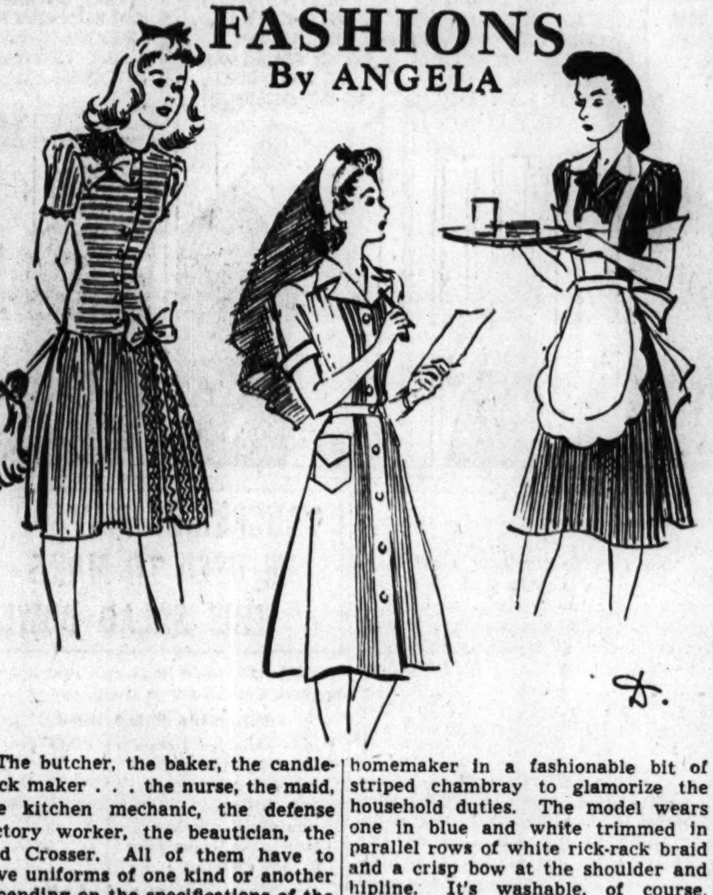
FASHIONS

By ANGELA



The butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker . . . the nurse, the maid, the kitchen mechanic, the defense factory worker, the beautician, the Red Crosser. All of them have to have uniforms of one kind or another depending on the specifications of the work in hand. Designers and manufacturers are taking care of their needs in a neat way. These uniforms are well cut, as attractive as their limitations will permit, and efficient and comfortable.

Even dusting and kitchen chores can be fun for the housewife and homemaker in a fashionable bit of striped chambray to glamorize the household duties. The model wears one in blue and white trimmed in parallel rows of white rick-rack braid and a crisp bow at the shoulder and hipline. It's washable, of course. There are other styles and other colors in this same line. Under $3.

Registered nurses are obliged to wear long sleeved dresses. This store has them, too, tho the one sketched is short sleeved and popular with Red Cross workers, waitresses, defense workers, etc. There are more of a similar nature in royal blue or green with white collars and cuffs which other workers find popular. This is only one of several styles in nurses' uniforms. It buttons up and down the entire front, closing with clusters of long tucks on either side to emphasize the vertical line. The dress is cotton poplin. Under $2.

An informal uniform for maids also is cotton poplin. It is available in either a blue and white or brown and white stripe with white collars and cuffs. The little bib apron is tailored and neat with only a scalloped edge to distinguish it.

[For information telephone Angela, Superior 0200. Mail requests should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.]

THE Inquiring Cosmetic Girl

THE QUESTION:
What do you do for Dry Sensitive Skin?

THE ANSWERS:

Melanie York, secretary, 2142 Estes Avenue—My skin had always been rather dry and sensitive, and nothing seemed to help. A year or so ago, I became so much worse that I consulted a Chicago skin specialist. He recommended PEAU SECHE Dry Skin Soap. I was so pleased with Peau Seche Soap that I tried other Peau Seche preparations—now they are a part of my daily cosmetic diet.

Gloria Van, vocalist, Johnny "Scat" Davis Orchestra—Two professional models led me to try PEAU SECHE Dry Skin Cosmetics, altho I'm sure they didn't know it. In an elevator one day, I overheard one of the models ask the other what she used to protect her skin against the strong lights of the photographer's studio. The answer was PEAU SECHE. I decided right then to try PEAU SECHE Dry Skin Cosmetics. I'm mighty happy I did, too!

(Wright & Lawrence, Peau Seche Sales, Inc., 14 North Michigan Avenue, will pay $2 for each true experience of Peau Seche users published.)

Critic Differs with Audience Over Milstein

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Music critics are not at all the haughty creatures some people imagine. Far from scorning every opinion but their own, they watch audience reaction carefully and respectfully and try thereby to avoid the pitfall of extreme subjectivity in making their reports.

Sometimes, however—and Nathan Milstein's performance of the Tschaikowsky violin concerto last night is a case in point—they must, whether they like it or not, forget entirely the principle that 50 million [or 25 hundred] people can't be wrong and come out vigorously [and unpopularly] against something which has been vociferously approved.

The ovation that followed Milstein's performance rocked Orchestra hall. Cheers were mixed in with the applause. Yet what brought this about is, to me [a long time Milstein enthusiast], an utter mystery.

The concerto had little glow and almost no cumulative power. It was far from constituting a revelation of some great and unsuspected musical secret. It was even imperfect in technical detail—in tone quality and general suavity. Only occasionally were there flashes of the familiar Milstein power.

Milstein's encore, played with superb finesse, was the fifth Paganini caprice.

This concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra [the 15th in the Thursday series] was an all-Tschaikowsky one. Hans Lange conducted. The program held, besides the concerto, the introduction and fugue from the first orchestral suite and the sixth ["Pathetic"] symphony.

Perhaps we have heard too much Tschaikowsky lately. Perhaps what this composer had to say is dated and almost irrelevant in today's world. Perhaps Tschaikowsky had little of the quality of universality which makes a work of art independent of time, fashion, and frontier. Perhaps last night's performance was a little on the labored side. At any rate it was impossible to get churned up by the "Pathetic" to the point where one could dance in the aisle or scream with excitement.

4,324 Receive Care of 50,822 Days in Children's Hospital

Last year, 4,324 patients received 50,822 days' care in the Children's Memorial hospital, 707 Fullerton avenue, Miss Mabel W. Binner, administrator, reported yesterday at the annual luncheon of the board of directors and auxiliary board in the hospital. Operating expenses for 1941 totaled $494,412.82.

In analyzing the statistics for the last 10 years, Miss Binner found that, excluding tonsillectomy patients, the average patient admitted in 1931 remained eight days longer than last year and his chances for recovery in 1941 were three times as great as in 1931.

At the corporation session, John P. Wilson was reëlected president, with Stanley Field as first vice president; Albert H. Wetten, second vice president; A. A. Sprague, third vice president; Frederick S. Booth, secretary, and N. M. Symonds, treasurer. John P. Wilson Jr. was added to the board of directors. Mrs. James C. Hutchins was reëlected president of the auxiliary board. Mrs. D. Mark Cummings is the new third vice president and Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin II., recording secretary.

Women in War Work

By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department will report on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women who wish to take part in these activities.]

The Cook County council of the American Legion auxiliary—composed of 15,000 women—was named by Mayor Edward J. Kelly yesterday to distribute civilian defense insignia, including arm bands, air warden caps, lapel buttons, and uniforms. Mrs. Thomas F. McManus, president, said the council would handle this new civilian defense assignment from its offices at 25 North Wacker drive.

Members of the various staffs of civilian defense volunteer organizations, volunteers who are enrolled in defense classes, and others certified by local defense councils may buy the insignia, Mrs. McManus said. The auxiliary will keep a file of all persons entitled to wear the badges.

Individual insignia denoting air raid wardens, demolition and clearing crews, fire watchers, messengers, nurses, bomb squad workers, members of the drivers' corps, auxiliary firemen, and other civilian defense jobs will be available. Identifying buttons will range in price from 12½ cents to $2.

The Service Men's Center at 176 West Washington street is now going to be of service to men in uniform 24 hours a day, for starting tomorrow there will be 100 cots available. It will be a matter of first come, first bedded, for no advance reservations will be accepted except in unusual cases for out of towners. Eventually there will be space for 175 cots in the dormitories, which are on the 10th and 11th floors.

A male staff worker will be on duty full time to check the men in and out. Shoe shining materials, whiskbrooms, razors and blades, showers, and most of the other comforts of home will be provided. Each man will be issued two sheets and two blankets, and he will make up his own bed. There will be no charge of any sort of the "dorms." The equipment all has been donated.

Another "For Men Only" room on the fifth floor of the center will be ready for use tomorrow, too. It is in the location of the old canteen and is to be a place where the boys can gather in small groups for quiet activities. There will be a carving slab for initials, materials and tools for whittling, and a corner where the soldiers, sailors, and marines can fight their own conversational wars.

A defense forum of particular interest to business and professional women will be presented at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night in the Blue room of the Hotel Sherman. Mrs. Walter Scudder Hart, national defense chairman of the Lake Shore Business and Pressional Women's club, is in charge of the program, which will be open to the public. Forum speakers will include Mrs. Mary D. Bailey from the division of justice, United States government; Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, chairman of the women's division of the defense savings staff in Chicago; Maj. Albert E. Ramsdale, secretary of the Chicago family service department for the Salvation Army; Miss B. J. Norcott, promotional director, Service Men's center, and Miss Myrtle Carpenter, a member of the Grant park recreation committee of the Chicago Woman's club. A representative from the Red Cross also will speak.

Mrs. Walter Scudder Hart.

The youngest and newest division of Bundles for Bluejackets came into being at an organization tea yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Freeman Hinckley. The auxiliary is to be headed by Mrs. Hinckley's daughter, Miss Eleanor McClurg, who organized the group of 30 young women who met yesterday. Mrs. John P. Cohane, chairman of the women's committee, and Mrs. John Crerar spoke. The auxiliary's first duty will be to help provide 60,000 comfort kits for sailors.

More north shore girls are being asked to help out with entertainment for service men by joining the Girls Service organization of the USO. Unmarried girls between 18 and 26 years of age are eligible to fill out application blanks which may be obtained from Mrs. Joseph Joyce of Kenilworth. Mrs. Joyce will hold a "recruiting" meeting at her home next Tuesday night for those interested in joining.

A recreation center already is well established in Highland Park, one in Waukegan was opened Wednesday night, and another in Highwood will be opened soon, according to Mrs. Joyce. A party will be held at the Highland Park center tonight.

Girls who live close together are organized into groups to simplify transportation problems. Each group has a captain and a lieutenant who will help plan group parties, musical programs, and skits for the service men.

Proceeds of a presentation tonight of "Our Town" by the Uptown Players, under the sponsorship of the junior membership committee of the Chicago chapter of the DAR, will go toward the purchase of a mobile blood plasma unit for the army. The play will be presented in the Civic theater.

Compare both!
...and you'll find Electric cooking SAVES THE VITAMINS!

Compare cooking methods of today and your first discovery will be that Electric Cooking is Vitamin Cooking. Little water is needed when you cook with an electric range. That means precious vitamins and minerals are not boiled out to be poured down the drain with excess water. These and other nutritious food values are cooked in, to give your family the greatest possible vitamin benefit from the food you buy, when you cook with an electric range.

Free installation
Electric ranges are installed free in any one, two or three family, entirely residential building in Chicago now using Edison Service.

ALSO COMPARE FOR:

Safety
With Electric Cooking there are no flames—no fumes. Electric units direct all their heat to the food—no danger of flames heating sides and handles of pans. No more need for matches in the kitchen.

Speed
Electricity cooks foods as fast as any other known fuel. All units give intense radiant heat—and none is wasted. Cooking starts quickly and continues as fast as food can be cooked properly.

Cleanliness
No soot—no smoke—no smudge... electric heat is the last word in cleanliness. Pots and pans stay shining bright without scrubbing or scouring. Walls and curtains stay clean far longer.

Ease
So easy and so dependable—just set the dials and your automatic electric range will cook delicious, taste-tempting meals every time. No watching—no worrying—no testing necessary.

Economy
Cheaper cuts of meats can be cooked deliciously tender in the deep well cooker. There's less meat shrinkage and more food value in every meal. Best of all, the average cost of electricity for electric range cooking in Chicago homes is only $2.11 a month.

Service
Our home economists visit the homes of electric range users and give valuable advice on cooking. And as an extra advantage, in Chicago, all operating parts of electric ranges are being serviced without charge to the customer.

Oscar Levant Gives Benefit Recital Tonight

BY JUDITH CASS.

A DOZEN cups of coffee and a piano in his room at the Blackstone are all the "entertainment" Oscar Levant has asked of the women of the Church Mission of Help board. Mr. Levant arrives in Chicago this morning to play a benefit piano recital, with comments, in the Civic Opera house tonight, for the Episcopal church agency.

Another idiosyncrasy of the bad boy of "Information Please" is causing great glee among the board members. Instead of sending a program to be printed and distributed, Mr. Levant will choose his numbers on the spur of the moment and announce them to the audience himself. All any one, except the artist, knows is that the program will contain works by Gershwin, Shostakovitch, Schoenberg, Beethoven, Brahms, and Bach.

Army and Navy Officers Are Among Box Holders.

The audience undoubtedly will glisten with gold braid and brass buttons, for among the box holders are several army and navy officers and their wives. Mrs. Frank P. Hixon, who with Paul G. Chace, had charge of tickets for the benefit, has taken an extra box for some of the young officers from Fort Sheridan. Mrs. Hixon will give a dinner at the Fortnightly before the program.

Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson, retiring president of the board and perennial benefit chairman, will not be present, for she and her husband have gone to Hobe Sound, Fla. The Robinsons' sons and their wives, the junior Robinsons and the Sanger P. Robinsons, and their daughter, Mrs. Ronald P. Boardman, and Mr. Boardman, will be there, however. Mr. and Mrs. Sanger P. Robinson will entertain at dinner before the benefit.

A strictly feminine dinner party at the Casino will include Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt, Mrs. Arthur D. Bissell, Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, Mrs. William K. Kenly, Mrs. Charles Pierce, Mrs. Irene Sidley, Mrs. Frederick W. Upham, and Miss Sarah Walker.

Other Dinner Parties Will Precede Recital.

Among others who will give dinner parties before the recital are Mme. Rosa Raisa, the John F. Alexanders, Mr. and Mrs. H. Stuart Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Horace G. Marchant, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Judd.

Still others who will hear the concert are Bishop and Mrs. Wallace Conkling, the George A. Ranneys, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker, the Laurance H. Armours, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan S. Reid, Mrs. T. Kenneth Boyd, Dr. and Mrs. Dudley Stark, Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Wetten, the Joseph H. Kings, Mrs. Averill Tilden, the Sewell L. Averys, Mrs. Patrick Valentine, the Ernest S. Ballards, the Bruce Borlands, Robert F. Carr, Robert J. Dunham, Col. and Mrs. Albert A. Sprague, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson.

Ushering will be Miss Caryl Cassel-

Robert Conway Wedding News a Surprise Here

Chicago friends of Corp. Robert Barret Conway will be surprised to learn that he and Miss Joan Peabody of La Jolla, Cal., were married there on Jan. 12, just 90 minutes before he left for an officers' training school in the south. The former Miss Peabody, daughter of Mrs. Edward B. Caulkins of Grosse Pointe, Mich., left several days later to join her husband, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Barret Conway of Winnetka. The Conways were in La Jolla for the wedding.

The wedding originally was planned to take place today, but Corp. Conway's orders arrived suddenly and the wedding took place immediately. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Donald Glazebrook in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Latimer. Mrs. Latimer is the bride's sister.

So urgent were the bridegroom's orders that he was unable to attend the reception after the ceremony. Previously he had been stationed on the west coast.

The former Miss Peabody attended Miss Porter's school in Farmington, Conn., and is a member of the Junior League of Detroit. Corp. Conway studied at the University of Michigan.

Club Group Meeting.

Mrs. Orville Anderson will preside at a meeting of the international relations department of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs at 10 o'clock this morning in federation headquarters, 30 West Washington street.

Club Leaders Gather to Plan Defense Work

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—The Mayflower hotel here, which has long been a popular nest of politicians, government officials, and lobbyists, will be taken over by a group of determined women tomorrow.

One thousand strong, the women will gather in the interests of national defense. They are the leaders of the General Federation of Women's Clubs — representatives of 2 million women in 16,500 clubs thruout the United States and Canada.

They are coming here for what they call their annual midwinter meeting of the board of directors, which will last thru Monday. In forecast, however, it appears they will again make club history as they did in 1917 when, with knitting bags over their arms, they solicited $112,045 to send a corps of 100 American girls overseas to cheer the boys.

◆

This time the club women of the nation intend to do more. The forthright manner in which they have inveigled hotel reservations and other accommodations in this overcrowded city and their success in lining up prominent national figures as speakers is only a small indication.

"This will be more than a board of directors meeting," Mrs. William T. Bruckner of Hinsdale, chairman of directors for the general federation and national defense chairman for the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, said here today. "We are here to learn first hand the vast ramifications of the nation's defense program in order that we may form the correct opinions and work in the right direction. We intend to be a vital force in national defense and we wish to go about intelligently because this country must win the war."

It is because of this attitude of mind that none of the club women expressed disappointment at the cancellation of their reception in the White House, which was scheduled for Monday afternoon.

Instead, the club leaders are looking forward to five forums on the vital phases of national defense, which have been arranged by the federation's president, Mrs. John L. Whitehurst of Baltimore, Md. The forums will be on military and civilian defense, the defense of our economic system, the western hemisphere, and health.

The meeting will be opened tomorrow morning by Mrs. Whitehurst.

The speakers for the military forum tomorrow afternoon will include Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, Brig. Gen. Frank E. Lowe of the United States army, Miss Mary Beard, director of nursing for the American Red Cross, and Mrs. Harper Sibley of United Service Organizations for National Defense.

◆

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will preside at the civilian defense forum tomorrow evening. The discussion will be led by speakers from the United States Office of Civilian Defense, including Brig. Gen. L. D. Gasses, a war department board member of civilian protection; Miss Jane Seaver, youth member of the volunteer participation division; James P. Kirby of the press relations section, and Miss Wilmer Shields of the community volunteer service.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver G. Eder of the Lincoln Park Arms hotel, formerly of Glencoe, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Belle, to George E. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Johnson of West McHenry, Ill. Both Miss Eder and her fiancé attended the University of Illinois.

◆

Mrs. Val A. Norton of West Potomac avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Virginia Helen, to John F. Bishop. Mr. Bishop is serving in the army. The wedding is planned for spring.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

Patriotism Note.

During the second act of Hansel and Gretel last Saturday one of the angels tripped and fell. As the audience made low moans of woe and distress, a small boy shrieked, "Keep 'em flying!"

◆

Ding Dong Bell.

For some time now the tired business men who get home to Kenilworth from Chicago on the 5:45 train each evening have been welcomed to the village by silvery chimes which peal thru the dusk such hymns as I Love to Tell the Story and Face to Face. At least these are the paeans of welcome this week. Next week they will be changed, and the next, and the next, for the chimes have a differing set for each week in the year.

As we said, this has been going on some time, and the business men must like it or they would have protested long ago, but the Rev. Leland H. Danforth, rector of the Church of the Holy Comforter, from which the chimes emanate, was not quite satisfied. He is a man of profound ingenuity, as he demonstrated first some years ago when he planted the rectory garden into a map of the Holy Land, and altho his chimes not only welcomed the villagers home and marked the hours for them when they were there, this was not enough.

His final dream came to fruition recently. He had the idea years ago, but naturally had to wait for a donor. It came about when Frank Ketcham, wishing to give a memorial to his mother, gave equipment which connects the chimes by underground cable with a button in Dr. Danforth's study. Now, whenever a new child is born to a resident of the village, the chimes peal his birth into the air with the strains of Brahm's Cradle Song.

But the annunciation does not stop with the pealing. The good rector sends a card to each of the newborn. On one side is a picture of the Madonna, on the other the words of Brahms' lullaby with the note that Brahms, a bachelor, wrote it around 1865 for the first child of his best friend and the heartening news to the little Kenilworth child that on such and such a date, at such and such an hour, the chimes of the Holy Comforter rang out in recognition of his entrance into its musical world. Of course, if a child is born in hours other than those between 8 a. m. and 8 p. m., the annunciation is delayed until the next day, as Dr. Danforth doesn't feel it would be just the thing to wake up the villagers with a 3 a. m. lullaby, nor, we assume, does he care to be aroused himself.

But He Doesn't Sing.

Remember Minnie, the singing mouse of Woodstock? We think we have a rival for her. Vera Megowen, the Evanston restaurateur, has a St. Bernard who followed her into a music shop the other day. "No, stay outside," she directed him. But the manager demurred. "Why can't he come in?" he asked. "He does every day. He comes in, sits down and listens to the music for 15 minutes or so, then saunters out."

◆

Quizzical Art.

Cynthia Cline, one of radio's Quiz Kids, now must be included among the immortals whose works of art hang in the Art institute. Somehow or other the institute has a full exhibit of her work which includes one that we consider a distinct taunt to Salvador Dali. It is captioned "Hemi-Demi-Semi-Quaver a la Mode" and portrays a light bulb, an apple and a gentleman with a spike thru his arm standing on a clock. Young Miss Cline says of it with exquisite surrealist detachment, "I just painted things that came to my mind when I wasn't thinking of anything."

◆

"From Fire and Flame and . . ."

Not long ago fire consumed most of a building at Superior street and Michigan avenue. It burst out the plate glass windows, crumbled the bricks, devoured the woodwork, but encased in a glass frame against the remaining blackened brick, just as it has been year in, year out, calm, confident, and indestructible in this very malleable world, is a closeup of Dr. Frederick Stock, wing collar and all.

Registration Today for Park District's Red Cross Classes

Registration for the first consecutive session of first aid, production, home nursing, and nutrition classes in the Chicago park district fieldhouses will be held from 2 to 4 p. m. today in Riis park, 6100 Fullerton avenue. The courses, to be given every Friday from 2 to 10 p. m., are open to adults and high school students. There will be a special class for school patrol boys in the neighborhood.

Like other classes under way in most fieldhouses, these courses are being given by the park district in coöperation with the Red Cross. Red Cross nurses are in charge of home nursing and nutrition, while 95 per cent of the first aid is being taught by park instructors.

The project, which was started 10 days ago, already has 6,000 persons enrolled in the 150 adult, 72 junior, and three advanced first aid classes; 2,000 in 100 bandage rolling, sewing, and knitting classes; 300 in the nine home nursing classes, and 200 in four nutrition groups.

Scholarship League to Hold Its Meeting and Luncheon Today

The Children's Scholarship league will hold its 13th annual meeting and luncheon at noon today in the Chicago Woman's club. Miss Helen Ross, research associate of the Institute for Psychoanalysis, will discuss "The Adolescent in the Present Crisis," and Wilfred S. Reynolds, director of the Council of Social Agencies, will talk on "Community Planning for Scholarship Work." Mrs. T. Kenneth Boyd of Winnetka, head of the league's board of directors, will preside.

The scholarship league's function is to make high school education possible for boys and girls who, without financial aid, would have to leave school. Last year 202 students were enabled to continue their education thru the league. Funds for the work are derived entirely from voluntary contributions, trust funds, and the Community fund.

With Mrs. Boyd, the league officers are Mrs. Howard Goodman, Mrs. Horace B. Horton, Dr. Irene T. Mead, Mrs. Herbert H. Riddle, Mrs. Otto G. Schmidt, Mrs. Cyrus Mark, Mrs. George L. Marsh, Mrs. Josiah J. Pegues, and John F. Hagey. Mrs. Alma Cramer Livermore is the executive secretary.

Each Child's Tempo Is His Own for Work

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"My son is seven years old, healthy, strong, and full of pep. He reads very well and his other studies are above average, but when it comes to pasting, modeling, painting, or drawing his teacher complains his effort is poor and behindhand. She feels that he is capable of better work and says that he is much too slow.

"We've had him physically examined and the doctor says there is nothing wrong with him in any way. I must admit that he dresses himself slowly, eats slowly, and is invariably the last one down in the morning. But once he gets really interested in anything he'll stick at it to completion."

I see no reason to fret over the seeming slowness of this youngster. He'll move in his own good time and most probably to great advantage. If he is intelligent enough to get good grades in his essential studies, he shouldn't be harassed over his lack of interest in drawing, etc. Possibly these things don't appeal to him, and it's difficult to work up enthusiasm when interest is lacking. On the other hand, he very likely would be animated and on the alert if he were given an erector set to build, a model airplane to construct, or a work bench and proper tools.

Children can't be poured into a mold and then be turned out exactly alike in every respect. We'd be bored with them and they'd lack individuality; we'd know just what to expect of each of them and all the fun and expectation which add so much to the zest of living would be missing.

My advice is to let children alone, if they are normal and healthy. Don't push them if they seem to be slow. All we should expect of them is the best they can do. If they do that, and it doesn't measure up to some arbitrary standard set for their age and the grade in which they happen to be at the moment, it's wrong to say they're poor in effort because they seem to fail to reach that standard in a particular phase of the school curriculum.

It's disheartening to a child to be judged by the things he finds least interesting. What he really needs is an abundance of praise and encouragement for what he does accomplish, and help from teacher and parents to spur his interest or enthusiasm for those he doesn't like and can't master with celerity.

How can you amuse the convalescent child? What is the most difficult age? How may stubbornness be prevented? These and other problems are discussed in "You and Your Young Child." Mrs. Gladys Bevans' latest booklet, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 15 cents; postpaid, 18 cents.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

To Frank F. Rowe, 1038 Murdock avenue, Parkersburg, W. Va., goes today's $5 recipe contest prize. His recipe for "Cornish splits" is one his grandmother brought from England 50 years ago.

"The fruit filling is a delightful variation of this delicious roll," writes Mr. Rowe. "Orange or pineapple jam may be substituted for the apricot jam called for."

CORNISH SPLITS.

[About two dozen.]

1 cake yeast
¼ cup sugar
4 cups sifted flour
¾ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
¾ cup lukewarm milk
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup whipped cream
½ cup apricot jam

Combine yeast and two tablespoons sugar. Let stand until yeast liquefies. Sift flour and salt with remaining sugar. Add yeast. Cut in the shortening. Add milk and beaten eggs, and combine with the yeast mixture. Mix quickly to a soft dough. Spread with melted butter. Cover and let rise until double in size. Knead and form into flat, small cakes. Place on baking sheet, brush with butter and let rise again until double. Bake at 400 degrees about 20 to 25 minutes. Cool. Split side of each and fill with the whipped cream mixed with apricot jam.

Send your own favorite recipe to Recipe Contest, Chicago Tribune. There's a daily prize of $5 for a recipe which wins the judges' approval after a cooking test. Write the recipe legibly, giving full, clear directions. Only one recipe from one cook will be considered in any one week. But there's no rule against sending in a recipe each week.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Rusty's the Name.

Questions and answer department: In reply to query No. 962, the name of the Irish setter who came streaking home when so instructed by his master over the telephone is Rusty, known to most of the residents of Evanston.

Measures of Fitness.

Johnson O'Connor, director of the Human Engineering Laboratories, says that 15 years of research have disclosed but 10 measurable characteristics for determining the fitness of a man or woman for a job.

1. Finger dexterity [girls score higher than men].

2. Accounting aptitude [this is the clerical aptitude—men score higher than women].

3. Ability to visualize structure in three dimensions [men score higher than women.]

4. Tweezer dexterity [this aptitude plays a part in surgery, glass blowing, or watchmaking — men score higher].

5. Inductive reasoning [ability to perceive relationships and to recognize connections between things—important in diagnosis in medicine, legal reasoning, teaching, writing; it is what is ordinarily called "woman's intuition"].

6. Creative imagination [valuable in music, art, or writing].

7. Visual memory [the ability to spell correctly has a lot to do with this characteristic; also the stock room girl usually has it].

8. Observation [necessary in factory inspection work].

9. Personality [classifying the worker as to whether he works best alone, or with other people in a sales force, for example].

10. Tonal memory [relating to the field of music].

"Real happiness," says Prof. O'Connor, "or success at one's job is the use of every single characteristic a person possesses."

A Wistful Wish.

It was one of those interminable annual dinners that begin with fruit cup and end with parfait. The entertainment committee had outdone itself; a soloist thruout dinner, and now, with the coffee, an orchestra was taking its place on the platform.

"Ah, more music," said the woman on the right, brightly, to the gentleman on the left, "won't you like that?"

"I," said the weary business banqueter, "would like only to hear a pin drop."

Up to Management.

One more comment upon the new employé versus old timer problem, from a reader who signs her letter "Observer."

"What a to do your subscribers are making about the incompatibility of old and young office employés, especially the female of the species. The writer wonders if it ever occurred to any of them that the difficulty lies not so much with the workers [and the relative terms of service] as with management.

"Many so-called office managers are grossly incompetent. They know little or nothing of the psychology of personnel direction, experience, and diplomacy. Firms who appoint broad-minded, intelligent and impersonal men [or women] to the post of office manager will reduce this problem of blending old and new employés to a minimum."

Miss Elizabeth Sherman Married in California.

From Pasadena, Cal., comes word of the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Sherman, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Sherman of San Diego, Cal., formerly of Astor street, to Capt. Ernest Sellen. The ceremony took place on Monday in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Alson Clark, former Chicagoans. After a brief wedding trip Capt. Sellen will take his bride to his hilltop home in La Jolla, Cal.

The former Miss Sherman attended Miss Wheeler's school in Providence and has studied art extensively. Capt. Sellen, who served as a captain in the Canadian army during the first World war and with the British army in the Boer war, attended Wellington college and the University of London. He has been chairman of the British Relief association in San Diego, where his bride has headed the British Relief shop.

The Cliff Dwellers have a special reason for making their after-the-symphony tea this afternoon particularly festive. The tea also celebrates the opening of an exhibit of oil paintings by Edgar S. Cameron, Chicago artist. Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed is in charge of arrangements for the tea, and she will be assisted in her hostess duties by Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Mrs. Arthur G. Cable, Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, and Mrs. Maurice Cottle.

Fortnightly Group Holds Dinner-Dance Tonight.

Midway thru its season of ten dances for teen-age young persons, the Fortnightly group will meet at 9 o'clock tonight at the club by the same name for dinner and dancing. Hostesses at dinner before the dance will be Mrs. James E. Bennett and Mrs. Ralph Cornelison, who will entertain young friends of their daughters, Joan and Janet Bennett and Ann Cornelison.

An art discussion and tour, an after the symphony tea, and a dinner and poetry reading by Robert P. Tristram Coffin are all on today's program at the College club.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

At times, the greatest danger confronting a declarer results from a "succesful" finesse. The trouble is that the success may be more apparent than real. Let us take the declarer's place in the following deal:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ 8 5 3
♥ J 5
♦ 9 4

WEST
♠ K 6 4
♥ K 8
♦ 10 8 6 5 3 2

EAST
♠ J 7 2
♥ Q 9 7 6 4
♦ K 7
♣ K 8 3

SOUTH
♠ A Q 10 9
♥ A 10 3 2
♦ A Q J
♣ 10 2

The biddings:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opens the five of diamonds and, as declarer, we capture East's king. Obviously, the easiest way to obtain nine tricks is to run the club suit and, with that hope in mind, we lead the 10 spot. It holds. We now lead the club deuce and, when West plays low, our particular headache arrives in full force. What shall we do? We are not so childish as to rely on dummy's club jack holding the next trick. We realize only too well that if East started out with the king and two small clubs [even with the king and one small, plus a little nerve] he would not have been so short sighted as to accept the club king when first offered. Hence, we see that if we finesse for the second time, and East actually is lying in wait with the king, the dummy never will take another trick and we will have lost the club ace.

Granting that the proper decision at this juncture is very difficult to make, it is necesary that we at least recognize what may happen in each of our two choices. A shrewd player in declarer's position probably would refuse to take a second club finesse, preferring to make sure of two club tricks by now going up with the ace. He then would attempt to establish enough spade tricks to compensate him for the club trick he might have won by a second risky finesse. Winning with the club ace, he would lead a spade and, admittedly, would have to guess correctly when it came to selecting the spade from his own hand. If he put in the 9 or 10, as the cards lay, he would build three spade tricks for himself, and his contract would be safe. If he decided to play the spade queen, he eventually would find himself down one. But, in either case, it must be noted, declarer would save tricks by refusing to take the second club finesse.

On the House

A floor of asphalt tile can be an enduring floor as well as a good looking floor. . . . Europeans have used asphalt for floor construction for many centuries. . . . Some time in the year 400 B. C. Herodotus wrote a booklet on asphalt and "Its Uses to Man." At the Louvre in Paris there's a statue, by some Babylonian sculptor of 5,000 years ago, to which shells were attached by means of asphalt and they are still firmly in place. . . . Yes, asphalt around a home is an enduring investment! LOUISE BARGELT.

Liar Is Poor Risk for a Wedding Plan

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

The girl, 23, writes that she cannot believe a word her suitor tells her. She has found him out in so many lies already, that she wonders if she is making a mistake going thru with their plans to marry.

"He has lied about his job. I just found out he did not have the position he told me he had. He lied about his salary there, too. And he has lied to me about his family, telling me they were well off when they are not so at all."

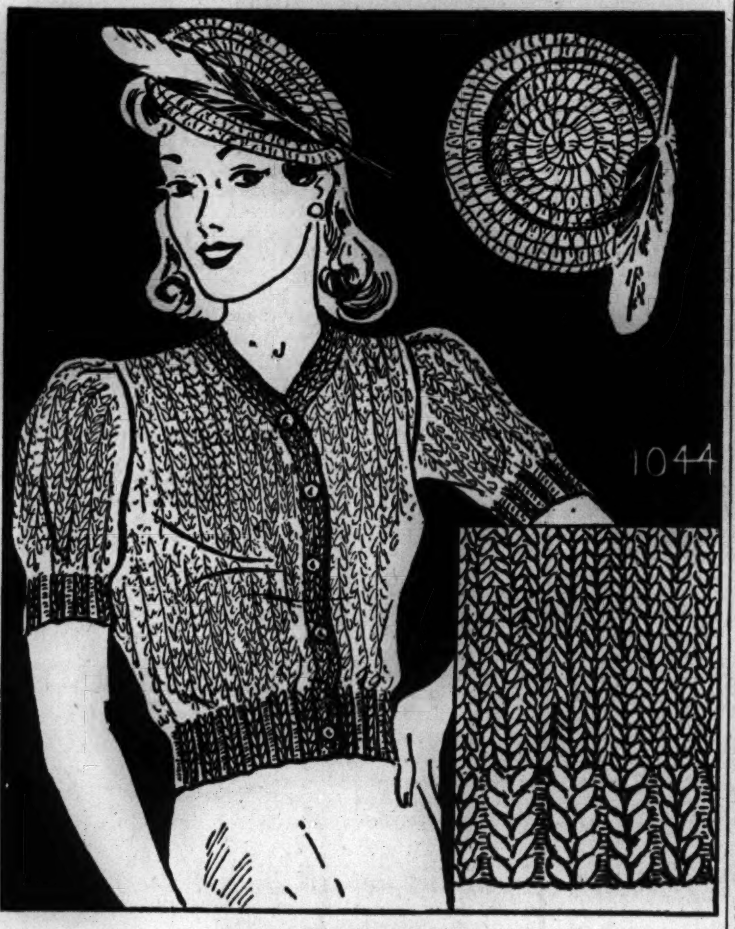
It would not seem as if a girl of 23, at which age maturity of judgment is expected, at least in a fairly developed form, would have to ask for advice on whether to marry a liar, unless she is one of the kind who loves trouble, invites it, and is willing to marry it, or, rather, has considered marrying it.

One of the fundamental rules of a lasting friendship, as everyone knows, is based on sincerity, honesty, and truthfulness. And successful marriage must have the vital ingredients of a lasting friendship. There must be sincerity, honesty, frankness between a pair, or the marriage is doomed from the start.

What chance of making a go of marriage, for instance, if the man tells that his job and salary are away above what they really are? The financial angle of it is bad enough, but the doubt, the insecurity, and the fear following dishonesty would wreck marriage completely. You cannot love, and continue to love, an individual whose word you can't trust, and whose motives you must constantly suspect.

No, young woman, with honest, decent frankness so plentiful today, why would you think of choosing one whose word can't be trusted?

Knitted 'Jiffy' Sweater



BY JEAN MACDONALD.

Knitted sweaters of the "jiffy" variety may be created in a short time when they are made of the popular rope or cable wool. The material works up quickly and the sweater is designed for 32, 34, 36, and 40 inch bust measurements. The crochet beret accompanying the sweater is trimmed with a pert feather.

For instructions in knitting the jiffy sweater, No. 1044, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Red Cross Gets First Big Gift from Employes

The employé war fund committee of Spiegel, Inc., yesterday presented a check for $30,285 to James B. Forgan, general chairman of the Red Cross war relief drive for $3,750,000 in the Chicago area. It was the first large employé return received at the relief headquarters, 105 South La Salle street.

Thornton S. Adams, representing the committee, said the money was collected in a whirlwind campaign in which the actual contributing was completed in 15 minutes. Of the 6,604 employés, Mr. Adams reported, 98.9 per cent donated and 86 per cent gave one day's pay or more. Mr. Forgan said he expects a daily increase in the number of such subscriptions. To date, he explained, most of the $1,496,738 total has come from companies and wealthy individuals.

Other contributions received yesterday from firms exclusive of their employés' donations totaled $26,250. Contributors included the Wisconsin Steel company, $5,000; Continental Casualty company, $3,500; International Cellucotton Products company and Interlake Iron corporation, each $3,000; Dearborn Chemical company, Mississippi Valley Structural Steel company, and Scott, MacLeish & Felk, each $1,500; the Clearing Industrial District, Inc., Time, Inc., American Bridge company, Benjamin Electric Manufacturing company, and Hillside Fluorspar Mines, each $1,000; Oppenheimer Casing company, $750, and Caine Steel company, E. G. James company, and the Mutual National bank, each $500.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 22.—I have always considered Walt Disney one of the finest gentlemen in Hollywood—a movie maker who could do no wrong. It pains me, therefore, to report he is doing something that should arouse the populace. He is paying Donald Duck only $2,501 a year.

Walt Disney.

Not even per picture, mind you. Per year. Here is one of the greatest stars of all time getting less than 50 bucks a week, when I can name you 10 other actors who get $150,000 for 10 weeks' work.

Mr. Duck's salary comes out in a new Disney short, "The New Spirit," which Walt has made for the treasury department and whose title was dreamed up by Henry Morgenthau himself. I went over to the studio the other day to see a pencil animation of "The New Spirit," because the picture has broken all studio records for speed.

I caught it on a movieola. A movieola is a battery of eight small projectors looking like a newfangled lathe. The end one holds the picture and projects it on a tiny screen magnifying glass, the way a subway guard looks at your nickel in the turnstile to be sure it isn't a slug. The other projectors hold sound tracks.

The picture starts with a voice singing a song, "The New Spirit," a heartening patriotic number by Oliver Wallace, who did the "Dumbo" tunes. You see Donald reacting pridefully to this number—which apparently is coming over a radio. Then the radio says everybody can help the country. Mr. Duck is eager and willing; he climbs all over a radio set, imploring it to tell him how. Finally it says, "By paying your income tax."

Well, Donald is fit to be tied. He flings himself on the floor, beats his brow with a flipper. I think he says, "O, nuts."

But the radio keeps on. It explains that this is a great way to beat the axis. Donald chirks up a bit. It says income tax money will buy planes, guns, tanks to defeat the enemy. And for the first time in his ill-tempered career Donald Duck is in a joyful frenzy. He just can't wait to pay his income tax, so off he zips to fill out a blank. This is how you'll find out about his $2,501 salary.

In unminced words I chided Walt Disney about this starvation wage. "Well," he grinned, "we don't want to spoil him. And at that he's getting a lot more than Charlie McCarthy. Charlie gets 10 cents a week, doesn't he?

". . . We wanted Donald's salary low enough to illustrate the new streamlined tax blank for $3,000 incomes. And we wanted to wangle it so Donald pays $13, so that's how we got the $2,501 figure."

Mr. Duck pays, and that's half the picture. The next half shows what his money does.

One day Disney got a phone call asking him to talk to the treasury department about some war films. He flew there the next day. The day after that he phoned the studio, talking at once to Dick Humor and Joe Grant, "Dumbo" scenarists, and Ben Sharpsteen, production chief on "Dumbo" and "Fantasia." "Get busy," he ordered.

Then Walt went back to talk some more with Morgenthau. Irving Berlin was there, too. Secretary Morgenthau said he wanted a film popularizing the income tax. Berlin laughed and said this was a tough assignment indeed. Morgenthau disagreed. "Today," he said, "you've got to get the new spirit." That's how the title was born.

Your Handwriting

BY SHIRLEY SPENCER.

Enthusiasm is shown by long t-bars that swoop over the page just above the stem of the "t." Of course, there must be movement in the writing itself, too, to match the flying t-bars, and in the writing of Lila Lee we have a splendid example of this combination of rapid writing and sweeping t-crossings.

Miss Lee, featured player of "Claudia" and former movie star, is a spontaneous and expressive person, and gets a great deal of fun out of just living. She is able with her imagination to create an amusing and exciting world around her. She has to be active. It would be a hardship for her to have to "stay put" for long. She is restless and wants excitement and action.

Naturally, a person as enthusiastic as Miss Lee likes to have people around and she is an entertaining companion and fluent conversationalist.

For Handwriting Analysis send 10 cents (in coin) and a stamped, self-addressed envelope, together with a sample of handwriting, to Shirley Spencer, Box 116, General Postoffice, New York City. IMPORTANT: Write 25 words and signature in ink.

$250,000 UNIT APPROVED FOR SHERIDAN SCHOOL

Committee to Ask for Priority at Once.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

Decision was reached here yesterday by the Gunning legislative committee to speed construction of a second cell block and a workshop at the Sheridan branch of the Illinois State Training School for Boys. The general assembly has appropriated $250,000 for the project.

Meeting in Hotel La Salle, the committee, headed by State Sen. Thomas P. Gunning [R., Princeton], voted that the new building conform in general with specifications of the first model prison unit, which is almost ready for the incorrigibles who will be sent there from the main school near St. Charles.

Opposes Security Measures.

Before passage, however, the resolution was amended at the insistence of Prof. Harrison Dobbs of the University of Chicago so the cell block may be changed to a dormitory or suites of bedrooms if a majority of the committee approves. There were indications, however, that many committeemen object to any change.

Prof. Dobbs is author in chief of the psychiatric treatment plan started at the school near St. Charles last Nov. 1. He has opposed consistently such devices as iron doors, steel bars, and high steel fences—which abound at Sheridan.

State Welfare Director Rodney H. Brandon, who sat with the committee, supported the modification amendment, but insisted that action on the new building be started, so priority ratings may be obtained from the government.

"I think the plans for the first building were 100 per cent right," said State Sen. Abe Marovitz, a Chicago member. "The Sheridan branch is for tough kids who have been thru the mill and who would contaminate the others at the school near St. Charles. Sheridan should be as secure as possible."

Delays Are Discussed.

Repeated delays in opening the No. 1 unit also were discussed. Russell W. Ballard, managing officer, said beds are needed, a sewage disposal plant must be completed, and that transportation must be arranged between St. Charles and Sheridan, which are 50 miles apart.

Orders are in for all these things, Brandon said. He added that sewage can be bypassed into the Fox river until the $16,000 disposal plant is completed.

Several members asked if Ballard has selected the first batch of incorrigibles for Sheridan.

"There are 15 or so that I am sure of," he replied. "But I can tell this committee that even after the bad ones are segregated there still will be runaways from St. Charles just as from private institutions."

Tenth Escape in Week.

Several hours before the committee met another inmate—the 10th since Saturday—fled from the school near St. Charles. Seven have been recaptured. The fugitive is Albert Trachsel, 16 years old, 342 West 65th street, sentenced for stealing purses and riding in a stolen car.

One of the others who fled and since has been recaptured is awaiting grand jury action on a charge of assault to kill. He is Carl Smidt, 15, who slugged Mrs. Leona Roush, a house mother at the school, in his escape.

COUNCIL TO GET 1942 CHICAGO TAX MEASURE TODAY

The 1942 city tax levy ordinance, for a total of $72,908,489, will be submitted to the city council today. It was approved yesterday by the council finance committee. Last year the ordinance provided for a total levy of $72,957,679. The figures for both years include the $37,000,000 pegged levy for the corporate or operating fund. The council is expected to pass the ordinance today and authorize issuance of the first 1942 tax anticipation warrants.

Bars Youth from Driving; Reckless Charge Continued

Eugene Raday, 19 years old, 10736 Green Bay avenue, was forbidden to drive a car for six months by Judge Victor A. Kula in Boys' court yesterday, and a reckless driving charge was continued to July 29. Raday was the driver of a car which struck and fatally injured a pedestrian Dec. 3 at 73d street and Western avenue. He left the scene, but informed his father, who immediately reported the accident.

How to make a WAR GARDEN

BY GAIL COMPTON.

The average American family whose income is between $1,500 and $3,000 a year now spends approximately $83.72, or 12 per cent of its food budget, for vegetables.

For as little as $2 the family can buy enough vegetable seeds to plant a war garden that will supply fresh vegetables for a family of five people for 120 days with an excess for storage and canning for winter use.

Two hours' work three days a week on a home garden will repay the home owner in fresh vegetables, f. o. b. kitchen door, will prove a healthful and pleasant physical recreation and will be an important help to the nation at war.

Pick Vegetables Carefully.

One of the most important factors in making a war garden is the choice of the vegetables. The gardener should select his varieties and seeds with an eye to planting the most healthful, vitamin rich vegetables. Fancy and special varieties of vegetables should give way to those that will furnish the family with all the essentials of a balanced diet.

The following vegetables are among those that should be considered for the war garden: beans, lima beans, beets, carrots, cabbage, Swiss chard, cucumbers, endive, lettuce, parsnips, kale, parsley, peppers, onion sets, peas, tomatoes, and corn.

To replace items eliminated on the above list, or to add to it if labor and land are available, the following are recommended: Brussels sprouts, broccoli, kohlrabi, okra, melons, pumpkins, spinach, squash, turnips, collards, and oyster plant.

Green Stuffs Favored.

The bleached or whitened vegetables are not recommended, since they are lacking in vitamins and are not as nutritious as the green vegetables. Bleached celery, white cabbage, and letture are eaten in large quantities, but they will not form as balanced a diet as will the green lettuce and green cabbage or collards. Broccoli is recommended over cauliflower as it is richer in vitamins. Cooked greens should have their place in the war garden as they are rich in vitamins.

Based on the extent to which 100 grams of edible raw food supplies the daily requirements of a moderately active man, the following table shows how the different vegetables rate as a source of vitamins and minerals. The table was prepared by the National Research Council on Foods and Nutrition.

The letter E after a vegetable indicates that it is an excellent source of the vitamin or mineral. The letters G, F, P, stand respectively for "good," "fair," and "poor." An X indicates that the food has been tested and found lacking the vitamin in appreciable quantities. A dash means that no reliable value can be given.

BOY, 15, CONFESSES STARTING $250,000 BLAZE JUST FOR FUN

George Bennett Jr.

George Bennett Jr., 15 years old, took full blame yesterday for the $250,000 fire at 4725-37 Broadway on May 4, 1940. Young Bennett, who sometimes calls himself Fairbanks—his mother's name by a later marriage — exonerated two youthful companions in a statement to Earl Downes, assistant corporation counsel, and Lieut. William Drury of the Town Hall station.

Downes said he was convinced that the fire was "a prank that turned out to be serious."

Bennett said that he threw a lighted match into a rubbish pile in the building. His two companions are sought as material witnesses.

The fire wrecked 11 stores and an X-ray laboratory and offices on the second floor and resulted in the injury of two firemen.

Young Bennett fled out of town, but returned to Chicago last September, and is now a pupil in Lake View High school. He lives at 4455 Dover street.

Downes said the youth will be turned over to the state's attorney's office for further questioning.

Council to Get Daylight Saving Ordinance Today

An ordinance providing for conforming to the new federal daylight saving law will be presented to the city council today. The measure, similar to that signed by President Roosevelt, will supersede the city ordinance providing daylight saving from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. The government measure provides daylight time from Feb. 9 until the end of the war. The new city ordinance was given Mayor Kelly yesterday by the city law department.

FLEEING BANDITS' CAR IS WRECKED; 1 KILLED, 2 HURT

La Porte, Ind., Jan. 22 [Special].—Robert Bakelaar, 19 years old, of Elkhart, was killed and two other young bandits were seriously injured in an automobile accident as they sped in wild flight from robbing a filling station operator of cigarets and candy worth $5.

Their car crashed thru the guard rail of an old wooden viaduct over the New York Central tracks east of here and plunged 20 feet to the embankment below.

Hospital attendants held little hope for the recovery of Bakelaar's companions, Joe Ornat and Dale Alumbaugh, both 19 and from South Bend, who received skull fractures. Martin Bacevich, operator of a gasoline station, near La Porte, said the three robbed him after threatening him with a wrench.

LOMBARD CRASH BLAMED ON LOW FLYING ORDERS

Trip Called for Flight Below Peak's Crest.

Las Vegas, Nev., Jan. 22 [Special].—Pitch blackness of a desert night—a murk so deep and unbroken by ground lights that it resembled the proverbial inside your hat—was probably one factor in the Trancontinental and Western air liner crash in which 22 persons, including 15 army airmen and Carole Lombard, screen actress, lost their lives near here last Friday.

This was the preliminary conclusion reached by all federal and private investigators, it was learned today. In this desert night the pilots of the ill fated plane were unable to see the peak in the Spring mountains which their machine struck at a full speed of 190 miles an hour.

No Weather or Radio Troubles.

Findings up to this time indicate that no weather trouble, radio reception trouble or mechanical difficulties were involved in this accident. The one point raised by the Civil Aeronautics authority's investigating board was that Capt. Wayne Williams, the pilot, cleared his plane in a flight plan calling for a cruising height of 8,000 feet when he left Las Vegas, altho the Spring mountains are from 200 to 300 feet higher.

Company experts say the clearance of a plane at a lower altitude than peak points along its route is constantly done, provided weather conditions are such that pilots can see three miles or more.

Measurements taken at the scene show the plant was 31 miles from Las Vegas airport when it hit the vertical rock wall of the peak. It was also seven miles from the center of the on-course signal of the Las Vegas radio range beacon. This places the plane a mile or two north of the route usually followed but well within the limits of the airway itself which extends for 10 miles on each side of the radio beam.

New Regulations to Come.

Out of this investigation new regulations for operation of commercial air lines at night are certain to come. It is understood that the CAA, which has authority to draw up such rules, will demand that at night all flights be dispatched at heights at least 2,000 feet higher than any obstacle on the airway they are following.

Such rules already are effective for flights in bad weather when pilots must rely on instruments inside the cockpits to control their planes. But hitherto they have not been applied when visibility is good.

On the night of the accident ceiling or cloud level was classified as unlimited. This meant there were no clouds up to 9,750 feet at Las Vegas. A high thin cloud layer at about 20,000 feet, however, hid the stars and moon and made the night extremely black, witnesses told the investigators.

WILLIAM P. RONAN APPOINTED TO CITY CIVIL SERVICE BOARD

William Ronan.

Mayor Kelly said last night that he will name William P. Ronan, 3920 Lake Shore drive, a flour manufacturer, to the city civil service commission. Ronan will fill the vacancy caused by the recent death of John E. Brennan. Ronan is a member of the Board of Trade, as was Brennan. Ronan's salary as civil service commissioner will be $5,000 a year.

EXPAND ILLINOIS AIR MILITIA; NEW OFFICERS NAMED

Appointment of a group of new officers yesterday extended the organization of the Illinois Air militia. Gov. Green at Springfield announced thru Adjt. Gen. Leo M. Boyle that the following officers would serve with the air units of the militia: Captains Bernard D. Gordon, 7030 South Euclid avenue, and Eugene M. Owen of Chicago, Everett E. Outland of Mount Vernon, William E. Burt of Alton, Roland L. Nash of East St. Louis, and Donald C. McConnell of Quincy.

Other officers appointed were: First Lieutenants Joseph S. Murphy of Chicago, Thomas N. Jordan and Guy A. Wood of Mount Vernon, Erwin H. Weder of Highland, William L. Hart of East St. Louis, Charles W. Albrecht of Edwardsville, James E. Gillespie of Godfrey, Allen C. Haynes of Alton, and William H. Dawson of Hoopeston.

WOMAN SLASHED BY BICYCLIST IN LINCOLN PARK

A young knife wielder was being sought today by park and city police after Miss Margaret Foley, 25 years old, of 1048 Rosemont avenue, was slashed in Lincoln park near Center street and Stockton drive.

Miss Foley was walking to the apartment of friends at 1936 North Clark street when, she told police, a boy 12 to 15 years old, rode past her on a bicycle. She said he struck her on the shoulder. When she arrived at her destination and took off her coat it was found she had suffered a two inch knife slash.

TIME TO REMAIN 'STANDARD' IN SPITE OF SHIFT

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—Clocks may be an hour faster after Feb. 9, but officially they will still be on "standard time."

Interstate Commerce commisison officials pointed out the March, 1918, law, which for the first time legally recognized time zones, provided that "the standard time of the first zone shall be known and designated as United States standard eastern time" and so on for the four continental time zones set up. The new law says "the standard time of each zone established shall be advanced by one hour."

The ICC is the federal agency most concerned with time because of its effect on the railroads whose operations ICC supervises.

The nation got "standard" time simultaneously with "daylight saving" time in March, 1918, inasmuch as standards had to be set before they could be changed. Up until then the time zones had been fixed merely by agreement among the railroads. States and municipalities usually adopted whatever time the railroads established for them.

ALDERMEN VOTE BOND ISSUE TO KEEP OUT OF JAIL

The city council of Calumet City voted last night to issue $554,000 in refunding bonds to cover judgments obtained by holders of previously issued bonds in default. The vote was 8 to 2 for the bond issue.

Judge Dennis J. Normoyle in Circuit court issued a mandamus for the issuance of the refunding bonds about a year ago. The order was not carried out and the councilmen were summoned to show cause next Thursday why they should not be held in contempt of court.

Some of the judgments go back 10 years. All the aldermen said they opposed the refunding but had to pass it to keep out of jail. The total sum represents $490,000 of principal and $64,000 interest. It is expected that the city tax rate will be raised to meet the obligation.

INDICT KEESHIN AND BORRELLI ON 3 CHARGES

Three indictments charging John L. Keeshin, wealthy head of a trucking firm, and Bruce Borrelli, son of Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli, with conspiracy and assault to commit mayhem were returned by the grand jury yesterday before Chief Justice Robert J. Dunne in Criminal court. The indictments resulted from the slugging on Jan. 8 of John Gottlieb, a business rival of Keeshin. Bonds were fixed at $3,500 for each defendant on each charge and arraignment was scheduled for today. Alex Napoli, assistant state's attorney, said he would ask for immediate assignment of the case to a trial judge. Four employés of the Keeshin firm also are named in the indictments.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks made it five victories in six matches with the Brooklyn Americans this season by outscoring Red Dutton's boys, 4 to 2, before 7,341 in Chicago Stadium last night. The victory also was the Hawks' fifth in their last six National Hockey league games and lifted them to within a game of third place.

The Hawks went into last night's contest with a remarkable average of five goals for each of their last five games and made a terrific drive in the late stages in an attempt to level off with 30 markers for six games. Only Goalie Charley Rayner knows how the Chicagoans were held to a mere four tallies.

Cully Sets the Pace.

Cully Dahlstrom led the tabulators with goals in the first and second periods. Sandwiched between Cully's two tallies was one by Mush March. The fourth Chicago score was made by unfailing Red Hamill.

Earl Seibert and Alex Kaleta each had two assists. Bill Thoms had one assist and Hamill got his goal without aid. National league scorers recently have been giving assists to about everybody but the organist, but the lads who got 'em last night certainly earned 'em.

Dahlstrom Bides His Time.

The Hawks' score in the first period came out of a scramble around the American cage. Kaleta and Thoms were thumping away at Goalie Rayner's boots while Dahlstrom stood back about 10 feet, waiting for the chance that soon popped his way. When the puck bounced toward him out of the mêlée Cully took one quick swish and the Hawks were ahead, 1 to 0.

Mush March made a perfect pick-up of a swell pass from Seibert in a rink long speed special and bore down on top of Rayner for the second Hawk counter in 2:58 of the second session. Bill Summerhill, assisted by Ken Mosdell, scored for the Americans out of a face-off near the Hawk goal in 5:36 of the same period. The Hawks resumed their two goal edge at 8:59 when Dahlstrom netted his second goal.

Red Goes to Town.

Hamill's goal was a solo in 11:11 of the final period. Red pounced on a loose puck 30 feet from the goal line and slanted it home with great power and accuracy.

The Americans added their second goal exactly four minutes before the game ended. Tommy Anderson beat Goalie Sam LoPresti, assisted by Mel Hill and Buzz Boll.

The Hawks will meet Toronto in the Stadium Sunday night.

VOYLES SAYS HE ISN'T INTERESTED IN ILLINOIS JOB

Richmond, Va., Jan. 22 (AP).—The Richmond Times-Dispatch said tonight that Carl Voyles, director of athletics of William and Mary college, Williamsburg, Va., had spiked reports about the possibility of his becoming head coach at the University of Illinois with the statement that he was definitely not interested in leaving William and Mary.

Voyles' name has been linked with Illinois for some time as successor to Robert C. Zuppke, who resigned after having coached Illini teams since 1913.

"Altho I appreciate any consideration that might have been shown me at Illinois, I must admit that I am very happy in Williamsburg and want to remain for a long time," Voyles told the Times-Dispatch.

"We have a job to do here and our present contract has two more years to run. The main thing now is to continue the development of a thoro athletic program."

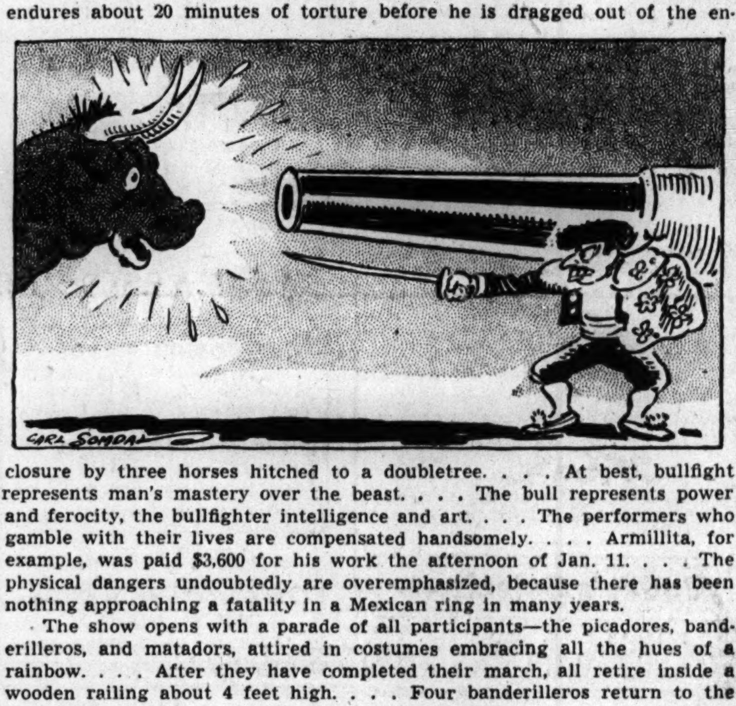
In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

WHEN in Mexico one must do as the Mexicans do, so on Sunday, Jan. 11, the conductor of the Wake of the News attended his first—and probably his last—bullfight. . . . It was held in an outdoor arena seating more than 25,000 close to the heart of Mexico City. . . . A capacity crowd, attracted by the appearance of Juan Armillita, Mexico's most expert performer, was in attendance. . . . The gathering included hundreds of women, most of whom seemed to enjoy the spectacle as much as did the men. . . . The best seats cost 25 pesos, approximately $5. . . . There are few aisles in the stadium and no ushers. . . . Cushion vendors will direct you to your seat, if you are interested in their wares. . . . Bullfights in Mexico enjoy popularity comparable to baseball or football in the United States. . . . The difference is that baseball and football are sporting contests. . . . There is nothing sporting about a bullfight. . . . If you patronize the event from the sporting viewpoint, you will be disappointed. . . . The bull is doomed the moment he enters the arena. . . . He normally endures about 20 minutes of torture before he is dragged out of the enclosure by three horses hitched to a doubletree. . . . At best, bullfight represents man's mastery over the beast. . . . The bull represents power and ferocity, the bullfighter intelligence and art. . . . The performers who gamble with their lives are compensated handsomely. . . . Armillita, for example, was paid $3,600 for his work the afternoon of Jan. 11. . . . The physical dangers undoubtedly are overemphasized, because there has been nothing approaching a fatality in a Mexican ring in many years.



The show opens with a parade of all participants—the picadores, banderilleros, and matadors, attired in costumes embracing all the hues of a rainbow. . . . After they have completed their march, all retire inside a wooden railing about 4 feet high. . . . Four banderilleros return to the ring, taking positions at various points in the arena. . . . A gate at one corner is raised and in prances the bull, which has been bred and trained for this moment. . . . As a rule, the bull romps to the center of the ring with head down, then stops abruptly, looks up at the crowd and then is attracted by the red cape of one or more of the banderilleros. . . . He charges at one cape after another for five minutes, during which time the matador, standing several yards away, observes whether the animal uses its right horn or left horn more effectively. . . . He reports his findings to the picador who comes from behind the railing mounted on a shaggy looking horse. . . . If the bull shows greater strength with his right horn, the picador, equipped with a long pole that has a spear on the end will ram the bull on the right shoulder to reduce its effectiveness. . . . He is not allowed under the rules to stab the bull until it charges toward him. . . . When he has completed his work, which is the bloodiest phase of the performance, the banderilleros resume their cape waving to give the matador further opportunity to study the behavior of the animal he soon will be assigned to kill. . . . A few minutes later the first of the banderilleros, armed with a dart in either hand, faces the bull head on and when he has maneuvered nim into desired position sticks both knives into a spot between the animal's shoulder blades. . . . For expert execution the banderillero must make sure the bull's head is neither too low nor too high, because either movement would narrow the vulnerable area. . . . The position of the bull's feet also is taken into consideration. . . . The workman sinks both knives at the same time and they remain in the bull's back while the other banderilleros repeat the process. . . . After all this the matador goes to work. . . . His sword is approximately 28 inches in length, long enough to reach the bull's heart. . . . An artist like Armillita will finish the bull with one stroke. . . . The animal sinks to its knees, then rolls over on its side dead. . . . The horses come in to carry away the carcass and the bullfight is over, except for the cheers from the fans and the bowing by the matador. . . . There were six fights on the program we attended. . . . The spectators became enraged during one of them because they thought the matador had taken unfair advantage of the bull and hundreds of cushions and hats were hurled into the ring in protest.

Bullfighting in Mexico goes back to colonial days. . . . The nobles who came from Spain for the conquest used to fight bulls on the occasions of great festivals. . . . In Mexico, as in Spain, bullfights in the early days took place in the plazas mayores, the large square of which every Latin America city boasts. . . . The department of interior assigns two officials to every bullfight to protect the public's interest. . . . They have the authority to penalize performers who are accused of incompetency or indifferent workmanship. . . . Bullfighting is Mexico's national sport and the government contends that the patrons are entitled to their money's worth.

Great Lakes Wins, 50-27, Over Chicago

A violent 90 seconds in the course of which Great Lakes made five baskets, turned a comfortable victory into a rout at the expense of the University of Chicago's Maroons in the Midway fieldhouse last night. The game ended with Great Lakes leading, 50 to 27.

It was the 15th victory in 17 starts for Great Lakes, and the Maroon's 11th straight loss, in the last seven of which their opponents have made 50 points or more.

Bob Calihan, a Chicago boy who played his college basketball at the University of Detroit, and Dick Klein, former Northwestern player, were high scorers in the game with 11 points apiece.

TODAY'S GAMES.

2:00 p. m.—Thurnblad vs. Chamaco.
3:30 p. m.—Greenleaf vs. Schaefer.
8:30 p. m.—Hoppe vs. Cochran.

The night before the finish, the field in the world three cushion billiards tournament became reduced to one man, Willie Hoppe, the 54 year old New Yorker. The only way Willie can fail to nail down his third straight title is to lose two consecutive games to Welker Cochran, who comes from the opposite side of the country, San Francisco.

After Hoppe had fought back the stubborn challnge of Joe Chamaco in the first night game in Terrace Casino of the Morrison hotel, Cochran was upset by dour Jake Schaefer, and the Californian hardly looked the part of the man to bar Willie's path to another angle title. Cochran, missing even his favorite short angle shots, lost to the one time young Jake, 50 to 28, in 37 innings.

Playoff Is Possible.

Tonight, Hoppe will meet Cochran and, even if he loses, the two will be tied with seven victories and two defeats. If this happens, they will engage in a playoff Monday night in the Casino, which again was packed last night.

When Hoppe finally subdued Chamaco, 50 to 46, it marked his 43d victory in the last three world title tournaments, all in Chicago. In this stretch he has lost only to Cochran, in 1941, and to Art Rubin in this get together.

Joe Fights Back.

When Hoppe left the table at the intermission with a 29 to 19 advantage over Chamaco, he appeared to be on the way to another of his customary easy triumphs. But the exuberant Mexican came back midway in the second half and at one time broke into the lead.

Cochran defeated Otto Reiselt, 50 to 45, in an afternoon match, which was a continuation of their meeting on Tuesday when Welker Cochran became ill and was forced to retire with the score standing 34 to 17 against him.

MAKES ATHLETIC DIRECTORSHIP SEPARATE POST

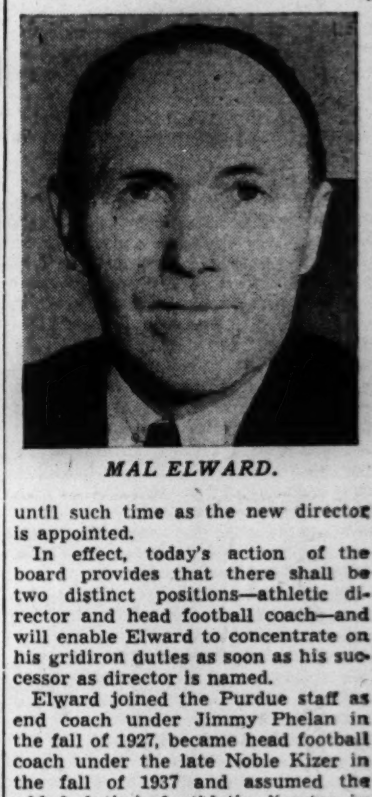
Trustees Authorize New Sport Head.

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 22 [Special].—Separation of the duties of the director of the division of physical education for men and head football coach at Purdue university, which have been handled in a dual capacity for the last year by Mal Elward, was voted today by the university board of trustees at its regular quarterly meeting.

The board also authorized the extension of Elward's contract as head football coach until Dec. 31, 1942, at a salary to be determined by Dr. E. C. Elliott, president of the university, and instructed the president to recommend a properly qualified person for early appointment to the position of director of the division of physical education for men.

To Serve Until Replaced.

Elward, whose contract as director and coach runs until June 30, will continue to serve in the dual capacity until such time as the new director is appointed.



MAL ELWARD.

In effect, today's action of the board provides that there shall be two distinct positions—athletic director and head football coach—and will enable Elward to concentrate on his gridiron duties as soon as his successor as director is named.

Elward joined the Purdue staff as end coach under Jimmy Phelan in the fall of 1927, became head football coach under the late Noble Kizer in the fall of 1937 and assumed the added duties of athletic director in January of last year.

Last season's Purdue eleven won two games, tied one, and lost five. The victories were scored over Pittsburgh and Iowa, the defeats were at the hands of Vanderbilt, Ohio State, Fordham, Wisconsin, and Indiana. A scoreless tie was played with Michigan State.

Win 16, Lose 17, Tie 6.

During the other years of Elward's tenure as head coach Purdue had the following records: 1940—won two, lost six; 1939—won three, lost three, tied two; 1938—won five, lost one, tied two; 1937—won four, lost three, tied one. Thus in five years under Elward the Boilermakers have totaled 16 victories, 17 defeats, and 6 ties.

Despite the fact that many of Purdue's defeats were by narrow margins [accomplished in the closing seconds of play on several memorable occasions] the alumni groups have been demanding victories rather than creditable efforts. In its last fairly good season, 1939, Purdue beat Northwestern, tied Minnesota, and held Notre Dame to a 3 to 0 score.

Played at Notre Dame.

Elward was a teammate of Knute Rockne on the Notre Dame elevens of 1912 to 1915. Tho he weighed only 142 pounds, he played end. Since his graduation in 1916 he has been actively connected with football coaching.

He began his coaching career at St. John's High school in Danvers, Mass., where his team won the Catholic high school championship of the east in 1916.

Elward spent the next four years in the naval air service, but maintained his connection with football. He was closely associated as a player and coach with the success of elevens representing Hampton Roads training station, Newport naval reserve, and Hampton Roads air station.

He went to Grinnell as head football coach in 1922 and coached that team to its first Midwest conference championship. He was at John Carroll in Cleveland for the next three years, and turned out a particularly successful team in 1924.

TOM KUZMA ILL OF PNEUMONIA AT ANN ARBOR

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 22 (AP).—The university health service reported tonight that Tom Kuzma, Michigan's sophomore football star, was ill of pneumonia. He has been a patient in the health service since Tuesday.

Dr. Gilbert De Ryke said he did not regard the young half back's condition as serious. The physician said he believed Kuzma would be ready to leave the health service in two weeks. Kuzma's home is Gary, Ind.

CUB WORRIES END AS LOU NOVIKOFF SIGNS CONTRACT

But It Doesn't Guarantee Any Base Hits.

Twilight Ball?

IN the wake of the cool reception accorded their plan to rent Comiskey park for night games this coming season, the Cubs yesterday took under consideration the playing of twilight ball in Wrigley field. General Manager James Gallagher, following reports that some of the big league clubs without lighting systems might attempt dinner time attractions, said the Cubs would give some thought to the novelty. With daylight saving a game could be started at 6 p. m. and if played in average time could be completed before dark.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs now are all set for the season. What if they do have to ride to their Catalina Island training camp on a tugboat or even go some other place? Whether they are going to play any night games is no longer of any importance.

All such annoying little matters have faded from the minds of the Cub officials. There may be a few holdouts eventually, and maybe when the team gets around to opening the season it won't be especially hot as a pennant contender. But what of it? Lou Novikoff has signed his 1942 contract which, regretfully, has no provision whereby he will have to furnish more than an occasional base hit.

Neither does the contract guarantee Novikoff that he won't be in Milwaukee instead of Wrigley field next summer, but that can be taken up later. The point is that Novikoff, who batted a scorching .241 last season, has signed.

Landis Announces Signing.

The Novikoff signing, as well as that of Shortstop Bob Sturgeon, came thru by a roundabout way yesterday. James T. Gallagher, as is known, had enough trouble with contracts last year to satisfy his desire for punishment for a long period, so with the idea of easing the pain for himself on his second lap as a baseball executive, he enacted a gag rule. But the acceptances by the pair were revealed in a bulletin from Commissioner K. M. Landis, whereupon Gallagher broke down and confessed.

Possibly because of the joy over getting Novikoff, one of last year's many recalcitrants, out of the way, Gallagher eased up a bit on what he claimed would remain state secrets. He came right out with an admission that a couple of the boys had written in since receiving their documents, the complaint in each case being the old familiar spring refrain, "I Think I Am Worth More Money."

Just what Gallagher thinks he wouldn't reveal. He also censored his utterances before having time to expose the identities of the two who are trying to take an extra bite out of the cash box.

Getting back to Novikoff, the so-called Mad Russian, it might be advisable to point out he is the same fellow who was going to wreck all the big league parks last season. Instead, the enemy pitchers wrecked Novikoff and the Cubs finally gave up for the time being on their winter sensation. He did pretty well in Milwaukee, altho there is no record of how many fly balls he didn't catch.

Parks Were Intact Last Year.

As for the Novikoff of the present moment, the Cub officials may want to tear up that signed contract when they read these few figures. The Russian, who really is a jovial soul even in the face of hitting adversity, has by his admission been working hard all winter around Los Angeles. He didn't say when located yesterday whether he was back toiling on an oil derrick or acting as food tester in a restaurant. Anyway, Mr. Lou weighs 206 pounds whereas he should be around 185, and 206 is enough to make two Novikoffs.

Woody English, the old Cub, is back in big league circulation. Sensing that 1942 may find room for some old timers, the former star shortstop has applied for and been granted reinstatement by Commissioner Landis.

He reverts to the St. Louis Cardinals, on whose ineligible list he became enrolled after refusal to report to that club in 1939. He was turned over to the Cards by the Cubs, who had taken him back that spring after he had had trials with Brooklyn and Cincinnati.

ILLINOIS ROUTS MICHIGAN TECH IN HOCKEY, 5-1

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 22 [Special].—Illinois' hockey team beat Michigan Tech, 5 to 1, tonight in the first of a two game series. Tech scored when Jack Gillan, Illini goalie, forgot to watch the game, and Pat Thornton flipped in a soft shot from the blue line. Capt. Joe Lotzer and Mario Palazzari led the Illini with two goals apiece. Steve Meyers, Tech goalie, played brilliantly, making 21 saves in the first period.

The game was a reunion for Coaches Vic Heyliger of Illinois and Elwell [Doc] Romnes of Tech. The two roomed together while helping the Chicago Blackhawks win the Stanley cup in 1937-'38.

Maroons' Gym Team Meets Penn State Tonight

The University of Chicago's gymnastics team will open its schedule in Bartlett gymnasium this evening at 8 o'clock against Penn State. Chicago's twin national collegiate champions, Earl and Courtney Shanken, make the Maroons favorites in the meeting, the first regular competition since Erwin Beyer, national titleholder in three events a few years ago, became coach. Beyer succeeded Dan Hoffer, who died last May.

Bruins Lose, 4 to 3; Cowley Suffers Injury

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 22 (AP).—The Boston Bruins missed a chance to recapture undisputed possession of the National Hockey league lead tonight when the Detroit Red Wings beat them, 4 to 3, but of even greater consequence was Boston's loss of its ace playmaker, Bill Cowley. He suffered a possible fractured jaw.

Cowley, who was the league's top scorer last year, was taken to a hospital for observation after being felled by a body check by Syd Howe in the first period. The Bruins, who were unbeaten in 16 games with Detroit since March 3, 1940, spotted the Red Wings a three goal lead in the first period.

Woodrow [Porky] Dumart rejoined the Bruins tonight after submitting to a physical examination ordered by his war service board at Kitchener, Ont. He said the examiners' findings were not made known but that he expected to report for duty in the Canadian army Feb. 5.

Bobby Bauer and Milt Schmidt, who with Dumart comprise Boston's famed kraut line, will stop off at Kitchener tomorrow for their examinations while en route to Montreal, where the Bruins play Saturday. Lineups:

NANCE DEFENDS WARTIME RACING IN MIAMI SPEECH

Sees Big Season in 1942 for Illinois Tracks.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 22 [Special].—Recommending the continuation of horse racing in order to provide recreation and relaxation for the public and to stimulate horse breeding during the emergency, the Illinois Racing board today promised to maintain the sport until it interferes with the war effort. It invited horsemen of the nation to bring their stables to the state in 1942. The board now is attending a three day meeting of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners here.

The Illinois delegation will press for action on the federal legislation which it recently introduced to make illegal the transportation of race horses across state lines for the purpose of substituting ringers.

Nance Explains Stand.

At today's meeting, Clement A. Nance, secretary of the Illinois board, said: "Altho the state of Illinois has not yet had a full year of operation under its revised horse racing act, we are proud to report that, not only was 1941 the best year in the modern history of horse racing for owners, track operators, and the public, as well as the state, but that as a result of the far-sighted administration of Gov. Dwight H. Green, we are in the enviable position of being able to cope with the present national emergency to an unusual extent.

"It is the opinion of the Illinois Racing board that in times of great national peril, when all our energies and resources are being devoted to the single task of defeating our enemies and preserving our democratic way of life, it is increasingly important that we should effect a program that will insure our coming thru this emergency without injuring the horse breeding industry.

Sees Big Year Ahead.

"Gov. Green and the racing board are proud of the outstanding record made in 1941 and look ahead with confidence to an even finer season in 1942. So long as it will not detract from national defense efforts and will aid in maintaining military and civilian morale by offering entertainment and relaxation, Illinois will maintain a racing program.

"There is another important function in which horse racing may play a part," Nance continued. "That is the raising of funds for national defense and local charities."

HOCKEY BENEFIT GAME SPURNED BY RED CROSS

Boston, Mass., Jan. 22 (AP).—The Boston Bruins All-Star hockey game, scheduled for March 17 in the Boston garden, will not be played because the Red Cross has refused to accept it as a benefit, the Bruins management today advised Frank Calder, National league president.

Originally, the league's board of governors voted to have the game played in Boston to raise funds for the American and Canadian branches of the Red Cross. Five-sevenths of the expected proceeds of more than $25,000 were to be turned over to the American Red Cross and the remainder to the Canadian body of that organization.

The Red Cross explained, the Bruins management said, that it was against its policy to lend its name to such contests.

Meanwhile the managements of the Bruins and the Boston garden are completing plans for the Army Relief Society Fund benefit game between the Bruins and a team of national hockey league oldtime stars on Feb. 6. It is expected it will net the widows and orphans of army men about $15,000.

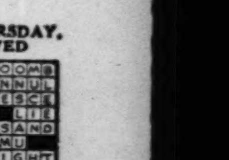
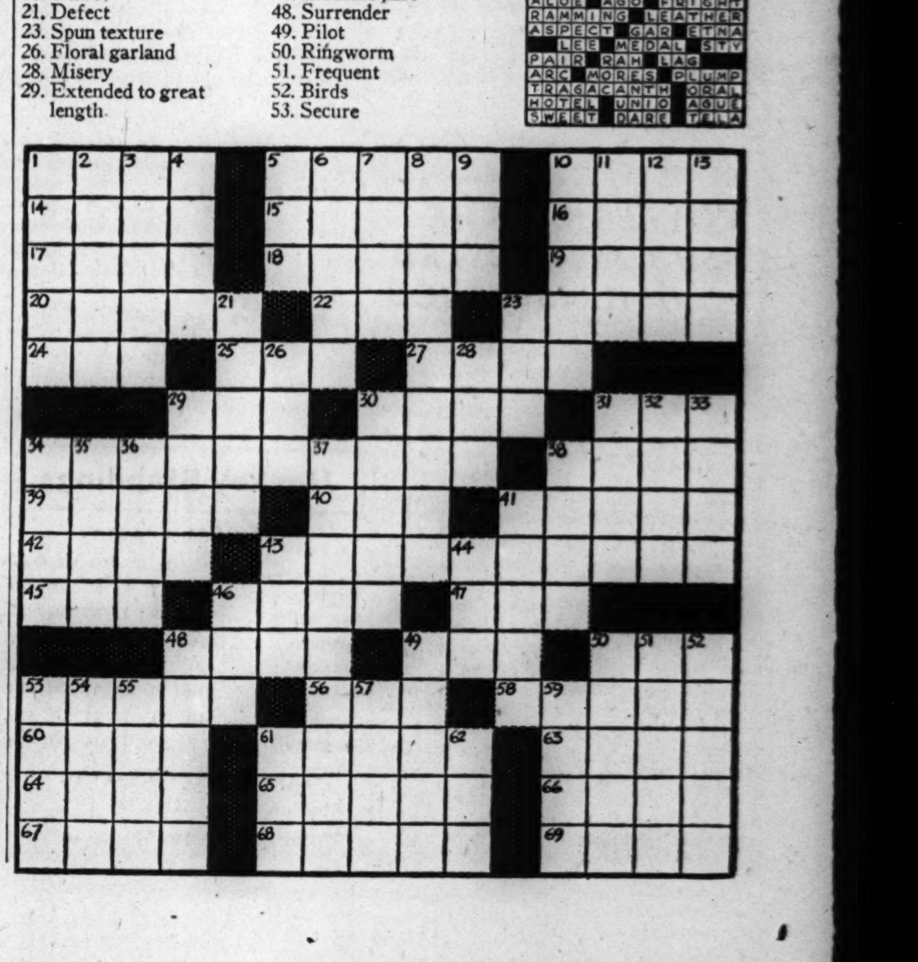
PUZZLE OF THURSDAY, JAN. 22, SOLVED





HALE AMERICA GOLF ENTRY NO. 1 —IT'S BOB JONES!

Winner to Be Designated as CDGA Champion.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Hale America tournament to be conducted here in June by the Chicago District Golf association under the sponsorship of the United States Golf association, is still some months away, but it teed off well yesterday afternoon. That first drive consisted of the entry of an Atlanta barrister, Robert Tyre Jones Jr. by name. The whilom king of them all, winner of the four major championships of 1930, was the first to sign up for what undoubtedly will be the biggest fairway-and-green show ever conducted in American golf.

The tournament will be held on a Chicago course to be announced later on the week-end beginning June 18, which would have been the first day of the regularly scheduled National Open tournament, awarded to Minneapolis' Interlachen club and set for that site until the USGA decided to cancel all of its 1942 major tourneys. Currently, Ridgemoor is leading all candidates as a stage for the Hale America event, because of the excellent conditions and contour of its course, and because of its accessibility at a time when many a potential galleryite will leave the family bus at home for a street car or public bus.

Open to Keep Its Identity.

The CDGA, in a special meeting to the board of directors yesterday noon in the La Salle hotel, officially approved the event. Thomas G. McMahon of Skokie, who was elected president of the organization last month, presided. The motion to approve was made by John Gavin of Butterfield, and seconded by John Hackett of Glen Oak.

The CDGA discussion on the tournament lasted two and one-half hours. Out of the meeting emerged one definite fact: That the Chicago Open, which had already taken over the dates of the USGA Open, following its cancelation by the national group, will retain its identity. The winner, in other words, not only will win the Hale America championship, but also will become the fifth winner of the Chicago Open title, now held by Ben Hogan, who followed Gene Sarazen, Sam Snead, and Dick Metz as victor in the event that put Chicago smack dab in the middle of the golf map.

Some Popular Prices.

Any possibility that the winner would be recognized officially as open champion of the United States Golf association was dispelled late in the day by George W. Blossom Jr. of the Onwentsia club, who was recently elected president of the USGA.

Another important item will be the admission prices. Tentatively, these have been set for $1 for the first three days and $1.50 for the final round.

Illinois Skate Team Off for St. Paul Today

The Illinois team of ice skaters will leave Chicago this morning from Union station for the North American speed skating championship races in St. Paul tomorrow. Fifteen skaters, three officials, and a party of 50 skate fans will make the trip.

One of the strongest teams ever to represent the state is entered in the meet, including Vic Ronchetti, state champion; Bob Heckenbach, tri-state titleholder, and Steve Gadus, Silver Skates winner. Mrs. Elaine Bogda Gordon will carry the Illinois standard in the senior women's events, while Shirley Jane Burnett and Dorothy Oul are the intermediate girls on the squad. Virginia Mazzetta and Rita Janet are the speedy misses in the junior events.

GOLD CROWN PIN TEAM HITS 3,399 AT RANDOLPH

The Buds, who fired a 3,247 series, won one game—by two pins— when they got 1,095 in the second game. The Gold Crowns opened with 1,150 and finished with 1,156. Roy Thompsen led the Gold Crowns with 717, including a 299 game, followed by Jule Lellinger with 709, while John Small paced the Budweisers with 735. Eight 1,100 games were recorded in the league. A City and a Sports Department

(The Tribune Grows Up with Chicago)

[This is the 20th of a series of articles on the highlights of the development of sports in Chicago, with especial reference to the part the Tribune sports department played in reporting them, from pre-Civil war days until the present time.]

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

BASKETBALL, which this year is celebrating its golden jubilee season, didn't wait long after the game's foundation by the late Dr. James A. Naismith to take a place in Chicago sports. In 1892 the game was being played in the YMCA gymnasiums, notably at the old West Side Y. THE TRIBUNE carried only brief reports of the game, which at that time was eyed with suspicion by the sports fans of the town as being not quite rugged enough.

John Schommer. Paddy Driscoll. Pat Page. Chuck Carney.

As long as basketball is played in Chicago, the names of these stars will be remembered by the fans.

Shortly thereafter teams were formed at the University of Chicago, and Mrs. A. A. Stagg, wife of the Midway athletic director, was moved to report on Dec. 13, 1894, "The basketball contests having been revived, the students can look forward to interesting entertainment on Saturday afternoons during the dull winter months. The new rules have modified the game considerably and play will be sharper and more interesting to watch." On Feb. 7, 1895, THE TRIBUNE mentioned that "the University of Chicago basketball team ran against a snag at Hull House, being unable to better than tie the west side team, 8 to 8."

Campus Belles Introduce the Sport at Old N. U.

Northwestern didn't enter the basketball picture until 1898, and then, of all things, it was a quintet of five of the campus belles that introduced the sport. The first men's team was organized in 1901, but it wasn't until four years later that it was put on an intercollegiate basis. Outstanding hero of that squad was Al Welberger, who was to become one of the first three sport men in Northwestern history.

On Nov. 10, 1906, THE TRIBUNE reported the founding of the Western Intercollegiate Basketball association. "Holding around the waist" was recorded as a foul during this meeting, held at the Victoria hotel. First of the great Maroon teams was that of 1908, which won the conference title with a team that included John Schommer, Pat Page, Bill Georgen, Fred Falls, Bob Harris, and Art Hoffman. The first Northwestern team to achieve prominence was that of 1915-'16. In the lineup were Paddy Driscoll, Glenn Whittle, Bert Kincaid, Marshall Underhill, Pat Patterson, and Harvey Ellis.

Y Team Plays at World's Fair.

No mention of Chicago basketball would be complete without a paragraph on the old Central YMCA team, which, the summer of 1904, journeyed to the World's Fair in St. Louis and reached the final of the basketball event. That Y quintet included Coach Herb Reynolds, John Schommer, Ed Lange, Bill Williams, Bill Armstrong, Judge Herbert Immenhausen, and Axel Bergren.

Schommer was the captain and center of that big time Central Y quintet. The Chicagoans played in the open event that was part of the world's fair program in St. Louis. Schommer last night said that they operated at a disadvantage, playing most of their games until the final outdoors on hard ground, which forced them to use football cleats. Meanwhile, the Buffalo Germans, who had been enabled by rain to get a taste of indoor play, were set for them with rubber shoes. The Chicago five, accustomed to working abrupt stops with the gridiron cleats, couldn't get under way until late, and then it was too late to catch on, after their own last minute scramble to match their foes' footgear. The Buffalo team won, but they were absent from the field later in the fair, when the world's YMCA championship was won by the Central quintet.

Recalls Other Great Y Basket Teams.

Schommer points out that there were other great teams long before he and his mates on the old Central team began. One was the Y team that included Phil Haser, Tommy Byrne, George Lorenzen, and Herb Reynolds. Others included the army teams from Monmouth, Ill., and Fond du Lac, Wis.

Chicago became nationally famous as a basketball center in 1917, when the University of Chicago founded its annual interscholastic tournament. Out of that classic came such stars as Earl [Dutch] Clark, Bennie Oosterbaan, Bo Molenda, Chuck Hyatt, Ralph [Moon] Baker, Chuck Carney, Herb Steger, and Waldo Fisher. It was Mr. Stagg's painful duty to announce after the 1930 tourney that jealousy on the part of a national organization governed the growing opposition against it, and a few months later the event was abandoned in favor of a Christmas week program restricted to local teams.

Catholic Prep Meet Follows at Loyola.

The Stagg tournament was followed in 1924 by the national Catholic interscholastic tournament, conducted by Loyola university until this season, when authorities announced that the war emergency had caused them to cancel plans for a 1942 event. The Loyola show also was an incubator for future greats, among them Tony Lawless, Bernie Crimmins, Zeke Bonura, Marchy Schwartz, John Rigney, Ed Krause, Tom Conley, and Charley Shipp.

Few teams in the history of basketball can boast a record such as that set up by the famed Cornells of Armour square, who, in approximately 1,000 games played from 1910 thru 1921, lost only 13. They played as amateurs and professionals, under the names of the Cornells, the Illinois Athletic club, the Chicago Big Five, and the Whiting Owls. The team included Al and Bill Pressler, Bill Feeney, Harry Frieling, Spot Kohfeldt, Bill Johnson, Jack Tierney, Paddy Driscoll, and Lenny Sachs.

K. of C. League Provides Fans with Real Thrills.

For 19 years, from 1917 thru 1937, the Sunday afternoon destination of practically every sports fan in our town was the regular weekly program of the Knights of Columbus league, one of the best competitive organizations basketball ever has seen. Probably the standout team in the league's records was that of Marquette council. This squad, which won league championships in 1924, 1926, and 1927, included Wilfrid Smith and Al Krause, now members of THE TRIBUNE's editorial staff; Elmer Hooker, Steve Seplak, Mike Mehalek, and the Berg brothers.

HOGAN CARDS 65, 7 UNDER PAR, TO LEAD ON COAST

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 22 (AP).—Benny Hogan, the 137 pound golfer with a heavyweight punch in his clubs, today took the first round lead in the 72 hole San Francisco open tournament with a seven under par 65. Despite a soggy course, Hogan shot a 32—33 which tied the competitive course record, set by Lawson Little as an amateur. Par for the 6,520 yard California club layout is 36—36—72.

Hogan shot seven birdies. On the four par 5 holes, his tremendous shots carried him to the edge of the green. He chipped up each time to leave himself three foot putts.

Hogan finished three strokes ahead of Harry Cooper, who put together a 33—35—68.

Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., and E. J. Harrison of Oak Park, Ill., had identical scores of 35—38—73. The leaders:

Hammond Is Defeated by Horace Mann

Horace Mann High school's basketball squad last night again displayed its superiority over Indiana quintets. The Hoosiers defeated Hammond Tech, 35 to 26, in Gary's Memorial auditorium to take undisputed possession of first place in the western division of the Northern Indiana conference. It was Horace Mann's 14th consecutive victory of the season.

The defeat dropped Hammond Tech from the list of unbeaten squads in Indiana. Only three teams—Washington, Ind., defending champion; Evansville Central, and Horace Mann—have gone thru their schedules thus far without a setback. Washington will play Central tonight, while Horace Mann will visit Evansville Monday.

The victory was Horace Mann's ninth in conference competition. Horace Mann held a 21 to 15 advantage over Hammond Tech at the end of the first half. Lineups:

Schurz High continued its march toward the senior basketball championship of the north section in the Public School league yesterday. The north siders scored their fifth straight victory by disposing of Sullivan, 39 to 36, on the latter's court. Schurz led at the conclusion of the first half, 22 to 14.

Senn, Roosevelt, and Von Steuben won three other senior games. Senn triumphed over Steinmetz, 32 to 24, in Steinmetz gymnasium, while Von Steuben won from Lake View, 46 to 29, on the latter's floor. Don Kolwin was Van Steuben's scoring hero with four field goals and seven free throws. Roosevelt defeated Waller's seniors, 42 to 30, in Waller gymnasium.

Senn's juniors required two overtime periods to conquer Steinmetz, 30 to 28. The score was 24 to 24 at the end of the regulation game. Bob Hower scored the winning field goal in the second overtime session.

Von Steuben's junior quintet scored its third victory in four games by defeating Lake View, 34 to 27. Sullivan triumphed over Schurz, 56 to 32, and Waller won from Roosevelt, 38 to 27, in other junior contests. Lineups:

Marshall Five Triumphs Over Wells, 42 to 28

Marshall High's junior basketball team, champion of the Public School league, scored its third consecutive victory in the west division yesterday, but it required brilliant sharpshooting and close guarding to conquer Wells, 42 to 28, on the latter's court. The heated contest cost Joe Mroz, Wells forward, a pair of glasses, and it caused several fights in the stands. It was Wells' first defeat of the league season.

Izzy Acker, Marshall star, who will end his prep career next week, scored four field goals and five free throws to lead the Marshall attack. Marshall held a 20 to 13 advantage at the end of the first half. Mroz lost his glasses in the third period of the game. He was removed from the lineup, but returned a short time later wearing a new pair.

Austin Returns Lead.

The sectional junior lead, however, is still held by Austin High, which won its fourth straight game at the expense of Foreman, 76 to 13, in Austin gymnasium. Contributing to Austin's big total were Pete Jansen with 31 points and Glen Burgeson with 17. McKinley's squad scored its first league triumph, defeating Washburne, 44 to 37, on the McKinley court in another junior contest.

Crane Tech and Tuley were victors in two west division senior games. Crane Tech routed Medill, 63 to 30, on the latter's floor, while Tuley won from Kelvyn Park, 37 to 33, in Tuley gymnasium. Manny Begun was the star in Crane Tech's third victory, scoring six baskets and one free throw. Adam Turek led Tuley's attack against Kelvyn Park with 17 points. Lineups:

TILDEN, PHILLIPS WIN

Phillips and Tilden Tech extended their winning streaks in the junior division of the central section in the Public School league yesterday. Phillips went into first place by scoring its fourth straight victory, defeating Gage Park, 50 to 25, on the Phillips court. Tilden Tech registered its third consecutive triumph, whipping Farragut, 45 to 28, in Farragut gymnasium.

Phillips scored all its points against Gage Park on field goals. The losers committed only two personal fouls. Carroll Clermont, center, and Elmer Pierce, forward, led the Phillips scoring, each with five baskets. Johnny Perkovich, forward, starred for Tilden Tech with six field goals and four free throws. FENGER TRIUMPHS

Fenger and Morgan Park won two senior basketball games in the south section of the Public School league yesterday. Fenger, led by Art Crummie, who scored nine baskets and two free throws, defeated South Shore, 48 to 33, in Fenger gymnasium. Morgan Park staved off a rally and handed Hirsch a 35 to 34 setback on Morgan Park's court.

Irving Ward was the leader in Morgan Park's victory over Hirsch, collecting eight field goals and two free throws. Morgan Park was in front, 19 to 17, at the end of the first half. Bill Crummie, brother of Art, and a guard on the squad, and Bob McArdle, South Shore forward, were banished by officials near the close of the game when they engaged in a fight. Lineups:

THE BETTER DUKE MOURNED BY HIS FRIENDS AT RITES

Many Remember Cooney's Charitable Deeds.

BY ORVILLE DWYER.

Whatever Dennis [The Duke] Cooney may have done in life that was bad, there were at his funeral yesterday many who might have testified that he also did good.

Altho he acquired a million dollars, much of it from a cut on thousands of frail sisters' earnings, the women present at the sad pomp of the last rites were, in general, not that kind.

There were scrub women and such, the plain and middle aged and ordinary that he'd got jobs for thru his 1st ward political connections. They came because they were sincerely thankful, wanting to show their respect now no matter how he made his money.

Sermon an Apology.

The Rev. Father John E. Burke of Old St. Mary's church at 9th street and Wabash avenue, struck that same note in his sermon, following the requiem high mass. It was a bit of an apology for the man whose remains lay in the $7,500 metal coffin below him.

"It is most fitting that our dear departed friend should, after his fitful life, make a last visit to this old church, which is so much a part of the 1st ward and where he very often came," Father Burke said.

"We must remember the woman of whom the people told Christ, 'Moses said she should be stoned to death'—and the reply, 'Let him who is without sin among you cast the first stone!'

Moments of Nobility.

"My brethren, none of us is wholly sinful. We all have our moments of nobility and our dead friend had many of those moments. It was testified in the crowds I saw last night at his bier. Yes, we would do well to look upon this noble side of our friend, his munificence to the downtrodden, his charity to the poor. It is in these things that he will win for himself the kingdom of heaven."

The priest recalled that once "The Duke" had even stripped $8,500 from his pocket to save a stranger from jail.

Around the undertaking establishment at 1820 South Michigan avenue, where the last rites started, outside the old gray stone church, and at the cemetery, the funeral was reminiscent of such proceedings over the gangsters of prohibition days.

Among the mourners were 300 men who wore badges of black silk ribbon on which was inscribed in large silver letters: "In Memoriam. Dennis Cooney, Jan. 19th, 1942. First Ward Democratic Club."

Many Pay Their Respects.

Politicians of more than ordinary stature in the Democratic machine, in which Cooney was for many years an important figure, were noticeably absent. Friends said they had all been at the wake on Wednesday evening. Judges, police captains, big city hall men, all had paid their respects, they said.

Many, both men and women, had bewailed his passing; where, they asked, would they get help now?

Detectives were scattered thru the funeral crowd. Several men in a body decided there would be no pictures if they could help it. They would not resort to slugging at "The Duke's" funeral, but they put their hats before camera lenses and jostled the camera men's arms, contenting themselves with threats. It was admitted many of the hard-faced men had past records, but the detectives made no pickups.

The widow, Mary White Cooney, a middle-aged, quiet appearing woman, shed bitter tears as they closed the coffin and again when it was lowered into the grave at Calvary cemetery.

3 MORE TESTIFY ABOUT LOSSES IN TIMBER PROJECTS

Three more witnesses testified yesterday before a jury in the federal court of Judge Michael L. Igoe of investing their savings in the Resources Corporation International on promises of reaping a rich harvest from timberlands in Mexico. Nine officers and associates of the company are on trial for mail fraud, violation of the securities and exchange act, and conspiracy.

W. G. Michaelson, a businessman of Rockford, Ill., termed the company organization a "beautifully oiled steamroller." He said he bought $5,000 worth of stock for $4,500 and was made a member of an advisory board. On cross-examination he admitted that he bought the stock for speculation and that he was told it might take 30 to 40 years to get his investment back.

Other witnesses for the government were John C. Weiland of Aurora, who told of buying $600 worth of stock, and A. Royal Gay, 444 Winneconna parkway, head of the science department in Morgan Park High school. Gay said he invested $2,100 and securities for $5,000 worth of stock.

BRITISH TENNIS STAR, COMPANION FACING BLACKMAIL CHARGES

Valerie Scott.

Miami, Fla., Jan. 22 (AP).—Two young women, one identified as the British tennis star, 24 year old Valerie Scott, and the other as a companion from San Francisco, were in jail today charged with blackmail.

Miss Scott has been in jail for more than a month. Her companion, identified by Assistant County Solicitor Glenn C. Mincer as Margaret Schuyler Sternberg of San Francisco, was arrested today.

They were charged with conspiring to force a wealthy Miami Beach winter resident to employ Miss Scott as her secretary and companion.

To accomplish it, the prosecutor charged, Miss Scott threatened to accuse the winter resident, Miss Frances Lynch, with possession and use of narcotics unless she discharged her present secretary and companion. The information carried three counts of conspiracy to commit blackmail, three of threatening to accuse another of a crime, and one of vagrancy.

FORMER NEGRO SLAVE DIES; 117, HER FAMILY SAYS

Mrs. Kitty Carter, a former Virginia slave, died yesterday in her home at 2606 Indiana avenue at the age of 117. Members of her family said that an investigation by the old age pension bureau disclosed she was born May 2, 1824, at Huntsville, Mo.

According to her grandniece, Mrs. Leona Jackson, 80, with whom she lived, Mrs. Carter often recalled that 105 years ago, when she was 12 years old, her mother told how George Washington used to visit the plantation where she was a slave. Mrs. Carter's husband, Henry, a freed slave and a blacksmith, died 30 years ago at the age of 85.

The Carters had 17 children, the last of whom, John, died last Nov. 26 at the age of 90. The Carters came to Chicago in 1893. Mrs. Carter worked actively until 12 years ago when she decided she was getting too old to continue. According to her grandniece, Mrs. Carter attributed her great age to her practice of early to bed and early to rise. She took only one bottle of medicine during her life.

DIES OF INJURIES SUFFERED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Harry R. Bavin, 50 years old, a plumber, died yesterday in the Woodlawn hospital of injuries suffered Wednesday when he was struck by an automobile at 63d street and Cottage Grove avenue. He lived at 8238 South La Salle street. The driver of the car was Otto Bendig, 32, of 5257 North Laporte avenue.

Herman Bunzli, 60, a watchman of 2945 North Halsted street, died of injuries suffered last Nov. 23 when he was struck by an auto at Madison and Halsted streets. The driver was Howard Duckman, 2322 Giddings street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 68 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 51 were killed in Chicago, where 1,443 were injured in traffic accidents during the same period.

THRILLER WRITER ENDS LIFE IN BOX FASTENED INSIDE

Yuma Ariz., Jan. 22 (AP).—The words "In here," scrawled on the top of a sealed packing box led Sheriff T. H. Newman today to the body of Gavin Grey, 40 year old recluse whose detective stories thrilled many pulp magazine readers.

Newman said the case was obviously a suicide and that Grey, who lived in the Kofa mountains, about 75 miles to the north, had been dead since October. Grey had fashioned his own death chamber from the rough box, equipped with inside fasteners. Officers had to use hammers and heavy bars to reach the body.

A note on the cabin door, addressed to "who comes along," gave a detailed description of how Grey intended to take his life with poison.

Prosecution Closes Case in Peanut Machine Trial

The government yesterday completed its mail fraud case against seven officials and employés of Burel & Co., peanut machine vendors, on trial before a jury in the federal District court of Judge Charles E. Woodward. Prosecutors contend that midwest investors lost $337,000 in the company. The chief defendants are Emil J. Burel and his brother, Alois.

BROOKFIELD ZOO PROGRAM CUT TO FIT WAR INCOME

Sharp Reduction Seen by Backers.

The war has brought a degree of uncertainty to the coming year's activities at Brookfield zoo, it was reported yesterday at the annual meeting of the Chicago Zoölogical society in the Palmer House.

"We are looking forward to the coming year with considerable trepidation," said Stanley Field, one of the trustees. "No new construction is contemplated. Because of the war and bad tax collections, we cannot make any definite plans."

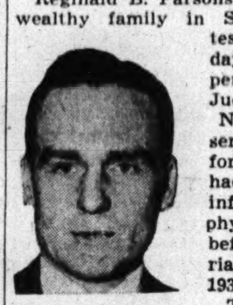
Field reported that as a result of tire rationing, visits to the zoo might be cut down in 1942 and revenue thus reduced. He also declared that plans for blackouts at the zoo are being prepared by Director Edward H. Bean and his son, Robert, assistant director.

Increases in attendance at the zoo during 1941 were noted. In 1940, 1,395,000 persons attended, and in the last year, 1,516,000. The greatest crowd was on July 20, when 44,549 attended and the smallest on March 3, when only six persons visited the animals.

John T. McCutcheon, Tribune cartoonist, was reëlected president of the society. Also renamed were John P. Kellogg, John Wentworth, and Clay Judson, vice presidents, and Solomon A. Smith, treasurer. Robert Bean was named secretary to take the place of Graham Aldis, who is serving as a captain in the army.

HUSBAND TAKES STAND TO FIGHT EX-WIFE'S CLAIM

Reginald B. Parsons, member of a wealthy family in Seattle, Wash., testifying yesterday in the Superior court of Judge Grover C. Niemeyer, asserted that his former wife Lily had been fully informed of his physical condition before their marriage in Berlin in 1935.



Reginald Parsons.

The ex-wife, now Mrs. Lloyd Reighley, has testified that she obtained an annulment in the German courts because she was unable to live a normal married life with Parsons. She is suing to compel the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, as trustee of a fund for Parsons, to pay her $1,000 a month under a contract signed when they separated in 1936.

Parsons said that at the time he had not understood the difference between an annulment and a divorce. He is seeking to void the payments on the ground that the marriage was a part of a conspiracy to obtain money from him.

INTER-CITY BUS LINES WILL ASK 10 PER CENT FARE BOOST OF ICC

Seek Effective Date Same as for Rail Passenger Rate.

The nation's inter-city bus lines today will make their first move in seeking a blanket 10 per cent increase in passenger fares, L. G. Markel, chairman of the National Bus Traffic association, said here last night.

Passenger fare increases of approximately 10 per cent were granted to the railroads by the Interstate Commerce commission Wednesday. Markel said the bus lines will ask the ICC to make their increases effective at the time the higher railroad fares go into effect.

Will File Application Today.

Markel said he will forward to the ICC today an application for authority to publish the new tariffs to be effective in 10 days instead of the 30 days' notice normally required. If approved, the companies will file new tariffs immediately.

Unlike the railroads, the bus companies also must have approval of most state governments. Eight of the 46 states which regulate bus fares require the lines to obtain prior authority for increases. Most of the others control rates in a manner similar to the ICC method, Markel said, with increases automatically effective a certain period after filing unless protested.

The application to be filed today will cover about 80 per cent of the traffic of association members, and the remainder will be covered in supplements. The association, Markel said, represents more than 95 per cent of the nation's bus traffic.

Says Operating Costs Rise.

The proposed changes will not affect rates for military travel, he said.

Markel asserted increased operating costs, including labor and materials, "have been similar to if not in excess of increased costs of the railroads." The bus industry believes also, he added, that "at the present time the relationship between railroad coach and bus fares should not be disturbed."

It would be impossible to give any accurate forecast of the additional revenue which would result from the proposed increases, he said, predicting that in 1942 the buses will handle more traffic than ever before.

SURFACE LINES' TRAFFIC UP 7 PCT. IN 12 DAY PERIOD

Riding on the Chicago Surface lines increased nearly 7 per cent for the first 12 days of this month, compared with travel for the same period last year, Edward C. Burke, assistant auditor, testified yesterday at a hearing before the Illinois Commerce commission. Burke's statement was made under cross-examination by Assistant Attorney General William R. Morgan on the lines' petition for an increase in fares from 7 to 8 cents.

For the 12 day period the number of riders was 22,479,311 this year, against 21,034,365 in 1941, and revenues were $1,557,566, compared with $1,453,450. It was suggested that the automobile and tire rationing program and subzero weather were factors in the increase. The hearing will be continued today.

COURT APPROVES PLAN TO REVAMP HUPP MOTOR CAR

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 22 (AP).—United States District Judge Frank Picard approved a reorganization plan for the Hupp Motor car corporation today and ordered it submitted to stockholders by Feb. 11. The court set Feb. 16 for a hearing at which the reorganization would be confirmed.

The plan provides for cash payment in full of all claims save that of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The RFC claim would be reduced to $550,000 by an immediate payment and the remainder of the obligation liquidated by monthly payments of $25,000 with 4 per cent interest.

Former common stock of $10 par value would be exchanged for new stock at $1 a share.

EXPECT 30,000 IN CITY DURING CONVENTIONS OF FOOD INDUSTRIES

More than 30,000 visitors representing many phases of the food industry will be in Chicago next week for conventions of the National Canners association and a number of affiliated organizations, it was predicted yesterday.

The canners association will meet at the Stevens hotel. Among other groups to be in convention here are the Canning Machinery and Supplies association, at the Stevens, the National Food Brokers association, in the Palmer House, and the National-American Wholesale Grocers association, in the Drake hotel.

Leading authorities in the food field, both civilian and government officials, will speak before the convention meetings.

Further swelling the list of visitors will be the spring market opening in the apparel, dry goods, general merchandise, gift wares, and variety goods fields. The Chicago Association of Commerce forecast more than 18,000 out-of-town retail store representatives will attend at some time during the three weeks market.

MIDWEST TRUCK FIRMS AGREE TO 13% WAGE RAISE

Settlement of the labor dispute involving 250,000 truck drivers in 12 midwest states moved a step nearer solution yesterday as the employers' negotiating committee announced wage increases averaging 13 per cent will be made effective immediately. The negotiations have been in progress two days in the Hotel Sherman.

The employers' spokesman declined to elaborate on this announcement, except to say that back wages will be withheld pending a final settlement. The national defense mediation board decision Dec. 29 provided that the increases were to be retroactive to Nov. 15.

Boosts Old Contract Rate.

The negotiating committee representing the unions, the AFL teamsters' organization, interpreted the announcement to mean that the wage increases will be added to pay rates under the old contract.

The question of whether local wage differentials are to be incorporated into the final agreement, or negotiated later as riders, remains to be decided, along with a number of clauses governing working rules. The mediation board's decision on wage increases left these questions unsettled.

Effective as of Monday.

The government conciliators, Thomas F. Neblett, Washington, of the national war labor board, and Joseph Keenan, Chicago, representative of the labor division of the Office of Production Management, said payment of the increased wages will be effective as of last Monday.

Negotiations will be resumed at 10 o'clock today. Several participants, who declined to be quoted, predicted a final settlement will be reached at today's parley.

ROBERT O'BRIEN NAMED TO SEC BY ROOSEVELT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22.—President Roosevelt today nominated Robert H. O'Brien as a member of the Securities and Exchange commission. O'Brien, who is director of the SEC's public utility division, will fill the vacancy created by appointment of Edward C. Eicher, who was chairman of the commission, to be chief justice of the District court here.

Robert H. O'Brien.

Simultaneously, the White House announced that Robert E. Healy, only original member of the SEC since its creation in 1934, has withdrawn his resignation from the commission after Mr. Roosevelt personally requested it. Healy offered his resignation in protest against elevation of Ganson Purcell to the chairmanship to succeed Eicher.

O'Brien, a native of Butte, Mont., was graduated from the University of Chicago law school in 1932 and is a member of the Illinois bar. He was formerly associated with Chapman and Cutler in Chicago.

House Group Approves Federal Guayule Project

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—A house agriculture subcommittee approved today a bill to authorize the agriculture department to plant up to 75,000 acres of guayule and other domestic rubber bearing plants. It substituted for a condemnation section authority to pay 2 million dollars for the guayule project of the Intercontinental Rubber company in California.

Explain Chicago Power Status

The Chicago area is more plentifully supplied with electric power than other industrial centers, but it is impossible to predict what the situation will be if the government establishes additional arms plants in the district, officials of Commonwealth Edison company said last night.

Commenting on the prediction by federal power authorities that the nation will run into a serious power shortage this year, the company officials said that whether Chicago has a shortage will depend on the size of the new load that may be put on Edison facilities by future expansions of war production.

[Congress was warned yesterday that the nation may have to ration electric power within the year. Story on page 9.]

Influenced Plant Building.

The fact that the Chicago area power pool, one of the largest in the world, was ready to handle a large additional load played a big part in selection of Chicago as the site for much war plant construction and expansion, it was said.

Commonwealth Edison and its subsidiaries serve an 11,000 square mile area which embraces northern Illinois and has Chicago as its hub.

The company is in the midst of a 100 million dollar expansion which will be spread over the next three years and which will add 315,000 kilowatts of capacity in the next two years. The 1944 phase of the program calls only for the usual amount of replacements and construction with no large project scheduled.

At the end of 1944, according to plans, the company will have close to 2,500,000 kilowatts of generating capacity, compared with 2,145,000 at present. None of the new 315,000 kilowatts of capacity will be available in 1942, but some will be in 1943.

The biggest load that Edison has been called upon to carry so far this winter is about 1,800,000 kilowatts, which means that its margin of capacity over any demand so far is 345,000 kilowatts. The peak load usually occurs during the hour from 5 to 6 p. m. when the residential lighting requirement is added to the tail-end factory power period and when the transportation rush puts a heavy demand on the street car and elevated systems.

The advent of daylight saving time on Feb. 9 is expected to ease this peak load by postponing for an hour the flow of power needed for residential lighting and commercial electric signs. The change in time, it is estimated, will increase the effective capacity of the Chicago district power pool by 75,000 to 100,000 kilowatts.

Would Limit Use of Signs.

If a power shortage should develop in this area, making a rationing of electricity necessary, the first step probably would be to limit or bar the use of current for commercial signs, it was said.

The efforts of Commonwealth Edison to push thru its expansion projects and keep ahead of the rapidly growing demand for power has been hindered to some extent by raw material priorities regulations, which have slowed deliveries of equipment ordered by the company.

Agree to Relax Labor Laws if War Needs It

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22 (AP).—Spokesmen for more than a million AFL and CIO union members in Illinois today agreed in principle to a relaxation of state labor laws where necessary to maintain war production, Gov. Dwight Green's office announced.

An agreement dealing with administration of the women's eight hour day and the six day week laws during the war emergency was reached, a statement said, at an executive mansion conference attended by 40 labor leaders.

The statement said Director Francis B. Murphy of the state department of labor had propounded rules under which employers engaged in defense production would be permitted to go beyond the labor laws if they were confronted with a labor shortage.

All Representatives Agree.

"Gov. Green said that in his opinion it would be preferable to relax labor laws on an administrative basis rather than thru legislative amendment," the statement said. "All of the labor representatives agreed."

A conference spokesman said the group agreed to a plan under which the governor would appoint a four member advisory board of labor representatives to consult with Director Murphy on administration.

Also discussed was the creation of a state labor mediation board, by executive order rather than by legislation, to aid in settlement of labor disputes. No decision on that subject was announced.

Ray Edmundson, Illinois regional director of the CIO, was quoted as saying his organization would "give fullest production possible to win this war against dictatorship."

Promises 100 Pct. Coöperation.

R. G. Soderstrom, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, was quoted as commenting:

"You can depend upon 100 per cent coöperation from the State Federation of Labor. At the same time we don't want to lose the gains we have won. We agree that any relaxation of labor standards should be made on an administrative basis, but want some sort of setup that will insure adequate investigation of the need for relaxation and protection of the workers."

Rules proposed by Director Murphy provided that:

An employer must furnish proof that a substantial majority of his employés are engaged in war production before either the six day week or eight hour day laws could be relaxed; he must prove there is a labor shortage; he must agree to pay time and one-half or double time for overtime work, and must submit periodic reports to the state and agree to periodic inspections by state agents.

Permit Gasoline Price Hike Thru 15 Eastern States

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—A three-tenths of a cent a gallon increase on all grades of gasoline sold in 15 eastern and southern states was approved today by the Office of Price Administration.

DEPARTMENT STORES ENJOY BUYING SPREE; SALES UP 45% IN CITY

Increased realization that the all-out war effort will sharply curtail civilian production created a buying spree in department stores last week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday.

In the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district sales were 47 per cent above the corresponding week a year ago, the largest year-to-year gain recorded since the bank began keeping weekly records four years ago. District sales were 11 per cent larger than in the preceding week.

Chicago sales were 45 per cent larger than a year ago and 15 per cent larger than in the preceding week. The federal reserve board reported that for the nation as a whole department store sales were 45 per cent larger than a year ago.

For the four weeks ended last Saturday, compared with the corresponding period a year before, district sales were up 35 per cent, Chicago sales 32 per cent, and the nation's sales 36 per cent.

SAY F. D. R. ASKS AFL-CIO TRUCE UNTIL WAR ENDS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—President Roosevelt was reported tonight to have proposed to leaders of the AFL and the CIO that they declare a truce for the duration of the war and name a joint committee to settle differences as they arise.

Such a truce, it was said, would be a blow to John L. Lewis' recent proposal that the two hostile labor groups resume negotiations, broken off two years ago, looking toward a unified movement.

The President's suggestion, said to have been made at unannounced White House conferences with CIO and AFL leaders today and yesterday, was reported to call for a committee of three from each organization.

William Green and George Meany, president and secretary respectively of the AFL, conferred secretly with Mr. Roosevelt today, and Philip Murray, CIO president, was understood to have made a hurried trip from New York to the White House yesterday.

AFL leaders were reported to have given the President's proposal their unqualified approval, with the proviso that John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers and former CIO head, not be a member of the committee. The CIO executive board is expected to consider the matter at a meeting in New York tomorrow or Saturday.

SIMPLIFICATION OF ENTIRE TAX SYSTEM URGED

Simplification of the entire tax system was urged yesterday by Frank E. Seidman, certified public accountant and tax authority, in a speech before the Chicago Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants in the American Furniture Mart.

"The time, energy and money being spent in trying to understand tax laws and fill out a multiplicity of tax returns means diverting these energies from the production of arms, munitions and ships," Seidman declared. "Furthermore, the large number of employés needed by the government to handle the tax system takes many men away from jobs to be filled in war production."

Seidman listed as a possibility a new withholding tax on gross income of from 5 to 10 per cent, a portion of which may go into a "forced saving" fund to be returned by the government at the close of the war.

PLANT CONTRACT TOTAL IS BELOW 1941 IN CHICAGO

New industrial construction and additions totaling $12,540,000 were authorized for the Chicago district in the first three weeks of January, compared with $14,588,000 in the corresponding period of 1941, Leverett S. Lyon, chief executive officer of the Chicago Association of Commerce, announced yesterday.

The cumulative total of all new industrial construction in the Chicago area since the arms program started in June, 1940, exceeds 375 million dollars. The largest projects announced thus far this year are for a torpedo plant and an aviation gasoline plant.

Court Upholds Assessing of Policyholders

The Appellate court yesterday affirmed a ruling of Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan authorizing Roy D. Keehn, as receiver of the defunct Central Mutual Insurance company, to levy a 100 per cent assessment against its policyholders in an amount approximating 5 million dollars.

Roy D. Keehn.

The levy was proposed by the receiver, who after liquidating the company, found that there were 2,644 claims outstanding, aggregating a total of $4,500,000. Keehn then asked the court to order the levy on the 40,000 to 50,000 policyholders scattered thruout 16 states and the District of Columbia. He said that the 100 per cent levy was necessary to assure payment of claims.

The auditors' report showed the value of the company's assets aggregated $253,274 while its liabilities were $3,272,667.

Judge Finnegan's order held that the levy should be made against those holding policies in the firm during the period from Feb. 1, 1935, to Jan. 11, 1937, the day the firm was closed. It directed that the policyholders be levied for the equivalent of the annual premiums on their policies for each of the years.

The company appealed from the order, setting forth that the receiver had no power to levy any assessment against mutual insurance companies.

Chicago Urged to Seize War Given Chance

If Chicago is to take advantage of the opportunities for its advancement caused by the war activity, it must act at once to put orderly planning into effect, with special emphasis on wiping out its slum areas. This warning was given yesterday by Prof. William L. Bailey, Northwestern university authority on city planning, in a statement issued in Evanston disclosing the findings of a survey of comparative city ratings.

Bailey said that as the safest major city in the United States from air raids and as the potential hub of wartime industry, Chicago should be "cashing in" as a second capital of the country. But the lack of planning which in part has been responsible for the slum areas is preventing the city from assuming the position of leadership which it should have.

Rates City 21st on List.

Bailey ranked Chicago 21st among the cities in his survey. Ratings are based on wage rates, cost of living, death rate, infant mortality, percentage of population married, church membership, child labor, parks, pavement, fire losses, public properties, library circulation, school attendance, school property, teachers' salaries, pupils per teacher, illiteracy, spoken English, rates of rent, home ownership, and other factors.

"Following the city's rapid rise to its peak about 1910, Chicago has declined as a model city due to lack of planning," Prof. Bailey said. "While other cities were becoming conscious of their needs, and newer cities were growing up with the advantages of modern knowledge and materials, Chicago did no planning.

"Thus New York and Boston, among the older cities, have held their own rank above Chicago, while Seattle and Los Angeles have advanced markedly and head the list."

Cites Blight Ring Around Loop.

Prof. Bailey said the major problem facing the city in rehabilitating itself is the reclamation of the blighted midtown district which rings the loop.

"This section, formerly residential and then invaded by industrial plants, has become increasingly greater slums, creating problems of transportation, utilities, high rents, and wasted time and effort, all of which tend to produce other disorders. The city must take official cognizance of this region and begin at once to build it up, or the city's downward trend will continue."

Prof. Bailey said that the slum districts can be eradicated only thru large developments; it cannot be accomplished thru piecemeal efforts. Such development should be done by private capital, he declared, and there are huge amounts available for such work.

Bailey said that the city's two largest suburbs, Evanston and Oak Park, rank with the highest seven communities in the country.

PREDICT 50 PER CENT REDUCTION IN MOTORING BY CLOSE OF YEAR

Road Officials See Big Revenue Cut at Same Time.

BY HAL FOUST.

A dark future for automobile transportation and road building was depicted yesterday at the opening session of the annual Mississippi valley conference of state highway officials. The discussions, behind closed doors in the Stevens hotel, will continue thru tomorrow. Eighteen states are represented.

Walter A. Rosenfield.

Matt Fleming, chief engineer of the Illinois highway department, reported that the volume of travel on main roads of this state has shrunk 15 per cent since the attack on Pearl Harbor. He predicted that revenue from the Illinois gasoline tax in 1942 will drop 35 per cent below that of 1941. Passenger car operation by the end of the year, in the judgment of the engineers, will be 50 per cent less than last year.

Road Building Only for War.

Walter A. Rosenfield, director of public works of Illinois, forecast that for the duration of the war road construction will probably be limited to requirements of the army, the navy and the War Production board. He said he believes in this category will be included a modernization of important routes, such as U. S. 66 between Chicago and St. Louis, that are used by defense industries and deteriorating too rapidly to last thru a long war.

"Authoritative reports from Washington," said the director, "indicate that the ordinary civilian uses of passenger cars will be ended as present tires wear out. They will be ended until the Japanese are beaten in the far Pacific, and this date can't be estimated."

Bike Paths May Be Prime Need.

"Before the war is ended," said Assistant Director Jack Palmer, "we may need bicycle paths more than we need superhighways. It's no jesting matter. Washington officials don't even see where there's going to be enough rubber for workers to travel between the arms plants and their homes. The workers may have to live in tents or barracks near the munition factories.

"Under these conditions, we cer-

TWO YEAR STOCK OF AUTO PARTS ORDERED BY WPB

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—The War Production board today cleared the way for immediate production of a huge stock pile of spare parts for future use in passenger cars and light trucks.

This step was taken, the board said, to get the problem of spare parts out of the way quickly so that the portion of the automobile industry devoted to parts could be more speedily converted to war production.

The new order would permit producers to make during the first half of this year and one and one-half times the number of each of the parts sold by them during the entire calendar year of 1941.

Would Meet 2 Years Needs.

The board said it believed enough parts could be produced during the six months period to cover all demands this year and next.

The limitations after June 30 would not apply to parts made for military, naval, government, lend-lease, and foreign government use.

A suitable preference rating was given producers and suppliers to assure them sufficient materials to triple their manufacture of spare parts during the period.

Seeks to Free Tools.

"War demands for the skilled labor and machine tools heretofore employed in producing replacement parts make it necessary, while certain facilities are still available, to build up ample supplies within the next few months for essential requirements," the board said.

Earlier, the board issued a new priorities order to facilitate production of spare parts for medium and heavy trucks, truck trailers, passenger carriers, and school bus bodies. At the same time, however, it ordered production of these parts for the first half of 1942 restricted to 60 per cent of the producer's sales during the last half of 1941.

Have You Chosen Sound Investment Management?

In managing your own investments you may obtain outside advice occasionally, or you may be systematic about it—like customers using our Supervised Agency Service. But in either case you make your own final decisions.

Yet, sooner or later, your management of your property must end. Sound investment judgment will be even more necessary, without your own earning power and management, if members of your family are to receive the benefits you want them to have from your estate.

By leaving all or part of your estate in trusts, created during your lifetime or by your will, you can select an experienced and responsible trustee to manage the funds. Trusts have many additional advantages. You may provide a life income for your wife, provide for your children, and further other financial objectives. Properly arranged trusts often substantially reduce estate costs.

• • •

You and your lawyer are invited to discuss your investment program, the application of trusts to your estate, and other phases of estate planning with officers of our Trust Department. Such a talk will be in confidence and implies no obligation whatever on your part.

RAILROAD STOCKS UP SLIGHTLY, DUE TO FARE INCREASE

But Some Lose Gains; List Generally Irregular.

New York, Jan. 22 (AP).—Rail stocks made the principal advances in today's market and even they failed to exhibit a great deal of bullishness over the passenger fare increase granted by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The carriers were out in front at the start with gains running to a point or more. Other groups also steadied. Buying soon fell off and top marks were reduced in most cases. At the close a fair assortment of declines made for moderate irregularity.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was unchanged at 37.3. Dealings dwindled after the brief early swing and transfers for the full proceedings fell to 429,670 shares, second smallest turnover for five hours since Oct. 3. It compared with 583,850 Wednesday.

The Rail Situation.

The thought that the fare boost indicated the ICC also would allow a 10 per cent lift in freight rates was helpful, as was a more than seasonal upturn in last week's freight loadings.

Scant speculative inspiration was derived from the far Pacific war news and worries still were present regarding enemy submarines off the Atlantic coast. Tax fears remained as another bullish handicap.

Stocks retaining modest improvement included Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Great Northern, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, United States Steel, Bethlehem, American Smelting, Greyhound corporation, Yellow Truck, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, Dow Chemical, and Union Carbide.

In arrears were General Motors, Chrysler, Anaconda, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Eastman Kodak, International Harvester, Deere, Caterpillar Tractor, Sperry, United States Rubber and Goodyear.

Motors again had to contend with the prospects that new passenger car building for private consumers would be out for the duration. Scrap shortage continued to confront the steels.

CHICAGO PRICES SAG.

Prices continued to move unevenly into lower ground on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Of 96 issues traded, 24 advanced, 49 declined, and 23 closed unchanged. Transactions totaled 17,000 shares.

Of actively traded stocks, Central and South West and General Motors closed unchanged, Commonwealth Edison declined ⅝ and Santa Fe advanced ¼. In the half hour after the close in New York, General Electric and General Motors advanced ⅛ and Nash Kelvinator declined ⅛.

WAR AGENCY AIDS UNPERTURBED BY SHIFT OF BOSSES

Chicago Attitude Is It's Happened Before.

A "this has happened before" attitude prevailed yesterday in Chicago offices of field and regional offshoots of the numerous federal agencies which have just been reshuffled by Donald M. Nelson, the new top man in the war production effort.

Thomas S. McEwan.

The 100 or more employés of the various Office of Production Management offices in the Civic Opera building registered little perturbation about the rise of new stars and the fall of other former key officials.

"It's no shakeup," one former OPM subexecutive said. "We call it a realignment. We will just keep on doing our work in the field but we will have to work harder and have to learn new names and new alphabetical symbols. Later there will be new policies. And I think they will have more weight with Don Nelson at the top."

Local Officials Enthusiastic.

Chicago executives of the now abolished OPM were enthusiastic over the reorganization. They praised the streamlining of the previous, more ponderous organization and the increased centralization of decision making in one man.

"The change is welcome in the middle west," said Malcolm R. Macdonald, Chicago district manager of the priorities field service. He predicted that it would effect "greater efficiency and dispatch."

Thomas S. McEwan, district manager of the contract distribution division, declared that efforts to spread war production more widely among Chicago area companies will be benefited by the revision.

Favored Change, Says Odlum.

He said he received the following telegram from Floyd B. Odlum, former director of the division:

"The Washington functions and operations of the division of contract distribution are to be merged with the production division of the new War Production board and will be under the immediate direction of W. H. Harrison, director of that division. This is a part of the streamlining of the war effort under the direction of Donald Nelson. This change not only meets with my approval but was recommended by me some time ago.

"I was certain that the change will make the work of your field offices more important and effective. I very deeply appreciate the important work which you have so loyally and devotedly performed for the government."

Veterans of the short lived contract division in Chicago recalled that a similar message was sent last fall by Robert L. Mehornay, Kansas City, Mo., furniture man, when he stepped down as chief of the OPM defense contract service.

Field Units Unaffected.

Altho the name was changed to the contract distribution division, under Odlum, and some of the policies were altered, the field units remained unaffected, except for mushrooming expansion of personnel and branches, employés said.

Walter H. Wheeler Jr., who has been director of the field offices, succeeds Odlum as head of the contract distribution division and will be responsible to Harrison, director of the production division. Nelson indicated, however, that a separate division may be created later to take over subcontracting activities and the priorities administration.

The Chicago offshoots of the War Production board and their executives follow:

Priorities field service, Bruce W. Burroughs, regional director, and Macdonald, district manager; training within industry, Paul A. Mertz, district manager; information division, Paul H. Jordan, regional information officer; regional labor supply committee, Eugene J. Brock, chairman, and Michael H. Hall, regional labor representative, and contract distribution division, McEwan, district manager.

WARNS INFLATION CURBS THUS FAR ARE VALUELESS

Lewis H. Brown, president of Johns-Manville corporation, told a convention of 200 home insulation executives and contractors in the Edgewater Beach hotel yesterday that the government has taken no effective action to control inflation. He said inflation will increase unless immediate steps are taken to "put reasonable price ceilings over farm products and wages, side by side with other price and profit controls."

If inflation should get out of control, it would not be the kind experienced in the last war "when everybody had a silk shirt," he said, warning that "this time we may not have any shirt."

Brown said the free enterprise system in America ceased to exist "for the duration" when Japan attacked Pearl Harbor. He declared that "to win this war, strong central direction from Washington will be our law."

Copper Industry Facing Wide Priorities Checkup

An industry-wide investigation of copper fabricators to enforce compliance with priorities regulations will be started immediately by the War Production board's priorities compliance section, it was announced yesterday. Attorney-examiners borrowed from the Federal Trade commission will inspect plants of 90 primary copper fabricators. They will interview company officials, examine receipts of virgin copper and copper scrap, and of deliveries and inventories.

Utility Ouster Case Appeal Is Lost in High Court Decision

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 22 (AP).—The Illinois Supreme court today refused to reconsider its decision in the far reaching "Geneseo case" that municipalities have the right to oust privately owned utilities when their franchises expire.

Closing the door to further litigation in the state Supreme court, the tribunal in effect affiirmed two previous decisions permitting evictions of privately owned power firms to make way for publicly owned systems. Attorneys for the utilities have indicated they plan an appeal to the United States Supreme court.

Others Join Appeal.

The court today denied without comment a petition for reconsideration of its opinion authorizing the city of Geneseo and the village of Heyworth to compel the Illinois Northern Utilities company and the Central Illinois Electric and Gas company to take their equipment from city streets. Other utilities whose franchises have expired or are about to expire in other cities joined in the appeal.

In its decision last year, the court rejected utility company contentions that the state commerce commission had power to authorize power firms to operate altho local franchises had expired.

Chicago's Position

The ruling by the Illinois Supreme court upholding the right of municipalities to require removal of utilities' equipment from city streets at the expiration of franchises strengthens the city of Chicago's hand in dealing with local transit companies. This opinion was expressed yesterday by William H. Sexton, city traction counsel.

Sexton said the city could require the Chicago Motor Coach [bus] company to obtain a city franchise and could force the Chicago Surface lines to take up track and poles not in daily use. It was indicated, however, that immediate action along this line was unlikely.

PREDICT 50 PCT. CUT IN MOTORING BY END OF YEAR

Road Officials Warn of Revenue Drop.

tainly can't plan now for postwar construction. We don't know what year this will be. We don't know how many automobiles will be owned under postwar economic conditions. We can't estimate now much money will be available for road building."

"We can't be sure where new pavements will be most needed after the war," added F. N. Barker, research engineer for the Illinois department. "We don't know what payements will be worn out in the meantime.

Cites Shifts in Population.

"Because many industries are being killed by the war and because other big industrial plants are being built at new locations, there are radical shifts in employment concentrations and residential concentrations are, also moving. We don't know the postwar paths of travel concentration altho we can be fairly certain we'll need good roads on direct routes between larger cities."

By 1943 Illinois highway department finances are expected to be in a desperate plight because of the reduction in motoring brought about by the rubber shortage. For 1942 the revenue from license plates is expected to hold up fairly well because all of the present automobiles will be able to operate at least a part of the year.

Revenue Loss a Blow to Building.

The license collections in 1941 netted 26 million dollars. Approximating this figure are so-called fixed obligations, road bond requirements, maintenance, policing, engineering and administration, and lesser items.

With no reduction in gasoline tax revenue, the Illinois department would have 15.2 million dollars from this source for construction in 1942. Of this, 5.9 million dollars is needed for matching federal allotments, leaving 9.3 millions for construction without federal aid. With a 35 per cent drop in the gasoline tax this year, there will be about 4.3 millions for construction aside from the federal projects.

For 1943, with a cut of only 35 per cent in both license fees and gasoline revenue, the minimum drop in the engineers' estimates, the department's income will fall below what it considers its fixed obligations. Gross revenue would approximate 22 millions, as compared with obligations of 25.6 millions.

SCRAP SHORTAGE INCREASES USE OF UPPER LAKES ORE

Cleveland, O., Jan. 22 (AP).—The scrap iron shortage boosted December consumption of upper lakes iron ore to a record 7,061,981 gross tons, the Lake Superior Iron Ore association reported today.

This was an increase of 449,795 tons over last October's previous monthly peak of 6,612,186 gross tons, and brought last year's consumption to a record of 76,335,682 tons. The previous yearly high was 63,646,000 tons in 1929.

Due to scarcity of scrap, a larger than customary percentage of ore is being used by the steel industry in making pig iron, the report indicated.

TELL HOSPITALS NOT TO WAIT FOR U. S. FINANCE AID

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 [Special].—Hospitals thruout the nation were advised today by Baird Snyder III., assistant federal works administrator, to try to arrange their financing programs without awaiting aid from defense public works grants or loans.

This statement by Snyder, acting for Federal Works Administrator Philip B. Fleming, was made by way of warning to a large number of hospitals which, he was informed, are delaying fund raising or other financial programs for expansion of facilities while they await decisions on applications to FWA.

Reappointment of 5 Men to RFC Board Confirmed

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—The senate confirmed unanimously today the nominations for reappointment of five members of the board of directors of the Reconstruction Finance corporation whose terms expired today. The reappointments, for two years, were: Charles B. Henderson of Nevada, Sam Husbands of South Carolina, Howard J. Klossner of Minnesota, Henry A. Mulligan of New York, and Charles T. Fisher Jr. of Michigan.

FREIGHT CARLOADINGS RISE 10 PCT. IN WEEK FOR TOTAL OF 811,196

Railroad carloadings of revenue freight last week totaled 811,196, a 10 per cent gain over the previous week and the largest number for any parallel week since 1930, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. Bolstered by more than seasonal increases in miscellaneous freight and grain loadings, the week's total raised the Dow-Jones carloading index [1927-'41, inclusive, equals 100] from 106.4 to 118.6, the highest point since the record week of Dec. 20, 1941, when it reached 124.5.

The association's report classified the loadings as follows:

AUTO WORKERS BACK MURRAY, ASSAIL LEWIS

New York, Jan. 22 (AP).—Pledging solid support to Philip Murray, CIO president, in any move for labor unification, the executive board of the United Automobile Workers [CIO] today severely criticized the manner in which John L. Lewis recently made a peace proposal.

In a formal resolution the board charged that the proposal by Lewis, formerly CIO president but now head of the United Mine Workers [CIO], was "a gross violation of the democratic principles which have always been accepted and cherished by the members of CIO unions for the administration of their affairs."

Murray, in response to Lewis' suggestion for resumption of peace talks with the AFL, sent a letter to Lewis Monday in which he emphasized that any CIO peace move should come thru the CIO president's office. He agreed, however, to submit Lewis' proposal to the CIO executive council which meets here Saturday.

MOVIE CONSENT DECREE TERMED PARTIAL RELIEF

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—The justice department said today that a year's experience with a consent decree governing relations between motion picture producers and exhibitors had not "demonstrated that film licensing discriminations inherent in ownership of theaters by distributors may be effectively remedied by measures short of divorcement."

The department said, however, that the decree, entered in New York federal court late in 1940, "has certainly already supplied some relief to a substantial number of exhibitors from certain unfair trade practices."

Call Strike at Eight Coal Mines in Peoria District

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 22 (AP).—Ray Tombazzi, organizer for the Amalgamated Progressive Miners, announced local 172 of the union voted tonight to strike at eight coal mines in the Peoria and Pottstown area. He estimated 150 men were involved. The strike was voted, Tombazzi said, when operators deferred signing contracts calling for prevailing wage rates.

SOY BEANS RISE WITHIN SHADOW OF $2 A BUSHEL

Reflects Seriousness of Fats Situation.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Influenced by the seriousness of the fats and oils situation, soy beans advanced to within a shadow of the $2 a bushel mark yesterday. The July delivery reached $1.99½ while May contracts at $1.98 were within 4 cents of the all-time high set last fall.

The bean market led a new advance in the prices of all grains on the Chicago Board of Trade. Prices closed 1⅞ to 2¼ cents net higher after gaining as much as 3 cents earlier. Rye rose as much as 2 cents a bushel and all deliveries closed at new seasonal highs, the best levels since 1937. Corn was up about a cent and wheat and oats fractions.

The department of agriculture predicted the largest domestic demand for fats and oils in more than 20 years. It said that more than 60 per cent of total imports of fats and oils in recent months has originated in the western Pacific—an amount that represents more than one-third of the total United States consumption.

Argentina Boosting Price.

Meanwhile, Argentina advised American buyers that it was advancing its price for flaxseed 21⅞ cents a bushel yesterday. This represents a 32 cent advance in the last month. Oil dealers say the United States must obtain a large portion of its flaxseed from Argentina, the seed to be used in making linseed oil.

Only last week the oil refiners contracted with the Surplus Marketing association to sell it 22,400,000 pounds of edible linseed oil to be given Russia under lend-lease. They said the bulk of the flax for making this oil would have to come from Argentina.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard yesterday requested the farmers to step up their production of soy beans 52 per cent this year. This means that Illinois, the No. 1 producer, will have to harvest a crop of 100 million bushels. Wickard said the production of all oil and fat producing farm products must be increased considerably if Americans are to continue to have cooking oils, soap, paints, varnishes, etc.

Eastern Buyers Active.

Eastern manufacturers continued to buy large lots of corn in Chicago as processors foresaw the sugar shortage turning more and more industries to corn sugars. It was estimated more than ½ million bushels of corn have been sold for shipment to the east in the last two days.

Grain men said the outlook for supplies of corn for food purposes appeared less favorable than they had anticipated. While the nation has the largest supply of corn on record, farmers are feeding it at a record rate and the processors are taking record amounts. The supply of government owned corn is expected to be exhausted within three months if consumption continues at its present rate, grain men said.

ASPHALT PRICE CONFERENCE TO BE HELD TODAY

Asphalt industry representatives will confer this morning in the Stevens hotel with Office of Price Production administration officials on the prevailing price structure in the industry. More than 100 companies have been invited to the meeting.

The industry last Dec. 10 was requested by Price Administrator Leon Henderson to freeze 1942 contract prices at levels current on Jan. 1, 1941. Open market prices, the OPA said, have risen substantially thruout the country.

About 75 per cent of roofing asphalts are sold under annual calendar contracts with only a small quantity sold on the open market at prices usually slightly higher than contract terms, the OPA explained. Paving asphalt usually is sold thru competitive bidding.

New Watchdog for Electrical Power Systems Passes Tests

Electrical watchdogs which extinguish short circuit flames with a stream of oil or blasts of compressed air will guard electric power systems against lightning or short circuits caused by bombing or sabotage, engineers of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company disclosed yesterday.

In the first public tests of new power system protective devices at the company's laboratory at East Pittsburgh, army and navy officers and college engineering professors witnessed this scene:

Two 500 ton generators with 300 ton rotors whirling at peak surface speed of four miles a minute were short circuited. Electrical knockout punches released suddenly sent out a torrent of power of 2 million kilowatts, equal in shattering force to 75,000 average lightning bolts, in a path of fire 20 feet long. Old type safety fuses exploded and the detonation of shellfire and six inch logs were reduced to kindling wood.

Flame Quickly Extinguished.

Then, the same short circuit power was unleashed on the new circuit breakers and safety fuses.

The flaming arcs were snuffed out by a gush of oil or the intense gusts of compressed air. The protective devices tamed the wild bursts of electrical energy.

The test charges of electric power simulated the short circuits which can be caused by a bar of steel tossed by a saboteur across the electric circuits of a power station, by the breaking of a power line, by explosives, or other damage.

A. C. Streamer, vice president in charge of the Westinghouse East Pittsburgh division, said that the circuit breakers are automatic guardians of power systems.

Function Is That of Home Fuse.

"Circuit breakers are huge safety switches that function much like the protective fuses in your home," he explained. "Always on watch for trouble on power lines, they instantly localize or quarantine short circuits that would otherwise cripple entire power systems in a few seconds.

"Today, the largest of these safety switches we can build are required to guard the vast power systems which are being interconnected to assure an uninterrupted flow of electricity to our war industries. For the first time, we are now able thru these laboratory tests to assure that breakers will be able to withstand short circuits 20 to 30 times the normal flow of electricity in the power lines they guard."

LATIN AMERICAN CREDIT IMPROVED BY WAR PROMISES

Collection Is Faster, Survey Shows.

Improved political relationships between the United States and Latin American nations as a result of the war have made exporters more confident than before in dealings with the countries to the south, the foreign credit interchange bureau of the National Association of Credit Men reported yesterday.

The bureau, after surveying the experiences of more than 200 manufacturing exporters, said that commercial credit and collections in 21 Latin American nations improved in the last half of 1941.

All Except One Rated "Prompt."

For the second time in 14 years, none of the 21 nations was listed as "slow" or "very slow." All but Costa Rica were rated as "prompt," and the one exception was termed "fairly prompt."

Credit conditions were rated good in Puerto Rico, Mexico, Argentina, Panama, British possessions, Brazil, Cuba, Netherlands possessions, Peru, Venezuela, Uruguay, Colombia, Dominican republic, Guatemala, and El Salvador.

In Chile, Bolivia, Ecuador, Costa Rica, and Haiti credit conditions were "fairly good," exporters told the bureau. No country was listed in the "poor category, but the situation in the French possessions was classed as "very poor."

Sees Further Trade Gains.

"Prospects are excellent that the exports of all kinds of war materials from the majority of the Latin American countries will continue," Kenneth H. Campbell, bureau manager, said. "It is probable that these countries will be asked to increase their production to satisfy the demands of the United States for additional raw materials. There is no doubt that this trend, which has prevailed since 1940, will carry forward. It will be reflected in an improved exchange position and in better commercial credit conditions.

"As a result of the war, the political situations in many of the countries of Latin America have become stable, and this contributes to the confidence United States exporters have toward Latin American countries."

WHOLESALE EGG, BUTTER PRICES UP ABOUT HALF CENT

Wholesale egg and butter prices advanced about ½ cent in Chicago yesterday as supplies arriving from the country continue to fall short of a year ago. Consumption of both commodities, dealers say, is at near record rates and they are having to rely heavily on storage reserves for butter supplies. Best grades of eggs sold at 33½ cents a dozen and butter at 36 cents a pound.

In the futures markets, eggs advanced as much as .35 cent a dozen on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. January contracts recorded the widest gain to close at 33.15 cents a dozen. Uncertainty over the future of eggs in the lend-lease program kept many dealers on the sidelines.

Butter futures sagged as brokers feared the western hemisphere war production plan as outlined would allow heavy imports of Argentine butter and cheese to enter this country to compete with the domestic products. The market closed about ¼ cent lower with January contracts selling at 34.1 cents a pound.

BANKERS URGED TO ARM A FORCE OF VIGILANTES

Needed in Towns, Says T. P. Sullivan.

Illinois bankers were urged yesterday to organize a force of 4,700 town guards to help combat organized robbery, and to turn over to the guards 1,500 sawed off shotguns and 1,000 rifles which the banks obtained when they helped arm a similar force in 1924.

T. P. Sullivan, state director of public safety, made the suggestion in an address at the afternoon session of the Illinois Bankers association at the Palmer House. About 1,000 bankers attended the annual midwinter conference and dinner of the association. Willard T. Chevalier, vice president of the McGraw-Hill Publishing company, addressed the bankers at the dinner.

Sees Increase in Robbery.

Sullivan told the association that organized thievery has been increasing in the rural areas.

"Retail stores are being looted," he said. "Will banks be next on the gangsters' timetable?"

He assailed what he termed a "political party bloc" for defeating Gov. Green's legistlative program, including a proposal to triple the state police force.

A new force of 4,700 town guards is needed, Sullivan said, because the regular law enforcing officers have had to assume new tasks as a result of the war. Gangsters are aware of this, he said.

Cites Success in 1924.

Asserting that town guard organization in 1924 helped halt a statewide wave of bank robberies, Sullivan said the presence of such guards in every community "would go far to help solve an extremely grave problem that is now plainly before us."

A. G. Brown, manager of the agricultural credit department of the American Bankers association, told the bankers that adequacy of credit for agricultural purposes is essential to the success of the government's program to increase food production under the war program.

WHOLESALE PRICES OF FOODS ADVANCE, BUT STAY BELOW '29

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—Wholesale food prices advanced 0.6 per cent during the week ended Jan. 17, but still were 0.3 per cent below the January, 1929, average. They were, however, 11.6 per cent above the same week of 1937.

The bureau of labor statistics, which supplied these figures today, said its weekly index showed an increase of 2.7 per cent since mid-December. The index now stands at 95.6 per cent of the 1926 average.

Farm products, up 2 per cent, led the advance. Foods rose 1.7 per cent; chemicals and allied products and furnishing goods, 0.3 per cent; textile products, building materials and miscellaneous commodities, 0.2 per cent.

PLAN TO BROADEN PROXY RULES HIT BY INDUSTRIALIST

Termed an Unfair Burden on Smaller Firms.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 22 (AP).—The National Association of Manufacturers attacked proxy proposals of the securities industry today as "the most serious threat to business and the most shocking attempt at class legislation on behalf of a special interest."

The views were expressed by Frayser Jones, New York, chairman of the association's subcommittee on industrial financing, as the house interstate commerce committee resumed hearings on approximately 80 changes in the 1934 securities and exchange act proposed by the securities industry and the Securities and Exchange commission.

Broad Application Urged.

The industry has recommended changes in proxy rules to require that issuers submit to security holders prior to meetings the information required by the proxy rules and that the proxy section be made applicable not only to securities registered on national exchanges but also to those having an interstate over the counter market or securities of corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

Representatives of the New York Stock exchange and New York Curb exchange spoke in favor of the change.

Another proposal assailed by Jones would extend to companies engaged in interstate commerce or whose securities are handled in an interstate over-the-counter market the requirements that officers, directors and 10 per cent stock holders report their transactions in equity securities of their companies.

Says Business Is Shocked.

Jones charged the proposal was "devised and presented" without any submission to American businessmen," and "in fact we have known of a number of industrial executives who were astonished to learn that any such proposal had been formally submitted to congress."

He said he could see "no possible justification for casting unjustified burdens on American medium-sized business enterprises just because another segment of the business community had felt the weight of Securities and Exchange commission regulations."

Mercantile National Bank Officers Are All Re-elected

Earnings for the year were $12.16 per share, compared with $10.84 in the preceding year.

REPORT FOREIGN FURNITURE WOOD STOCK IS LARGE

Veneer Association Finds No Scarcity in Sight.

Inventories of imported furniture woods generally are adequate for normal needs and imports of logs from most foreign countries are expected to continue despite the war, the Veneer association reported yesterday after a survey of the industry.

"Stocks on hand of various foreign woods are in many cases sufficient to take care of all requirements for some time into the future," said Frank L. Montgomery, president of the association. "While there are no accurate figures, it is a matter of common knowledge that considerable reserves in logs exist in most of the foreign woods."

1941 Production Larger.

The association has established a war advisory council to coördinate the efforts of veneer manufacturers to supply all foreign and domestic woods required in war industries.

Montgomery reported that production of almost all foreign wood veneers rose sharply in 1941. Output of tropical American mahogany increased 133 per cent over 1940, New Guinea wood from Australia, 35 per cent; primavera from Central America, 75 per cent, and Africa woods, in which shipping difficulties were encountered, 10 per cent.

Output of oak veneers last year expanded 104 per cent compared with 1940 production, and of walnut veneers 21 per cent. Production of all types of veneers in 1941 increased 30 per cent.

No Shortages in Sight.

Montgomery emphasized that there is no impending shortage of foreign woods. He said:

"It is quite true that in times of war, such as at present, it is foolhardy to predict what may take place in the future. Nevertheless, informed quarters have every reason to believe that importations of logs from most foreign ports will continue as heretofore, and in sufficient quantities to take care of all reasonable demands of the trade. It is also expected that a considerable demand for veneers cut from foreign woods will materialize for war purposes."

The Mahogany association in a separate industry report asserted that the trend toward mahogany furniture woods continues strong.

HOG MARKET STRONGER, BUT TRADE IS DULL

A stronger undercurrent developed in the market for heavy "lard hogs" at the stockyards yesterday, with some butchers over 250 pounds in weight finishing 5 to 10 cents higher. Most other stock was bought on a basis about steady with the average of Wednesday.

Steers and yearlings sank again yesterday, establishing some of the lowest price levels in several weeks. Weak to lower prices prevailed for beef cows, heifers, canners, and cutters. Calves and bulls sold steady.

Buyers took on most sheep and lambs at steady prices.

ICKES REDUCES U. S. OIL QUOTA FOR FEBRUARY

The Northern Pacific railroad's net income for 1941 was estimated at 8 million dollars, compared with net income of $2,064,091 in 1940, Charles E. Denney, president, reported. Gross revenues for the year were estimated at more than 85 million dollars, the largest total since 1929 when $96,522,348 was reached, Denney said.

STAMPS FOR TAXES.

I read in your column a couple of weeks ago that defense savings bonds cannot be applied directly for payment of federal income tax but must be cashed first. I have heard, however, that savings stamps can be used for taxes. Is this correct?—P. C. B.

Answer: Defense savings stamps cannot to used for direct payment of income taxes but may be used for the purchase of tax anticipation notes. The notes are applied directly to taxes. If the taxpayer does not wish to buy notes, he may cash the stamps and use the money for taxes. Defense savings bonds cannot be turned in for tax notes or for direct payment of taxes. They may be cashed and the proceeds used.

ACTIVE STOCKS.

What were the five most active stocks from the standpoint of share volume traded on the New York Stock exchange in 1941? What was their price range?—V. K.

SEPARATE SERIES.

Would you please explain the various series of stock issued by New York Stocks, Inc.? What investment powers do the directors have?—D. R. S.

Answer: New York Stocks, Inc., is an investment company. Its stock is divided into several series according to industry or business such as steel, oil, aviation, automobile, railroad, and public utility. Each series is a separate unit containing the stocks of a number of selected companies. Funds received by New York Stocks, Inc., from each series are invested only in that series. The underlying assets of each are segregated and the holders of stock in one series have no interest in the assets of the others. Dividends are paid to each classification separately and in various amounts according to the stocks in each. Shares of one series may be converted into shares of another. The directors have the right to add or dispose of securities in any series.

TREASURY BILLS HELD BY BANKS RISE 60 MILLION

Upturn During Last Week Unusually Large.

A relatively large increase—60 million dollars—in the Chicago federal reserve system member banks' holdings of treasury bills was reported by the federal reserve board yesterday for the week ended Wednesday.

The Chicago banks normally begin accumulating the bills about this time of year to make them available to customers who wish to buy them to hold over the April 1 personal property tax assessment date in Illinois.

The board's report follows:

SOUTH AMERICAN BONDS REACT TO FAVORABLE NEWS

New York, Jan. 22 (AP).—Railroad bonds and a group of South American dollar loans were quick to respond to favorable news developments today, rising fractions to around a point and imparting stability to the entire market.

Bonds of railroads deriving a high percentage of net income from passenger fares were in fairly broad demand after the Interstate Commerce commission granted a 10 per cent increase in tariffs. The Associated Press average of 20 carrier loans recouped .3 of a point or more than half the amount lost Wednesday.

South American bonds were benefitted by strong indications that some formula acceptable to Argentina would be worked out at the present conference at Rio de Janeiro.

United States government loans moved within a restricted range on both the stock exchange and over the counter, but the undertone was steady on both markets.

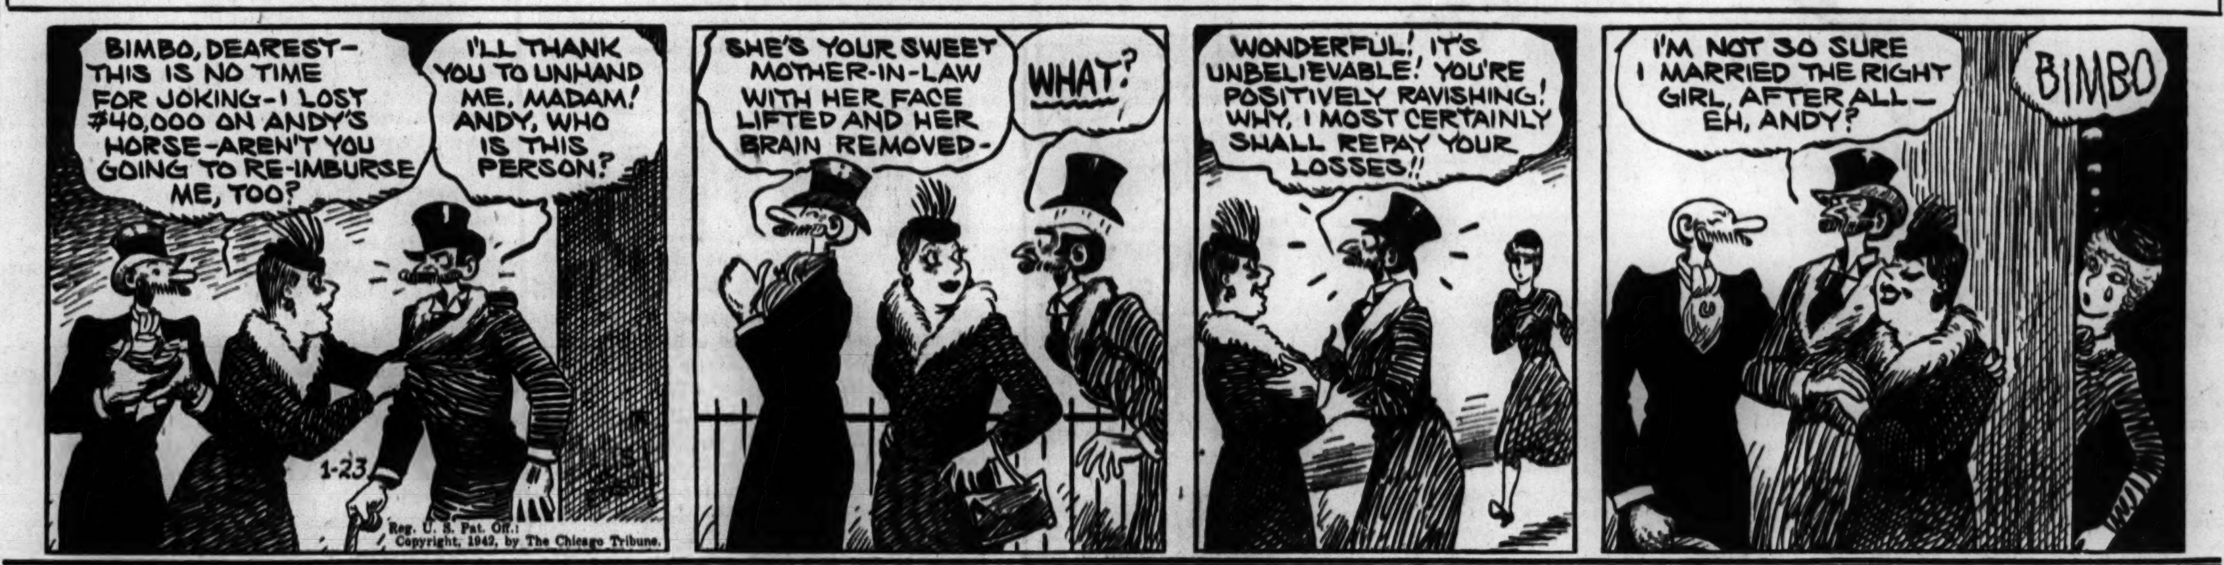
THE GUMPS—LOVE IS BLINDED!



BIMBO, DEAREST—THIS IS NO TIME FOR JOKING—I LOST $40,000 ON ANDY'S HORSE—AREN'T YOU GOING TO RE-IMBURSE ME, TOO?
I'LL THANK YOU TO UNHAND ME, MADAM! ANDY, WHO IS THIS PERSON?
SHE'S YOUR SWEET MOTHER-IN-LAW WITH HER FACE LIFTED AND HER BRAIN REMOVED—
WONDERFUL! IT'S UNBELIEVABLE! YOU'RE POSITIVELY RAVISHING! WHY, I MOST CERTAINLY SHALL REPAY YOUR LOSSES!!
BIMBO

INDIA

This is a new map of British India and Ceylon, showing also adjacent and nearby lands and waters. The inset map at lower right is of Burma, from 1923 to 1937 a province of India, but since the last named year a separate British dependency. India, next to China, is the most populous country in the world. On Jan. 1, 1939, its population was estimated at 365,900,000. More than 225 million are Hindus, about 80 million Mohammedans, and the remainder divided among various sects. There are eight main distinct racial types in India, and about 200 different languages and dialects are spoken there. The area of India is about a million and a half square miles, or roughly about half that of continental United States. Politically India is made up of both British provinces and native states, the latter, however, being under British control. The capital is New Delhi; the largest city is Calcutta, with a population of about a million and a half. India has more than 40,000 miles of railroads, and nearly 325,000 miles of highways. About 71 per cent of the people are engaged in agriculture. Principal crops are wheat, sugar cane, rice, tobacco, cotton, coffee, and tea. Minerals produced include iron, coal, and petroleum. The island of Ceylon constitutes a British colony separate from India. With 25,332 square miles of area, it is about as big as West Virginia. Its population is approximately 5,800,000. The capital is Colombo. Chief agricultural crops are tea, rubber, copra, rice, tobacco, and spices. Burma's total area is 261,610 square miles, or nearly that of Texas, and its population is about 16 million. Rangoon, the capital, which has been attacked by Japanese air bombers on several occasions, is the chief city, with more than 400,000 people. Burma is one of the world's greatest rice growing countries, and the leading exporter of that commodity. Teakwood and petroleum are produced there in large volume.
